Chicago's Douglas Plant Not Hit

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 25—Production of military aircraft will be cut 30 per cent during the last six months of 1945 on the basis of weight, the army air forces announced tonight. The reduction, the sharpest ordered so far, will affect most of the nation's leading aircraft producers in various parts of the country, and one unofficial estimate was that it would elimirate about 200,000 plane plant jobs in a dozen cities.

A further 10 per cent cutback is scheduled for the first half of 1946 and an additional 5 per cent for the last six months of next year. The A. A. F. said the reduction means that approximately 17,000 aircraft which would have been turned out under former schedules will not be produced. Altogether, savings made possible by cutbacks since V-E day are estimated at $4,000,000,000.

Some Plants to Close

In some cases, an A. A. F. spokesman said, plants in operation will be closed, and those in the blueprint stage will be abandoned. Under the revised program most of the leading military types will be subject to varying cutbacks, with seven combat planes and three transport types affected. Revised schedules affecting production of engines and propellers are being prepared and will be announced soon, the A. A. F. said.

The downward adjustment of production schedules was approved by the production readjustment committee of the war production board, the announcement said. Plane manufacturers have been notified. The cutbacks result from lend-lease curtailment as well as the end of the European war, officials said.

The A. A. F. did not announce any scheduled production changes for the C-54 transport, which is manufactured at the Douglas plant near Chicago. Likewise, no change was announced in schedules for the new models of the P-47 Thunderbolt and the P-51 Mustang fighter planes.

Production of B-29 Super Fortresses will be increased for several months and will be sustained substantially above present rates of output, the A. A. F. disclosed. Production increases planned for late this year, however, are eliminated.

B-32 Production to End

Production of the B-32 Dominator, the A. A. F.'s other superbomber, will end this year. Its output at the Fort Worth, Tex., Consolidated plant will be leveled off at the current rate for the rest of 1945 and will terminate at the end of the year. At the San Diego, Cal., plant, production will end with this month's output.

The new cutbacks call attention to the streamlining of A. A. F. needs toward the special requirements of the Pacific war, the announcement said. Emphesis, for instance, will be on one superbomber, the B-29, instead of two or more such aircraft. the A. A. F. said, adding that fighter and cargo planes remaining in large production similarly will be those of the long range type suited to the war against Japan. The C-54 transport is in this category.

2 Blasts Thru a Screen Fell Stanton's Pal

James [Red] Fawcett

His wife, Genevieve, 37, was in the tavern with him at the time, and as he fell dead upon the floor, she threw herself upon his body and screamed hysterically, "Jimmy! Jimmy!" Some 20 other patrons fled without delay, leaving the woman and a bartender, James Larkin, to await the arrival of police. Fawcett was 44 and lived at 8041 South Shore dr.

His murder was seen as the latest outbreak of the never ending south side gambling wars and perhaps as a direct sequel to the 1943 murders of Danny Stanton and Martin [Sonny Boy] Quirk.

Dies in Gangland Fashion

Fawcett's end came in accepted gangland fashion. He and his wife entered the tavern, owned by Joseph Brennan, shortly before 10 p. m. They sat at the rear end of the 30 foot long bar and had a few drinks. Not long afterward Fawcett said he was going to make a telephone call.

As he approached a rear screened door on his way to the booth a lurking assassin—believed to have had companions—thrust a double barreled shotgun thru the screen at shoulder level and fired two shots.

One blast struck Fawcett in the forehead, killing him instantly. "He never knew what hit him," said Sgt. Edward Waller of the detective bureau. Slugs from the second blast whistled thru the tavern. One stopped a clock at 9:59.

Believed Trailed to Tavern

Police found no helpful witnesses, but had no trouble establishing the physical story. The murderers trailed their victim to the tavern, hid at the rear door, and waited an opportune moment to fire. That came when Fawcett rose to make a phone call.

Fawcett had only 40 cents in his pocket and wore an employe button of a war plant, both indicating to police that recently, at least, he was not "in the hoodlum money." Later John Warren, deputy chief of detectives, epitomized Fawcett's departure like this, "He was into everything at one time, but now he's out of everything."

Seize 3 for Questioning

Grand Crossing police early today seized for technical questioning Robert Bock, 7554 Kingston av., brother-in-law of the late Stanton; a friend, Richard Farley, who was with him, and Matthew Rauen, an ex-tavern owner, also a Fawcett friend.

Fawcett began his hoodlum career as a gambling joint bouncer in the late '20s, drifted into the labor racket in a minor way, then tied up with the south side faction of the Capone syndicate. He served as bodyguard for Stanton until Stanton was killed May 5, 1943, and then as bodyguard for Quirk, Stanton's successor and supposed slayer, until Quirk was slain Sept. 18, the same year. Fawcett was tried with three other men for the Quirk murder last July, but was acquitted.

COME THE DAY—

FBI Arrests Ex-French Air Officer as Spy

New York, May 25 [Special]—A dashing former officer of the French air force was seized in a fashionable New York hotel today on charges of spying for Germany.

Paul Jean Cavailles

Paul Jean Marie Cavaillez, 43, who cut a gay figure in Washington, D. C., society and made friends among wealthy New Yorkers, was the French flyer arrested by the FBI. He was held in $50,000 bail for a hearing June 4 when arraigned in federal court. United States Atty. John F. X. McGohey said, "This is a very important case and may have great ramifications."

Turned in by Ex-Nazi Spy

The FBI said the activities of Cavaillez were reported by Dieudonne Costes, former French trans-Atlantic flyer who once became a German agent under pressure and later secretly joined forces with the FBI.

J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, said in Washington that Cavaillez was to have established a radio station in this country and on one occasion set up a receiver on an estate near Locust Valley, N. Y., and tried to receive German signals.

Hoover said Cavaillez did research work in the New York public library and the library of congress in Washington and attempted to gain access to plants producing secret electronic devices.

Costes, a World War I. ace who became a French national hero in 1930 when he flew with Maurice Bellonto from Paris to New York, told American authorities in Spain of his espionage role in October, 1942, a month after leaving Paris, Hoover said. He added that Costes had been forced to join the German intelligence earlier that year and had gone thru a course in espionage.

Land Many Months Apart

Costes came here with his wife in June, 1943, and notified the FBI that Cavaillez was to follow him. Cavaillez landed at New Orleans last Oct. 12 from the Spanish ship Magellanes, went to Washington and got himself reinstated as a lieutenant in the French air force, the FBI said. While in Washington he mingled freely in capital society.

When Cavaillez arrived in this country, the FBI said, he got in touch with Costes, not knowing that the latter was collaborating with the federal agents.

Assistant FBI Director Earl J. Connolly said Cavaillez was trained in electrical engineering and helped establish a clandestine radio in the nazi espionage headquarters in Paris. Connolly said the ex-flyer had acquired materials for the construction of a transmitter and that one of his assignments was to set up a radio station for German agents in America.

Unshaven in Court

Cavaillez, stocky, dark, and in need of a shave, was brought today before Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey, who had signed and sealed a complaint against him Wednesday, charging conspiracy to commit espionage. Thru an interpreter, he asked for an immediate hearing, which was set for June 4.

Cavaillez had $20,000 in his possession when arrested, but said he could not arrange bail. If convicted he faces possible penalties of a $10,000 fine, 30 years' imprisonment, or death.

11 KILLED, 52 INJURED IN FIERY EXPLOSION AT EASTERN ARSENAL

Edgewood Arsenal, Md., May 25 (AP)—An explosion that wrecked two buildings today caused the deaths of 11 persons and injuries to 52 others who were engaged in assembling and loading two pound igniter hand grenades at the army's chemical warfare service headquarters.

Where blast occurred

Eighteen of the injured were hospitalized and three were in critical condition.

Maj. John D. McPherson, chief of the Edgewood arsenal production division, said about 135 workers were engaged in the two structures preparing the so-called "balls of flame" that serve as igniters for incendiary gas tanks now being jettisoned from bombers on Japanese targets.

All of the casualties were civilian workers, most of them Negroes. Ignoring danger to themselves from recurring explosions on all sides, volunteers formed brigades, rushing into buildings to begin passing out unexploded phosphorus bombs in buckets.

Within a half hour everything generally was under control, altho firemen kept pouring in water for several hours to subdue the flames.

Red Point Run Strips Butcher Shops in Ohio

Cleveland, O., May 25 [Special]—Faced with a packing house and butcher shop closing next week, Cleveland housewives gathered up their remaining valid red points today and launched an all-out assault on the city's meat dealers. By 1 p. m. all of the retail meat dealers were cleaned out.

Today's desperate search for meat by the housewives came as a result of an announcement yesterday by 12 of Cleveland's packing houses that they would be closed all of next week in protest against "unreasonable" government regulations. These 12 houses are sources of supply for 825 meat dealers, or 75 per cent of the city's butcher shops.

May Extend Shutdown

A meeting of the packing house representatives is scheduled for tomorrow night. Some of them indicated that the shutdown may last more than a week. Only four or five small packing houses plan to stay open.

Reasons cited for the closing were tightened slaughter quotas, a narrow margin of profit, black market competition, "unjust" subsidy rules, and "unfair" government restrictions.

With a further curtailment of the meat supply imminent, the Cleveland Restaurant Men's association last night decided to have two meatless ways a week until conditions improve.

Because they are running out of points, 300 Cleveland restaurants previously had decided to close entirely for two days a week starting next week. They will stagger their closing days.

The Restaurant Men's association reported today that daily patronage in the city's restaurants has increased 75,000, or 25 per cent, in the last month. Customers in some cases have had to stand in line two hours before being served.

Brooklyn Butchers to Close

New York, May 25 [Special]—Unable to get meat, Brooklyn butchers beginning next week will close their stores for three days a week. Manhattan, Bronx, and Queens butchers were reported considering taking the same action.

Mail Overseas Christmas Parcels Sept. 15 to Oct. 15

Christmas parcels to service men overseas may be mailed between Sept. 15 and Oct. 15 without requests from the addressees, Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen said yesterday. Parcels should not be more than 15 inches in length and 36 inches in circumference. No mail addressed to American or other allied prisoners of war in Europe will be accepted for mailing.

LEAHY KNOWS I FOUGHT AXIS IN SECRET: PETAIN

Calls for Testimony by U.S. Admiral

PARIS, May 25 (AP)—Marshal Petain today tossed aside the quiet, confident manner he had assumed since his voluntary return from Germany three weeks ago and in a preliminary court appearance began vigorously fighting the accusation that he collaborated with the Nazis.

First he presented the French high court with an urgent letter addressed to Adm. William D. Leahy, former United States ambassador to Vichy, asking that Leahy hasten to France and take the witness stand in the marshal's trial for treason next month.

Produces Letter to Hitler

Secondly he produced a copy of a letter he said he addressed to Hitler last April 5 in which he demanded permission to return to France and answer the accusations against him.

Then the 89 year old hero of Verdun pulled from his pocket a formal statement in which he replied to the charges his accusers had intimated they would bring against him when he stands trial for surrendering France.

"I insist upon registering an indignant protest to evidence which presented me as a traitor," he read determinedly.

Far from collaborating with the Nazis, Petain said, he opposed them secretly thruout his regime. He said that Adm. Leahy, who now is chief of staff to President Truman, could testify to that effect. He denied vehemently having plotted with Pierre Laval and others to seize power even before the armistice.

Apparently Anxious

At one point Petain's eyes swept the conference room and he murmured:

"How is it possible that they have been able to forget to this extent all the services I have rendered?"

Asked about his relations with Generalissimo Franco during his pre-war tenure as ambassador to Spain, the former chief of state replied sharply:

"I saw him just twice—once when I arrived and the second time when I left. I never had any private meetings whatever with him."

"Fears Single Thing"

In his letter to Hitler last month, which was formally placed in evidence, Petain told the German leader: "It is only in France that I can answer for my acts, and I alone am judge of the risks this attitude may carry. At my age one fears nothing more than a single thing: that is to have failed to do one's whole duty, and I wish to do mine."

Petain's letter to Adm. Leahy will be taken to the American embassy tomorrow morning for transmission to the United States. Its contents so far have not been disclosed.

Himmler's $1,000,000 Hoard Found

PARIS, May 25 (AP)—United States troops in Berchtesgaden today unearthed Heinrich Himmler's currency hoard—valued at around $1,000,000—as the body of the ruthless chieftain of the Gestapo still lay in a Lueneberg villa two days after he committed suicide.

The hoard, containing currency of 26 countries, but none from the United States, was discovered under a barn near Berchtesgaden by American officers.

They were led to the cache by Lt. Gen. Berger of the schutzstaffel, who said he had hidden the money there on Himmler's orders, altho the money belongs to the reich.

Under Barn Floor

Capt. Harry Anderson, Ossining, N. Y., of the military government, went to the barn with Berger, where boards were pried from the floor and a hole four feet deep was dug.

At the bottom they found eight large cloth sacks and a metal box, all crammed full of bills which Maj. Robert Smith, Indianapolis, Ind., said appeared to be genuine.

The hoard of 132 Canadian dollars, 25,935 English pounds, more than 8 million French francs, nearly 3 million Algerian and Moroccan francs, over a million German marks, over a million Egyptian bills, and 7,500 Palestine pounds, was turned over to the division's financial department.

Only a half yen in Japanese currency and two Argentine pesetas were found.

Debate Himmler Funeral

The British still were debating whether to bury Himmler at a funeral in the presence of German military and civilian big-wigs.

His body last was reported lying just as it fell after Himmler bit into a hidden vial of poison while being searched Wednesday night.

American troops at Kitzbuehel in the Austrian Tyrol arrested another of Himmler's henchmen, SS Gen. Karl Oberg, known as "the butcher of Paris" in the occupation days when he was police director for the capital and northern France.

In London, the secretary of the war crimes commission declined to disclose the agenda of the 16-nation conference there the last of this month on the grounds that it was confidential.

Justice Robert H. Jackson, American prosecutor of war crimes, arrived in Paris to begin laying the groundwork for his assignment.

English Is First Foreign Language Choice of Finns

New York, May 25 [Special]—English will be the "first" foreign language taught in Finnish state secondary schools, beginning next term, the Helsinki radio reported today. The broadcast said that "more Russian" would also be taught in these schools.

Norwegian Government to Go Home Next Week

LONDON, May 25 [Reuters]—The Norwegian government, headed by Prime Minister Johan Nygaardvold, will sail for home from Liverpool next week aboard the liner Andes, it was reported today. King Haakon is expected not to be in the party.

GUAM, May 26 [Saturday] (AP).—Japanese suicide pilots heavily attacked American shipping and air field installations Thursday night and Friday in the Okinawa area. They damaged 11 light naval units, one heavily, Adm. Nimitz said in today's bulletin.

Swarms of Japanese planes attacked the American supporting fleet and air fields on Okinawa and Ie Islands. They inaugurated a new form of suicide attack in which bombers heavily laden with grenade-carrying Japanese soldiers tried to make crash landings on three American air fields in darkness in the hope of seizing control of the fields.

One succeeded in reaching Yontan field, but all of its occupants were killed as they attacked American defenders with grenades. Four others were destroyed before landing.

One hundred and eleven Japanese planes were destroyed in the hours-long series of bombing, strafing, and suicide attacks.

Yontan and Katena air fields on Okinawa and the newly rebuilt four runway airport on tiny Ie Island west of Okinawa all were bombed during the Japanese attack. Seven American aircraft were destroyed on the ground.

Expand Bridgehead

Altho Okinawa ground operations still were hampered by adverse weather, 6th division marines expanded their bridgehead into Naha. They found streets of the capital city mined. There was little change in other front lines.

The 77th infantry division turned the force of its heavy artillery on fortress Shuri and the 1st marine division destroyed about 20 enemy gun emplacements.

Nimitz announced casualties for the full Ryukyus-Okinawa campaign since March 18—14 days before the Okinawa invasion — total 35,116 for all services. Casualties were listed as:

	Killed-Missing	Wounded
Army	3,706	13,910
Marines	1,626	7,433
Fleet	4,277	4,171

Figures for the fleet are "preliminary and incomplete," the admiral qualified.

Planes Raid Amami Isles

Nimitz also disclosed that carrier pilots made a five day series of attacks on the Amami group of islands in the northern Ryukyus and coastal waters near-by, Saturday thru Wednesday; then raided installations on Kyushu, southernmost of the Japanese home islands, Thursday.

Radio facilities, barracks, docks, storage areas, and buildings were destroyed or damaged in the Amami group. Three small ships were sunk and eight damaged in Amami coastal waters. Five enemy planes were destroyed.

Hellcat and Corsair fighters made the attacks on Kyushu. Their targets probably were air field installations. They downed two fighters and probably destroyed 10 on the ground. Two Japanese planes approached the carrier task force, but were shot down.

Bomb Tokyo Air Fields

Joining in the assault on enemy homeland air fields, army Mustang fighters made a 1,500 mile round trip from Iwo to blast air fields north of Tokyo yesterday.

The Mustangs fired or damaged service facilities, hangars, and other air field installations. Off Honshu they sank a small cargo ship and left another burning and listing.

The Mustangs' attack on Matsudo air field, 10 miles northeast of the imperial palace in Tokyo, and Tokorazawa air fields, 25 miles northwest of the capital city, preceded today's 500 plane B-29 fire bomb

Find Doenitz' Tastes Expensive

FLENSBURG, Germany, May 24 [Delayed]—(AP)—Grand Adm. Doenitz in one respect was a worthy successor to Hitler as short lived fuehrer—like the late nazi chieftain he had exceedingly expensive tastes.

British officers charged with handling his luggage when Gen. Eisenhower ordered him arrested here said he had eight trunks filled with the most costly clothing, leather goods, medical gadgets and satin pillows encased in the finest white linen covers, and lots of shoes.

"Why, he even wore six sets of silk underwear when he was taken," a captain said, "and he had servants galore busying themselves about him. He left for his unrevealed destination without—I repeat, without—his trunks and with only a small shaving kit."

Carried No Poison

Doenitz made no attempt at suicide and had no poison on his person, but officers who examined the other 300 German "government" officials arrested with the admiral said virtually all of higher rank carried poison.

In the office to which Doenitz never returned after his arrest there were hundreds of photographs autographed and obviously intended to be sent out. In a cupboard were various copies of a novel by Hans Zaehren extoling all that naziism stands for.

Memo to Eisenhower

Doenitz under date of May 11, 1945, wrote a long memorandum to Gen. Eisenhower expressing his ideas for the government of Germany and also raising such problems as food transportation.

Attached to this long draft was a blueprint for "coöperation with the allied supreme command" on which the allied military leaders and their German "opposites" were indicated. Doenitz, for instance, was depicted as Eisenhower's opposite and Col. Gen. Gustav Jodl as Field Marshal Montgomery's.

raid on Tokyo. Neutralizing fighter fields from which the enemy might have attacked the Super Fortresses, the Mustangs destroyed or damaged 58 Japanese aircraft.

Nimitz's bulletin reported a total of 148 Japanese planes destroyed or damaged in all actions. A grand total of 4,247 Japanese planes has been destroyed from the beginning of the Ryukyus campaign.

Mop Up in North

The 27th infantry division which captured Machinato air field and led the early assault on Naha, was engaged in the biggest mopping up operation of the western Pacific campaign. Starting at narrow Ishikawa isthmus and moving almost shoulder to shoulder, three regiments slogged northward to clean out an estimated 1,000 Japanese soldiers and round up 150,000 civilians who fled into northern Okinawa's rugged hills.

FIRE TOKYO AGAIN

GUAM, May 26 [Saturday] (AP)—American Super Forts turned more heat on Tokyo today with a downpour of more than 4,000 tons of fire bombs from around 500 planes, making a total of more than 8,500 tons of incendiaries dropped on the city in less than 48 hours.

The Marianas based B-29s sped over the Nipponese capital at medium altitude in early morning darkness for more than an hour. Crewmen could see the smouldering remains of at least a 3.2 square mile area sprayed with 4,500 tons in the record breaking 550 plane raid early Thursday.

Target for today was the Marunouchi business district which includes the imperial government center and many so-called earthquake proof buildings, best and most modern in the empire, and neighboring war plants and docks.

Area Like State St.

The area is in south central Tokyo, between the imperial palace and the Shinagawa district, which was hit Thursday. It includes part of the famed Ginza, Tokyo's Broadway, and buildings such as the Imperial hotel, designed by the American architect Frank Lloyd Wright. The hotel survived the 1923 earthquake. The area is equivalent to Chicago's State st. department store and office building district.

The air men had rich target pickings. Piers, wharves, and warehouses string thru the area on the waterfront north of the Shinagawa freight yards, which were hit Thursday.

"I wouldn't be surprised if we singed the emperor's hair a little," said Pvt. Billy Spencer, of Gladewater, Tex., a tail gunner.

"The palace very probably got hit," said Flight Officer William Fous, Washington, D. C., a co-pilot.

'Scorched to Ground': Tokyo

San Francisco, Cal., May 26 [Saturday]—Tokyo, "once the world's largest metropolis, is literally scorched to the ground," Tokyo radio said today in a broadcast. Referring to yesterday's strike, the broadcast said:

"A 70 mile an hour gale wreaked havoc on the sprawling congested business and residential sections of the city as tons of blazing inferno were unloaded over the burning city. Virtually all of the principal business district was wiped out, including the Broadway and 5th avenue of Nippon."

Diplomatic quarters listed as leveled were the soviet, Swedish, and Finnish embassies and the unoccupied British embassy.

Another Tokyo broadcast said the imperial palace and the Omiya palace were damaged, but that members of the royal family were safe.

TAKE 2 LUZON TOWNS

MANILA, May 26 [Saturday]—(AP)—Guerrilla forces, absorbed into the Philippine army, captured the towns of Infanta and Misua on the east coast of Luzon Wednesday, Gen. MacArthur reported today.

This gave allied forces control of the Pacific coast from the tip of the Bicol peninsula north to central Luzon. The guerrillas joined forces with the 1st cavalry division after making an amphibious landing on the peninsula.

Headquarters gave no specific reason for occupying this region. The coast, however, is favorable for naval installations.

Approach Santa Fe

Elsewhere on Luzon, doughboys continued their advances behind the bombing and strafing of 400 aircraft. The 32d division, moving along the Villa Verde trail, broke a pocket of Japanese resistance near Santa Fe and pushed within 3 miles of that Cagayan valley town.

The 43d division, cleaning out the Ipo dam trap northeast of Manila, killed 68 Japanese and counted 87 more Nipponese bodies. The 38th division in the Marikina sector southeast of Ipo killed 156 enemy and counted another 114 bodies.

On Mindanao Island the 24th division captured the Licanan airdrome Thursday against light opposition and now holds all six air fields in the Davao sector. The 31st, 40th, and Americal divisions consolidated along Mindanao's Sayre highway preparatory to attacking the Japanese in near-by hills.

Several small scale Japanese counter-attacks were repulsed by the Australian and Dutch Indies troops on Tarakan Island, off Borneo. One group of eight Nipponese carried 75 mm. shells as grenades and spears made of Bamboo.

SUICIDE TROOPS CRASH-LAND IN DIVE BOMBERS

Japs Are Wiped Out in Okinawa Attack

OKINAWA, May 25 (AP) — The Japanese made the strangest suicide attempt of the war last night—an attempted landing of troop laden bombers at Yontan airstrip.

One bomber with perhaps 15 men aboard made a belly landing on the field. Eight or more men rushed from the plane in the moonlight, setting fire to parked planes with bombs and hand grenades.

140 Japs Killed

Possibly 140 enemy troops died in the attempt as 10 or more planes were destroyed. Each apparently carried 15 men altho they were dive bombers fitted to carry only a crew of five.

Five of the planes were destroyed in the Yontan area. One plane crashed and burned in an attempted landing at one end of the field. The other which made the successful landing came in immediately afterward.

In the confusion, the Japanese jumped from the plane and had time to huddle for a conference and return to the plane for gear before they were fired upon.

The man who had the clearest view of this strange super suicide raid was a marine sergeant who was in the Yontan control tower.

The sergeant, unidentified, told a marine combat correspondent, Sgt. Claud Canup of Anderson, S. C.:

"We had a full view of all the runways in the bright moonlight. Two bombers came over high, dropping bombs and getting away. Later ack-ack opened up and red tracers zoomed over the tower.

At Tree Top Level

"I saw a plane coming in at tree top level 500 yards away. It exploded 300 yards from the tower. This morning I saw several burned and mangled bodies in the debris.

"A second twin engined bomber came in with the engines cut a couple of minutes later. It made a belly landing.

"The Japs came out, spread out cautiously, and approached our planes across the runway. They had taken only a few steps when the marines opened fire. The Japs hit the deck and began firing but kept crawling toward the tower. Then our men began shooting down Japs."

One marine was killed on Yontan and several wounded. Two soldiers were buried and several burned and smothered in a dugout struck by one plane which crashed.

Hopkins Reaches Moscow on Mission for Truman

MOSCOW, May 25 (AP) — Harry Hopkins arrived by plane today on a special mission for President Truman. The Presidential adviser and his wife were met at the Moscow airport by Andrei Vishinski, vice commissar for foreign affairs, United States Ambassador Harriman, Gen. Georges Catroux, French ambassador, and British Minister Frank Roberts.

HOW DESTROYER SURVIVED JAP SUICIDE PILOTS

'Suicide Speedboat'

Seattle, Wash., May 25 (AP)—A Japanese one man "suicide speedboat," brought home by the suicide-plane battered destroyer Laffey, was shown to the press by the navy today. The little craft, of cheap construction, still is capable of doing 30 to 40 knots, even after having been sunk, lifted, reconditioned, and partly rebuilt.

The Laffey will be put on public display tomorrow.

ABOARD VICE ADM. TURNER'S FLAGSHIP OFF OKINAWA, April 18 [Delayed by navy censorship]—(AP)—The epic two hour battle of the destroyer Laffey, which took everything the Japs could throw at her, two days ago, including suicide pilots, and survived at a cost of 31 men killed and 60 wounded, today was told by the ship's communication officer, Lt. Frank Manson, 24, of Tahlequah, Okla. He said:

"Almost countless planes were all around—lots of ours and at least 30 of theirs. Twenty started converging on us from the north. Gunnery Officer Lt. Paul B. Smith, Olean, N. Y., spotted four planes with five inch guns and shot one down a thousand yards off and another close aboard.

Down 2 More Jap Planes

"The other two circled to the stern, and No. 3 mount shot both down.

"A moment later a plane exploded just off the starboard quarter, injuring several men. A plane from the port bow grazed the No. 3 mount and exploded near enough to put one gun out of action.

"Two planes approached on the starboard beam. Anti-aircraft fire got one. Another came in low on the port side, struck and swept across the deck house.

"Within 30 seconds two planes hit the after deckhouse, sealing several men to their deaths in compartments below. Just then a Corsair came chasing a Japanese right over the mainmast. The Jap took off half of the yardarm, and the Corsair took off the other half.

Corsair Pilot is Rescued

"The Jap crashed in the water. The Corsair pulled out with a wing damaged, shot down another plane, and then crashed. Another ship rescued the pilot.

"Then a large plane carrying a 500 or 1,000 pound bomb came from the starboard. Mount 2 put a 5 inch projectile squarely into it and the plane disintegrated.

"Another plane apparently hit by the air patrol came by in a mass of flame and crashed off the port bow. The next Jap plane knocked off the other yardarm and crashed alongside.

"The last plane approached from the starboard and dropped a bomb amidships, killing several men in the wardroom where a doctor was treating the wounded. The air patrol shot that plane down."

AN AIR TRANSPORT COMMAND BASE IN CHINA.—If you can't get tickets to "Oklahoma!" in the United States, don't bother to come over here. "Oklahoma!" is running full tilt here, you can't get tickets to this show, either.

As a matter of fact, the ticket situation is worrying Pvt. Don Painter, former Hollywood bit player and now producer of the China "Oklahoma!" A former Flying Tiger hangar that was converted into a theater holds almost 2,000, including 500 standees, but the advance demand was so great that Painter decided to issue tickets to regulate the crowd.

Things went fine until the tickets for all performances were gone. The show opened last night and today scalpers are doing a brisk business. Jimmy Wimmer, 21 North 7th avenue, Maywood, Ill., ran in and said he saw a couple of GI's pay $3,500 Chinese dollars each for two tickets to tonight's performance. Despite inflation, 3,500 Chinese dollars is quite a bit for a free ticket. It's about $5 in American money.

Painter worries lest scalping spread and cause official complaints that might peril the show's life.

Private Bosses Major

For almost three months Painter has been bossing about 50 soldiers, including two majors, four Red Cross girls, and three civilian army stenographers. Ordering majors and girls around has been, he concedes, quite an experience.

The China "Oklahoma!" was born when Kay Crandall, Red Cross girl from Dallas, Tex., received a copy of the musical's book. When somebody else received a worn program of the New York show, these showmen in the Orient decided they had everything needed.

Maj. Clarence White, Little Rock, Ark., was drafted for the lead because he can sing. Francis Deadwyler, whose drawl, learned at Avondale Estates, Georgia, makes homesick southerners want to cry, has the lead feminine role.

Wimmer, the Maywood GI, was the only man drafted as an actress. He plays the role of the aunt.

Seven Girls in Cast.

Because of the woman shortage, the cast has only seven girls. Rather than cast male impersonators, Painter decided to get along with the seven. One week before the opening one of the seven suffered an illness that dropped her from the cast Josephine Meizner, a Red Cross girl from Peoria, Ill., took over and the show opened on schedule.

Corp. Albert Gordon, New York; Sgt. John Yetter, 710 South Oak Park avenue, Oak Park, Ill.; Lt. Albert Geigle, Monroe, Wis.; Corp. John Greco, Brooklyn, and their aides on the staff used many makeshifts. Rubber from a Jap Zero plane was turned into a knife. Rag cotton for engine wiping was dyed and sewed into costumes. Coffee cans were turned into light reflectors.

But everything was a big hit. Especially June Sabel, San Francisco, the cancan girl.

ARMY TO WRITE AND EDIT PRESS FOR GERMANS

BY LARRY RUE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, May 25—The psychological warfare division of SHAEF announced today that it already has put into operation its program for total allied control of German newspapers and information services, with gradual return of the services "to German hands after all nazi and militarist influence have been purged from them."

The program, said Brig. Gen. Robert A. McClure, chief of PWD, has "the long range objective of reorienting the German mind after 12 years of nazism."

Aims of Program Told

"We are not going to lose the peace by giving license to racialists, pan-Germans, Nazis, and militarists so they can misuse democratic rights to attack democracy, as Hitler did," Gen. McClure said.

McClure said objectives of the program were to replace German information services with those of the allied nations. German newspaper and publishing plants, and radio stations, will be utilized, but the writing, editing, and presentation of news and radio programs will be handled by allied personnel, McClure said.

He disclosed that the allies already have opened a number of radio stations, and are publishing newspapers in 10 different plants. Another function of the control plan, he said, will be to arouse a sense of collective responsibility among the people for Germany's crimes.

Types of Music Banned.

No music with militaristic themes will be permitted on the radios. Also on the forbidden list will be music associated with the Nazi party, fascism, or pan-Germanism, Gen. McClure said.

"PWD and SHAEF take the view that there can be no relaxation of control until the allied authorities are convinced the Germans have proved their technical as well as political fitness to manage opinion forming instruments," he said.

EX-U. S. RESERVE OFFICER GETS 9 YEARS AS SPY

New York, May 25 [Special] — Laurent H. J. Brackx, 51, former lieutenant in the United States naval reserve, was sentenced to nine years' imprisonment today for war time espionage and violation of the censorship code. The sentence could have been death.

The Holland-born prisoner, convicted May 15, heard his fate without emotion. He was accused of promising information on radar to Comdr. Max Ponzo, chief of Italian naval intelligence, and other axis agents before the United States entered the war. He insisted he had only faked coöperation so that he could get his sweetheart out of Italy.

Federal Judge Mortimer W. Byers, who imposed the sentence, said: "Personally, I think you are very lucky. I think your heart was evil in 1940, 1941, and 1942."

The janitor's only opportunities to study art were a brief period with the A. E. F. University in Paris and Beaune after the last World war and several years at the University of Washington. He has been painting since he was a boy.

SIFT HUMAN ASH TODAY SEEKING MURDER PROOF

Cadaver Cremated for Michaelis 'Evidence'

Ash residue of the human bones and tissue of a cadaver cremated in the furnace at 6855 Clyde av. since Wednesday night will be sifted by scientists and police today in a search for additional proof of the suspected furnace murder of Mrs. Rose Michaelis three months ago.

The immediate purpose is to ascertain whether her body or any body could have been so completely destroyed in the furnace as not to leave a particle of human evidence.

At 2 o'clock this morning, the furnace fire, which at times reached 3,000 degrees of heat, was banked down to allow it to cool for the scheduled removal, around 7 o'clock, of the ash content. The ashes are to be studied chemically and microscopically. Results may not be known for several days.

Janitor Recants Confession

Mrs. Michaelis, a 58-year-old housewife, disappeared Feb. 28. Joseph Nischt, 30, janitor of the Clyde av. building where she lived, has confessed killing her, and stuffing her body into the building furnace to destroy the evidence of his crime. He subsequently recanted his confession.

Upon the findings of the furnace experiment—believed to be unique in American criminology—may depend Nischt's fate. Altho authorities are sure that he killed Mrs. Michaelis, they have yet to establish proof of her death. Of immediate importance, however, is the possibility that the test may shatter Nischt's repudiation of his confession, and inferentially confirm the confession.

Associated in the test are Charles M. Wilson, director of the Chicago police crime detection laboratory; Prof. W. M. Krogman, University of Chicago anthropologist; State's Atty. Tuohy; two chemists; two combustion engineers, and various police officials.

Acts of Janitor Simulated

Every act mentioned by Nischt in his repudiated confession was simulated, even to timing. The main contrasts were in the use of a nameless cadaver for the victim and in weather conditions. Promptly at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday, with officials looking on, the cadaver, obtained by Prof. Krogman from a medical school, was put in the furnace. At 9:30 p. m., the furnace was refired with five shovels of coal, as in Nischt's original story.

Thursday morning, police removed a clinker, as he said he had done. Yesterday they removed more clinkers, again following his repudiated confession, and finally, at 2 a. m. today, the furnace was shut down.

The two and one-half day cremation test was supervised by Wilson, Prof. Krigman, and combustion engineers. Blowers were used to increase temperature, and fans to hold back heat from apartments in the building.

Scientific Comparison to Be Made

In his recanted confession, Nischt said he kept Mrs. Michaelis' body in the furnace 60 hours, and that the ashes failed to show any bones or other traces of her body. Police were unable later to find any evidence of a human body in the furnace or ashes. That original ash content will be compared with the ashes recovered from the cadaver experiment for chemical similarity or contrast.

Police believe the Clyde av. furnace fire could have consumed entirely a human body, and for that purpose the current test was made. Authorities say that if no trace of the cadaver is found, Nischt's story of destroying Mrs. Michaelis' body will have been circumstantially upheld. If human traces are found, his denial of the murder could carry more weight, it was conceded.

State's Atty. Touhy said that regardless of the test he believes Nischt's original story, and intends to demand the electric chair for him. Nischt's lawyer, James M. Burke, scoffed at the test. He asserted that even professional cremation cannot entirely destroy a body and that the Clyde av. furnace would much less be able to do so.

Park Board Reprimands Policeman for Conduct

The Chicago park district civil service board announced yesterday a formal reprimand of Patrolman George Clark, 43, of 4036 N. Central av., for conduct unbecoming an officer on March 14 at Oakley blvd. and Hubbard st. Seven high school boys complained that Clark used improper language in urging them not to obstruct traffic, but admitted provoking him. Clark, a park district patrolman for 13 years, had no previous black mark.

17 BRITISH GIRLS WHO WED YANKS STOP IN CHICAGO

BY GLADYS PRIDDY

Shyly hidden homesickness was mixed with eager curiosity about their new homes when 17 English war brides rode into Chicago yesterday en route to the parents of the American service men they had married overseas.

The brides, all young and attractive, said they liked the half continent's length of American countryside they had seen since they entrained from Boston, Mass., Thursday. They liked the beauty of wooden houses in America, too, because "we don't have them in England, you know," and they were confused, they said, at "all of the automobiles on the wrong side of the streets."

Volunteers Help Them

In two groups, one of 11 in the morning and one of six in the afternoon, the brides were among the first to come thru from a total of 120 war brides who landed in Boston Wednesday. Others will be coming as fast as the Traveler's Aid society can arrange for their transportation. Those who stopped here were met at the La Salle st. station by Traveler's Aid volunteers.

In the first group, most of the girls went on to the far west, but two stayed. One, Mrs. Vera Poidomani, 19, went with her mother-in-law, Mrs. John Poidomani, to the family home at 859 N. Richmond st. She said she married Sgt. Ignatius Poidomani, 24, nine months ago, and he saw her off on the train to Southampton to take the boat to America.

Husband Also Back in U. S.

Another, Mrs. Catherine Nelson, 27, a brown eyed blonde dancer who had worked in many shows for service men, went to the home of her parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nelson, at 31 S. 17th av., Maywood. She insists she's not a bride any more, because she'll have her second anniversary in August. Her husband, Pvt. Frank Nelson, 27, is back in this country in camp in New Mexico.

Probably the happiest of yesterday afternoon's half dozen brides was Mrs. Louisa Julius, 25, whose husband, 1st Lt. Loy Julius of the American air forces, is waiting for her at his home in Cherokee, Ia.

Mrs. Gwen Janssen, 21, wife of Tech. Sgt. Edward J., found herself the closest home of the afternoon group. She was going to Kenosha, where her father-in-law, Ed Janssen, 6516 15th av., would meet her.

One Baby in Group

There was one baby, Ray Colgan, one year old, bound for the home of the Gilbert Colgans in Tyndall, S. D., with his mother, Blanche. The baby's father is Corp. Gilfred and he's in Germany.

The others in the afternoon arrivals included Mrs. Eileen Binsfield, 21, wife of Sgt. Edmund, en route to St. Cloud, Minn. A petite blonde, she had served in the auxiliary territorial services. There were also Mrs. Joan Holton, 20, wife of Staff Sgt. John, bound for Lake Delton, Wis., and Mrs. Marjorie Coffman, 21, wife of Tech. Sgt. Charles, en route to Cowgill, Mo.

The girls left London on V-E day and said they didn't celebrate that occasion for fear they would miss their train. Most of them came from London.

23 MILE DRIVE PUTS CHINESE NEAR JAP BASE

CHUNGKING, China, May 25 (AP)—The Chinese counter-offensive in the south rolled ahead today toward the buffer city of Ishan, only 43 miles from Luichow, which is a keystone to Japan's overland route to Indo-China.

An army spokesman said the Chinese drive was no more than seven miles from Ishan after a 23 mile gain that overwhelmed Hwaiyuanchen, on the Kwangsi-Kweichow railway 50 miles northwest of the rail and air base of Luichow.

Back of these bending enemy lines in Kwangsi province, the Chinese said the Japanese were reforming their 54th and 80th divisions, mauled in the lost battle of Burma. The objective of an all-out drive against the Indo-China corridor would be to cut off such forces to prevent their moving north for the climatic battles of China.

Agar Divorced by Wife on Charge of Cruelty

West Palm Beach, Fla., May 25 (AP)—Lt. Comdr. Herbert S. Agar, editor and author, and now with the United States state department as special assistant to Ambassador Winant in London, was divorced in Circuit court here today by his wife, the former Eleanor Carroll Chilton, writer. Mrs. Agar gave mental cruelty as grounds. The couple was married in 1933 and the separation occurred last September.

Chicago's "Typical American Boy," Bobby Free, 7, had one of his dreams come true yesterday. He didn't have to go to school. This concession was granted by his mother, Mrs. George Free, of 1537 Orchard st., because Bobby won the title Thursday evening at the Chicago Boy's club, 3400 S. Emerald av. Brown-haired and brown-eyed Bobby didn't tell his mother that he "licked the pants off" another boy, Thursday afternoon before he put on his good behavior for the contest.

FRANK BYRNES, LONG ON POLICE FORCE, DROWNS

Detective Frank Byrnes, 42, of the homicide squad, drowned in Lake Michigan yesterday near the breakwater at 78th st., toward which he was swimming for help to rescue a fishing companion. The body had not been recovered last night.

August Borda, 60, of 7959 Escanaba av., retired fire department captain, told police that he and Byrnes went fishing in a motor propelled boat about 9:30 a. m. yesterday. When they decided to return to shore, they discovered that the anchor had fouled on rocks. In an attempt to pull it loose, the anchor line snapped and the boat capsized.

Both men clung to the side of the overturned boat until Byrnes, an excellent swimmer, offered to swim to the breakwater for help. Borda saw Byrnes sink as he neared the rocks. Borda held on to the boat for three hours until the wind died, he said, and then paddled the boat to shore.

Byrnes joined the police department in 1929 and had been on the homicide squad seven years. His widow and a son survive.

Brown was arrested April 1 by Detectives Charles W. Schmidt and William Hensen of the Maxwell st. station for the fatal shooting of James Morehouse, 24, of 6015 Vernon av., during a dice game in an alley back of 1437 Roosevelt rd.

Charges Russia Uses CIO for Revolution in U. S.

New York, May 25 [Special]—Communism, with the coöperation of Sidney Hillman and the CIO, is attempting to set up a labor front that will screen its revolutionary activities in the United States, David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union, said today in an interview.

Dubinsky, who was born in Brest-Litovsk and in his youth was a revolutionary conspirator and czarist prisoner, said the world trade union conference, which was started in London in February with help from the CIO and collaboration from the Russians, is "a new transmission belt" for communist activity thruout the world.

He branded it a labor front threat in which the Russian unions—owned body and soul by the Communist party — would dictate policy and strategy.

Seek to Destroy Federation

In order to set up a labor front, Dubinsky said, it would be necessary to destroy the old International Federation of Trade unions, "which was firmly set against admitting the Russians and all other totalitarian unions." He said the Russians are attempting to do this "by having gained the coöperation of Sir Walter Citrine, secretary of the British Trades Union congress, and of the American CIO thru the special interest of Sidney Hillman."

"It is my impression," Dubinsky continued, "that both Citrine and Hillman are not unfamiliar with the ultimate designs of the Communists with regard to the world trade union congress. Both apparently believe they can work with the Communists and control them. It ends up with deceit, double dealing, and disaster. John L. Lewis, who founded the CIO, learned this."

Cites Rebuke of Browder

Dubinsky asserted the latest sign indicating a revival of the Communist party with an old fashioned revolutionary set of slogans is the rebuke to Earl Browder and the Communist Political association from an international spokesman of the Communist movement.

Jacques Duclos, secretary of the French Communist party, had assailed Browder in the official publication of the French Communists for abandoning the basic tenets of revolutionism, which call for class warfare and conflict between capital and labor.

Browder told a forum sponsored by the Jefferson School of Social Science here tonight that the "Churchill pattern for world relationships" has dominated American policy since President Roosevelt's death.

Attacks British Role

"It is the pattern of a world polarized around American-Soviet antagonism, the separation of America from the soviet union, with the British empire resuming its ancient role of umpire of the world thru balance of power," Browder said.

Describing Churchill as a "reluctant partner in Teheran and Yalta," Browder said the Roosevelt policy recognized there could "be no stable world organization of nations, and hence no stable peace" without American-Soviet friendship.

At San Francisco, he said, "the American government departed from the Roosevelt policy, broke the unity of the Big Three, and practically put our international relations into the melting pot for complete recasting."

Guild Backs Stalin

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

San Francisco, Cal., May 25—On the heels of Communist Leader Earl Browder's disclosure that American Communists may be moving to reverse their policy of war time collaboration with capitalism, the National Lawyers guild, a Communist dominated organization, according to congressional committee findings, today issued a statement attacking opponents of the Yalta veto power formula. Browder's disclosure was made in New York. Before Hitler invaded Russia, Browder and his followers bitterly assailed the "capitalistic war." Atty. Gen. Robert W. Kenny of California, president of the guild and an official consultant to the American delegation, signed the statement together with Bartley C. Crum and Martin Popper, associate consultants. It assailed American officials who are asking some modification of the formula which would permit Russia and other big powers to veto militaristic acts by the new league of nations.

TRUMAN RALLY TOMORROW TO HEAR DOUGLAS

Associate Justice William O. Douglas of the United States Supreme court will address the United Chicago Day demonstration for President Truman in the Stadium tomorrow night, Mayor Kelly, chairman of the arrangements committee of 100, announced yesterday.

The demonstration will begin at 7:30 p. m. with a military parade. National groups will present choral and dancing numbers. Clergymen of several denominations will offer prayers. Music by the Amphibians, coast guard band; an exhibition by Doberman Pinscher war dogs, and numbers by stage, screen, and radio celebrities also are on the program.

Corporation Counsel Hodes, vice chairman of arrangements, said the demand for seats exceeds the Stadium's capacity of 30,000 and that loud speakers will broadcast the program to the overflow. A recording of the program will be sent to Mr. Truman.

AMERICANS HOLD STORMY DEBATE ON VETO POWERS

Report Vandenberg Rips Yalta Compromise

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

San Francisco, Cal., May 25—With an agreement on trusteeships for conquered territories in sight, controversy raged today on the Big Five veto power, the chief remaining obstacle to agreement in the international security conference.

There was a stormy meeting of the American delegation on the veto question. Sen. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] and some other members of the delegation are reported to have condemned in no uncertain terms the Yalta compromise whereunder any one of the Big Five powers—the United States, Great Britain, Russia, France, and China—could veto the invocation of arbitration or other pacific means to settle an international dispute.

Calls It Indefensible

Vandenberg is said to have called the arrangement indefensible. State Secretary Stettinius, who returned from Washington today, defended the Roosevelt compromise on voting procedure accepted at Yalta. Under this formula a Big Five nation could not only veto use of force against itself but in a dispute to which it was not a party could veto a pacific settlement in behalf of a nation in its orbit which was a party to the dispute.

The cause of the ruction in the delegation was the submission by the technicians to the Big Five of the proposed reply to 22 embarrassing questions asked by the small nations regarding the operation of the veto in peaceful settlement of disputes. The technicians sought to rationalize the veto power all along the line.

On this the delegation split at once and after much heated argument it was decided to attempt to rewrite the technicians' report as an American interpretation of the Yalta agreement which would tend to discourage use of the veto in pacific settlements. There will be no attempt by the Americans to amend the voting procedure, which was adopted at Yalta as Russian Premier Stalin's price for Russia joining the peace league on which Mr. Roosevelt had set his heart.

Statement by Grew

The American delegation took its stand on a statement by Undersecretary of State Grew on March 24 which said:

"It is this government's understanding that under these voting procedures there is nothing which could prevent any state from bringing to the attention of the security council any dispute or any situation which it believes may lead to international friction or may give rise to a dispute.

"And furthermore, there is nothing in these provisions which could prevent any party to such dispute or situation from receiving a hearing before the council and having the case discussed. Nor could any of the other members of the council be prevented from making such observations on the matter as they wish to make."

The United States, Great Britain, France, and China have agreed on a revised version of the trusteeship system with the following effect:

1. The United States would be able to retain sovereign ownership of the Pacific Islands it has wrested from Japan in perpetuity, if it so desires.

On American Terms

2. If congress at any future time should decide to place any or all of such islands under a trusteeship of the new league of nations the United States could become the trustee upon such terms as it might deem proper except that any naval bases established on such islands would be subject to regulation by the league's security council.

3. Among the objectives of the trusteeship system would be "development toward self-government or independence."

4. Inclusion of Russia, altho not a trustee nation, in the membership of the trusteeship council which is to supervise trust territories.

The Russian delegation has given tentative approval to this version, which represents a compromise of conflicting views, but has withheld formal consent pending receipt of instructions from Moscow.

Independence as an objective of the tutelage of trust territories was included under pressure by Russia and China. The Russians particularly were agitating for eventual independence for not only trust territories but colonies and other dependencies of the colonial powers.

That was too much for the British to swallow, particularly the thought of giving India independence. They are unwilling to hold out any greater hope to their dependencies than self-government within the empire on a dominion status, such as Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa.

Carefully Hedged

Agreement was finally reached with the British on terms carefully removing any possibility of the application of the independence objective to its colonies or other dependencies. Eventual independence is promised to trust territories only, such as the former German colonies for which Britain has the mandate under the first league of nations and conquered enemy territories such as the Italian colonies for which Britain expects to get the trusteeship.

The promise of independence for trust territories is carefully hedged. The trusteeship system is to "promote the political, economic, social, and educational advancement of the trust territories and their inhabitants and their progressive development toward self-government or independence as may be appropriate to the particular circumstances of each territory and its peoples and as may be provided in each trusteeship arrangement."

Under such terms Britain will be able to determine when and if a people under a British trusteeship shall become independent.

FALKLAND ISLES DISPUTE MAY BE AIRED AT PARLEY

BY WILLIAM MOORE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

San Francisco, Cal., May 25—International idealists who are planning the brave new world have been avoiding the subject of the Falkland Islands, center of the operations from which the British regained control of the world trade routes from the Germans in World War I.

Disputed Islands

But the 111 year dispute between the British and the Argentinians over these South Atlantic islands, occupied by the British in what has been termed defiance of the Monroe Doctrine may yet become an issue at the international conference pledged to justice for all nations, large and small.

Traditional Claim

The Argentinian ambassador to the United States, Miguel Angel Carcano, denied when he first came here that Argentina would renew its traditional claim to the islands, which lie 300 miles east of the Strait of Magellan at the southern tip of South America.

Rumblings of Argentinan discontent are now being heard, nevertheless, and today the Argentinians declined to repeat their denial. No comment was forthcoming on the reports that the Argentinians may demand a hearing on their claim in view of a recent renewal of Guatemala's old dispute with Great Britain over possession of British Honduras.

The Falklands, two large islands and a group of more than 100 smaller islands, are said by experts to be of tremendous military importance. Here ships damaged by the storms around Cape Horn may be repaired and provisioned.

German naval forces planned to occupy the islands in 1914, and it was this move that brought the great battle of the Falklands, in which German sea forces were destroyed.

Center of Intrigue

The Falklands have been the center of European intrigue for two centuries. Their strategic importance almost brought about a war between England and Spain in 1769. Eventually the British got possession but they abandoned the islands, according to many legal authorities, by failing to colonize them.

The Argentinians thereupon claimed the islands in 1820 and soon thereafter became engaged in a dispute with the United States over the island products, then mostly from whaling and sealing.

Altho it was an American-Argentinian dispute, it was the British who stepped in and occupied the islands by sending warships there in 1832. The United States raised no objection that the Monroe Doctrine was being violated, setting a pattern of submission to the British, some say, that continues down to the present days of State Secretary Stettinius. By 1834, the British were in unquestioned control, altho Argentina has been making protests ever since.

ASK FRANCE TO CALL FOR FRANCO OUSTER AND LAVAL'S RETURN

PARIS, May 25 (AP)—A demand that France urge the allies to invite the resignation of Generalissimo Franco, "whose regime was forced on Spain with the aid of Hitler and Mussolini," today was made by the French foreign affairs committee.

Should Franco cling to power despite allied pressure, the committee said, the De Gaulle government should sever relations with his regime, which it styled a menace to world democracy comparable to Mussolini's former Fascist state.

The committee, whose members belong to the French assembly, carries weight in its position similar to that of the United States senate foreign relations committee. Its action came as a result of the case of Pierre Laval, French arch-collaborator. Laval fled to Spain when Germany collapsed and is being held by the Spanish government.

The French committee also demanded that France force Spain to hand over Laval, who is under death sentence as a traitor.

IT COSTS A MERE $9,000 TO THROW PARTY AT FRISCO

BY WILLARD EDWARDS
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

San Francisco, Cal., May 25—Want to throw a big banquet in the interests of good will at the world security conference? Prepare to pick up a check for $9,000 plus, Adolph Boch, famous Palace maitre d'hotel for three decades, disclosed today.

More than 30 affairs of this magnitude have been staged in San Francisco hotels and another 20 are planned before the conference ends, it was learned in the course of a survey which indicated that food and drink costing approximately $1,400,000 will course down the gullets of delegates at public affairs alone.

The cost of hundreds of private receptions, dinners, and cocktail parties could only be guessed at. A leading caterer estimated that those in his trade would collect about $400,000 above ordinary receipts as a result of the extraordinary entertainment schedule occasioned by the international parley.

A Typical Bill

Maitre d'Hotel Boch displayed a typical bill for a banquet recently given in the Palace. It was as follows:

Dinner [810 guests]	$4,050
Canapes [hot and cold]	900
Cocktails [4 to each]	1,200
Corkage [500 bottles at 50c]	250
Champagne [Korbel see 257 bottles]	1,285
Cigars and cigarets	250
Ice ornaments	100
State sales tax	233
Total	$9,078

The bill did not include such items as music and flowers, Boch noted. But it was not an excessive cost, he remarked, recalling that a dinner for Mme. Chiang Kai-shek in 1943 has cost more than $18,000. OPA ceilings and food shortages keep this cost down, he remarked, and the scarcity of labor helps rob present day parties of "glamor."

550 Dinners Given

A cocktail party or reception with canapes and drinks averages about $4 or $5 a guest and a big one with 1,000 or more guests will cost the host around $5,000. Smaller cocktail parties run from $1,000 to $2,000.

The survey revealed approximately 550 dinners already given and scheduled during the conference and 240 cocktail parties. The figures were for hotels only.

In addition, each of the 850 delegates receives an average of at least one invitation a day to receptions, dinners and cocktail parties in private homes. About 1,000 attaches, consultants, advisers, and technical experts, many of them famous in their fields, are just as eagerly sought after as guests.

When the checks picked up at bars and restaurants are taken into account, a total of more than $2,500,000 will have been spent on entertainment for the delegates before they go home, it was estimated.

FIGHT TO LOOSEN SOMERVELL GRIP ON U.S. INDUSTRY

Reconversion Lags as He Holds Power

BY WALTER TROHAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 25—Promised reconversion of industry from war to peace production on the defeat of Germany has been slowed down by a dispute in the army high command, it was learned today.

A sharp division has arisen over control of industry. One faction holds that war production is so well organized that it can be resumed if unforeseen demands for war material should arise, while the other is firmly entrenched behind the conviction that if the army ever looses its hold on industry it will never be able to get control back.

In the van of those opposed to giving up control of industry is Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, who has been tightening his grip on industry for four years. He has the support of Undersecretary of War Patterson, who is in nominal charge of procurement.

Took Charge in 1941

Somervell, the former WPA colonel, who was placed in charge of the army's supplies as assistant chief of staff in charge of supply in 1941, has been considered by many to be one of the most powerful men in the country.

In conducting the army's procurement program, which was tied in with navy procurement, he took over control of the nation's industrial establishment. In placing orders for astronomical amounts of hundreds of thousands of items he strengthened his hold. Production of items not needed by the army was suspended and the factories producing such items were converted to war production.

In placing orders for army supplies Somervell regulated the flow of essential goods to civilians. So great was this power that he at times shut off the flow of various industrial products to civilians on the ground that such products were essential to the war.

Biggest Purchaser of Food.

Somervell's power extended to food as well as industrial products. He was the biggest purchaser of every item of food and as such fixed what was left for civilian rationing. He also controled transportation, man power and raw materials either thru purchasing or moving military supplies.

So great was Somervell's power that he aspired to become chief of staff in the fall of 1943. Plans to reorganize the army high command, attributed to him, were denounced in congress. It was charged that Supreme Court Justice Frankfurter and Harry Hopkins, White House intimate, were conspiring to seize control of the army by seeking to place Gen. Marshall in command of invasion forces and replacing him with Somervell, who was a WPA pal of Hopkins.

Since that time Somervell has been hit in congress for wasting billions on the Canadian oil and Alaska-Canada highway projects. Somervell has been criticized as a political general.

Fights to Retain Power

Somervell is now resisting all reconversion, such as the decision to permit the manufacture of 200,000 automobiles for civilian needs, according to official sources, because he does not wish to let control of the vast organization he has built up get away from him. He is said to be against the current swing to a return to congress of powers relinquished during the war.

Somervell is insisting on holding industry under his thumb altho the army went on such a tremendous buying campaign after the German break-thru in the Ardennes forest area that it has vast stocks of supplies on hand. This Somervell purchasing program has been blamed in congress for the present food shortage and the scarcity of many civilian items.

Those opposed to Somervell and favoring immediate reconversion contend that American industry has practically finished its war job and that future manufacture of munitions will not speed victory in the Pacific but will merely serve to keep the industrial establishment under Washington control.

REVIEW GRANTED YANK IN SOCKING OF NINE GERMANS

Sentence Protested by Rep. McCormack

Washington, D. C., May 25 (AP)—A hot protest by a congressional leader started a war department review tonight of a two year sentence imposed on a soldier accused of punching or kicking nine German prisoners of war.

Pvt. Joseph McGee

Rep. McCormack [D., Mass.], house majority leader, termed the sentence meted out to Pvt. Joseph McGee of Worcester, Mass., "ridiculous" in view of the treatment the Nazis accorded their prisoners. He demanded that the office of the judge advocate general look into the case and a prompt review was ordered.

McCormack said McGee was convicted by a court martial at Le Mans, France, on Oct. 17, 1944. At Worcester Ald. James D. O'Brien said McGee was reported to have "socked" the German prisoners when they refused to work.

Protested by Veterans

The alderman is a member of the Worcester YD [Yankee division] Veterans' association, which relayed to McCormack a protest by the soldier's family.

A YD official said the protest was based on a transcript of the court martial proceedings sent by McGee to his family. On receiving a copy of the transcript, Rep. McCormack wrote to Maj. Gen. M. C. Cramer, judge advocate general, asking for "exoneration of this soldier and his immediate restoration to duty."

Quoting from the transcript, he wrote:

"In relation to the charges it is stated: 'It is not the contention of the prosecution that the alleged assaults and batteries on nine different prisoners of war were serious injuries.

Quotes Geneva Convention

"'However, it is the contention of the prosecution that at nine different times the accused struck nine different prisoners of war, involving no serious injuries. The prosecution contends that the nine different acts were in violation of the rules of the Geneva convention.'"

The portion of the Geneva convention which the prosecution referred to was quoted in the transcript as follows:

"They [prisoners of war] must at all times be treated with humanity and protected, particularly against acts of violence, insults, and public curiosity."

BURNS FATAL TO WIFE; POLICE QUIZ HUSBAND

Mrs. Stephanie Dlugolnski, 55, of 4434 S. Whipple st., died yesterday in Southtown hospital of burns suffered Thursday in a fight with her husband, Louis. New City police later took him into technical custody for the inquest at 10 a. m. today. Police reported that in his original story, Dlugolnski said that in the quarrel his wife dipped a rag into a can of kerosene, ignited the rag, and threw it at him that in the act she upset the can and the kerosene caught fire and ignited her dress. In a later story, police said, Dlugolnski admitted that he upset the can in the scuffle.

Hunt Young Rivals

More than a score of white and Negro youths, members of rival west side gangs whose feuds have resulted in one killing and several beatings, were being sought yesterday by Warren av. police. Efforts to break up both gangs followed admission by John Ricci, 17, the confessed slayer, that Monday night's street riot was the outgrowth of an attack made a week earlier by the Negro gang upon one of the members of neighborhood organization known as the Brigadiers.

Police who arrested Ricci in his home at 1114 Vernon Park pl. early yesterday said the boy confessed firing a shot in the melee at Paulina and Congress sts. during which Howard Canty, 16, of 224 E. 60th st. was slain and Willie Thomas, 16, of 4358 Prairie av., both Negroes, was severely beaten. The revolver was recovered in the home of Anthony Pomonis, 15, of 1076 Harrison st., who also was taken into custody.

Police also are holding Fred Bartuch, 17, of 848 Lytle st., identified as having clubbed Thomas, and two other members of the club. They are Patsy Gallow, 17, of 3336 Polk st. and Patsy Cardi, 18, of 1032 Polk st.

HITLER DISTRUST OF HIS FOREIGN LEGIONS SHOWN

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany, May 25 (AP)—Adolf Hitler had little confidence in non-German troops made to fight in the wehrmacht, a transcription of shorthand notes taken at his meetings with the high command disclosed today.

"I don't want to say nothing can be done with foreign legions," he said on one occasion, "but it takes time. If one had them six or 10 years and controled their territory they could become good soldiers.

"But if one gets them from a territory which lies somewhere out there, why should they fight? They become victims of every kind of propaganda and giving them arms when there is no surplus of weapons is irresponsible."

NAVAL ACADEMY TO RESUME FULL 4 YEAR COURSE

Washington, D. C., May 25, (AP)—President Truman has approved a return to a full four year course at the United States Naval academy, Annapolis, at the end of the present spring term in June, the navy announced today.

Since June, 1941, the academy has been operating on a three year schedule to meet the urgent need for young officers in the war.

The changeover will be accomplished by dividing, according to academic standing, the present fourth class [class of 1948] into two halves, with the upper half of this class to continue the present three year course, graduating in June, 1947. The lower half of the class will become the third class and will graduate in June, 1948.

TWO ADDITIONAL CABINET POSTS TO BE PROPOSED

BY PHILIP DODD
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 25—Transfer of the functions of all independent government agencies to departments headed by cabinet officers and the creation of two new government departments will be recommended to President Truman within a month by the joint congressional economy committee, it was learned today.

The two new departments would be headed by cabinet officers, bringing the size of the President's cabinet to 12. One of the new departments would be responsible for "business management" and the other would include such quasi-judicial agencies as the interstate commerce commission and the federal communications commission.

President Truman has made it known that he favors the creation of the post of business manager for the federal government. The economy committee's plan would make that official a cabinet officer, responsible for procurement of supplies, accounting, and the general business of the government.

Reshuffle of Bureaus

A congressional source said today the committee's plan included a reshuffling of existing bureaus and the assignment of their functions to departments "where they belong." This reshuffling, it was said, would place the general accounting office, now an independent agency, and the treasury department's procurement division in the new business management department.

Mr. Truman, in a message to congress yesterday, asked for legislation permitting him to reorganize the executive branch of the government on a "businesslike" basis. The economy committee is expected to present its plan as a reorganization guide.

The federal government now includes 10 departments and 26 permanent, independent agencies, boards, and commissions with 265 bureaus and divisions. In addition there are 23 emergency war agencies, the lives of which will end six months after the war under present law.

Byrd Goes to Europe

Final action on the economy committee's reorganization plan will await the return of its chairman, Sen. Byrd [D., Va.], who left the capital today for a 10 day trip to Europe with a congressional committee to study the redeployment of war materials and men in that area.

Sen. Taft [R., O.] meantime, hoisted a go-slow signal on the President's request for greater authority to reorganize government agencies.

"The first war powers act [under which the President is empowered to reshuffle federal offices dealing with the war] will not expire until six months after the end of the war with Japan, Taft told newsmen. "So I see no hurry about considering a new reorganization bill."

Taft added: "I believe congress should pass a law reorganizing the government after the war. After that is done, I believe the President should be given limited powers to combine or eliminate or reorganize departments and bureaus."

Gen. De Gaulle to Come to U. S. to Visit Truman

PARIS, May 25 [Reuters]—Gen. De Gaulle, with the unanimous support of his cabinet, has decided to accept President Truman's invitation to visit the United States. The invitation was brought from Washington, D. C., by George Bidault, French foreign minister and delegate to the San Francisco conference, and was discussed at tonight's meeting of the French cabinet.

Sales Rise

The need for war bonds to provide hospital care for thousands of wounded, still streaming in from Europe as well as the Pacific, was stressed at a "mighty 7th" war loan rally yesterday at State and Madison sts. by Walter Pidgeon, motion picture star, who has just completed a tour of veterans' hospitals in the south.

"We must buy bonds with which to finish the Japs," Pidgeon said, "but we must also take care of the wounded who are steadily filling every inch of available space we have. At every institution I visited I found the foundations for new buildings. These must rise as soon as possible and it is only by our bond purchases we can make that possible."

Bond sales to individuals in the drive to date in Chicago and Cook county yesterday were announced as $87,771,000, or 26.8 per cent of the total of $327,474,000 asked locally in that division. The rise in 24 hours was more than 5 million dollars. Purchase of $1,250,000 of bonds in the "mighty 7th" loan by Patrick E. Gorman, president, for the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America, was announced.

In Washington it was announced that $1,432,000,000 in "E" bonds, 35.8 per cent of the 4 billion quota, had been sold thruout the nation.

FLAYS CHOICE OF WICKARD AS REA DIRECTOR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 25—In a statement charging Agriculture Secretary Wickard, of Indiana, is a "bad administrator," Sen. Shipstead [R., Minn.] today opposed President Truman's nomination of Wickard as administrator of the rural electrification administration.

Wickard was named to the REA by Mr. Truman Wednesday after the President had announced the appointment of Rep. Anderson [D., N. M.] to the agriculture post from which Wickard had resigned. The senate has not acted on either appointment.

"The nomination of Secretary Wickard for REA administrator," said Shipstead, "is a complete shock to nearly all REA systems who have been struggling to remove REA from the political domination of Secretary Wickard in the department of agriculture. His confirmation would perpetuate the hopeless political muddle that exists in REA today."

The REA is now a part of the agriculture department, altho the senate recently passed a bill re-establishing it as an independent agency. House leaders said today the bill will meet strong opposition in that body.

BY E. R. NODERER
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, May 25—Prime Minister Churchill tonight announced 40 appointments to his new "caretaker" government which will steer Britain thru the turbulent period between the breakup of the coalition cabinet and the general election on July 5.

The list, approved by King George, names 27 Conservative ministers, five Liberals and Liberal Nationals, seven Independents, and one Nationalist. It is described in political circles as a cabinet of surprises.

Anthony Eden retains his post as foreign minister. Richard Butler, former minister of education, succeeds the Laborite, Ernest Bevin, as minister of labor and national service. Harold Macmillan, former minister resident at allied headquarters in the Mediterranean ,takes over the Liberal Archibald Sinclair's job as air minister.

New Home Secretary.

At the home office, in place of Laborite Herbert Morrison, is Donald Somervell, former attorney general. The new first lord of the admiralty, replacing Laborite A. V. Alexander, is Brendan Bracken, former minister of information. Bracken is succeeded by Geoffrey Floyd, formerly in charge of gasoline warfare.

Other surprise appointments are the Independent Leslie Hore-Belisha as minister of national insurance in place of Laborite William Jowitt, and the Liberal, Ernest Brown, in Laborite Stafford Cripps' job as minister of aircraft production.

Ministers who retain their posts include John Anderson, chancellor of the exchequer; Dominion Secretary Cranborne; Leopold Amery, secretary of state for India; Colonial Secretary Oliver Stanley; War Secretary James Grigg; John Llewellin, minister for food, and Aviation Minister Swinton.

The ministries of home security and economic warfare were abolished. Economic warfare activities in the war against Japan will be carried on by the foreign office.

The new ministers will receive their seals of office on Monday.

JAP GUNNERS IRRITATE YANK; HE SLAYS EIGHT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

OKINAWA, May 24 [Delayed]—In a bitter fight on Okinawa's west coast Sgt. Nelson J. Sturgeon, Viper, Ky., became separated from his platoon of company K, 184th infantry. Irritated by attention from a Japanese machine gun nest, he advanced, knocked out the gun, and killed eight Japanese with his automatic rifle.

Pvt. Russell Gladstein, 2040 Le Moyne st., Chicago, with one of the first marine companies to cross the Asato river, said his platoon was catching heavy sniper fire from ruined houses. Land mines and booby traps scattered thru the district made advances slow, he said.

MRS. TRUMAN TO CUT SUMMER VACATION SHORT

Washington, D. C., May 25 (AP)—Mrs. Truman said today she will return from her Independence, Mo., vacation before midsummer because the President would get lonesome if she stayed away longer.

At a tea given in her honor by the Women's National Press club Mrs. Truman announced she would go to the family home in Independence next week. Her mother, Mrs. D. W. Wallace, who has been spending several months here, will return home with her. Mrs. Truman said she wants to be sure that her mother is comfortably established at home before she returns to the White House.

The Trumans' daughter, Margaret, 21, plans to spend the summer in Independence.

Mrs. Truman said she had not dismissed 20 members of the White House household staff as reported. She said about half a dozen members of the household staff had left. Another White House source explained these persons had been transferred to other government work.

MARSHALL SAYS INFANTRY FOES HAMPERED ARMY

Washington, D. C., May 25—Gen. Marshall said today the job of building an efficient ground army had been hampered before the war by many who thought the day of infantry had passed. They thought, he said, that tanks and planes alone would win wars.

The chief of staff spoke at army war college ceremonies in accepting for the army a memorial plaque dedicated to Lt. Gen. Lesley J. McNair, former ground force chief who was killed in Normandy last summer.

Recalling that McNair was given the "monumental" assignment of forming an army at the time the Germans were sweeping across Europe, Marshal said McNair knew "the only way to win wars was to crush large forces of the enemy in the shortest possible time. He trained his men to this point of view."

STALIN TOASTS RUSSIANS; FEAST LASTS TILL DAWN

Tells of Army Mistakes Made Early in War

MOSCOW, May 25 (AP)—Marshal Stalin and other soviet leaders congratulated themselves at a banquet last night on the triumph over Germany, altho the Russian leader said that the government had made mistakes during the early months of battle.

Perhaps the high point of the victory gathering in the ancient white hall of St. George in the Kremlin was Stalin's toast to the Russian people as he raised a vodka filled tumbler:

"I drink first of all to the health of the Russian people because they are the most outstanding of all nations in the composition of the soviet union."

In One of His Best Moods

The Russian people make up more than half the population of the soviet union, which includes vast expanses of Asia. The toast by the Georgian born Stalin to the Russians was considered equivalent to President Truman, a Missourian, toasting the people of the eastern United States.

"I raise this toast," said Stalin in one of his best moods in years, "to the health of the Russian people because they have deserved in this war the acknowledgement of the leading force of the soviet union among all the people of our country."

Tremendous roars filled the great hall.

It was after the toast to the Russian people that Stalin said the government had made no few mistakes in the war during the desperate period in 1941 and 1942. It was then that the Red army was retreating, abandoning villages and cities of the Ukraine, White Russia and other provinces, "giving them up because there was no other course."

Offers Toast to Molotov

In a toast to the foreign commissar, Stalin said:

"Do not forget that a good foreign policy sometimes weighs more than two or three armies at the front."

The celebration started at 8 p. m. It lasted nearly until dawn.

Marshals, front commanders, inventors and national heroes in all ranks of Russian enterprise were in the audience, and all received praise.

Molotov, in toasting Stalin, said of the marshal:

"He has brought our people to their great victory, a victory unparalleled in history."

Soviet marshals were awarded the coveted order of victory, and Molotov then rose to toast the military commanders.

CHEERS GREET MONTGOMERY ON PARIS VISIT

PARIS, May 25 (AP)—Thousands of Parisians lined the Champs Elysees today to cheer Field Marshal Montgomery as he made his first visit to Paris in 10 years.

The British military leader placed a wreath on the tomb of France's unknown soldier and then, smiling and saluting from an open car, rode to open a British army exposition in the annex to the royal palace.

To an audience at the exposition he said: "France was prostrate under the heel of the invader. But you cannot quell the spirit of fighting France. The fight went on—long live the history of France!"

RULER OF IRAQ ARRIVES IN U.S. ON STATE VISIT

New York, May 25 (AP)—Prince Regent Abdul Ilah of Iraq, a direct descendant of the prophet Mohammed, arrived by plane from Casablanca today for an official visit to the United States.

Prince Abdul Ilah

The regent wore an Iraq army uniform and said his visit was made in response to an invitation from President Truman.

The prince will remain in New York for the week-end and then go to Hyde Park to place a wreath on the grave of Franklin D. Roosevelt. On Monday he will go to Washington to call on President Truman and remain overnight as a White House guest after an official dinner in his honor.

One purpose of his visit is to study water power projects, and he will travel as far west as Boulder Dam, Colo.

The regent rules Iraq for his nephew, 10 year old King Feisel, and his heir apparent to the throne. Largely due to his influence, Iraq declared war on the axis in 1943 and joined the allies.

He speaks English well, having been educated in an English school in Alexandria. He dresses customarily in western clothes, but has a large stable of Arabian horses and once a year joins his desert tribesmen for several weeks to return to a nomadic life.

British Navy to Let Out Only 6,000 Men Over 50

LONDON, May 25—The royal navy will not participate in demobilization plans under which 750,000 men are to be released from the British army and the air force before the end of the year, A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, announced tonight. The only navy demobilization, Alexander said, will be a token one of 6,000 men over 50 years of age on June 18. Specialists such as radar and engineering experts are to be retained regardless of age, length of service, or rank.

noted today in praising aircraft manufacturers and workers for the quantity and quality of their production, that the American attrition rate in Europe decreased as the luftwaffe was destroyed, so many of the planes that fought in Europe will fight again against the Japanese.

Needless Output Not Wanted

"We do not propose to ask for more aircraft than are necessary for successful prosecution of the war," he said.

Other principal production revisions announced were:

Douglas A-26—Production at Douglas' Long Beach, Cal., plant will continue at approximately the present level. Output at the Tulsa, Okla., plant will taper off and terminate by Jan. 1, 1946.

Bell P-63—Production of the fighter at Buffalo, N. Y., will be cut substantially by July and ended by Sept. 1. Manufacture in the same city of the P-63 equipped with target devices and used for training will continue virtually unchanged for the rest of the year and on a reduced schedule thru the first half of 1946.

Boeing B-17 Flying Fortress—Production at the Douglas plant in Long Beach, Cal., where a 50 per cent cutback already has been scheduled, will be tapered further and stabilized by August at approximately one-fourth of the current rate. The Lockheed plant in Burbank, Cal., the other B-17 production center, has heavy commitments on its P-80 program and will halt manufacturing of the Flying Fortress in August.

Lockheed P-80—Production of the jet-propelled Shooting Star will continue unchanged at the Lockheed Burbank plant. North American had planned production of P-80s late this year at its Kansas City, Mo., plant, but output there has been canceled.

Lightnings to Be Dropped

Lockheed P-38—Production of the Lightning originally was scheduled to end by 1946, but under the revised schedule Lockheed will taper output to zero by November. Consolidated, at its Nashville, Tenn., plant will halt output after June.

Douglas C-47—Production of this cargo plane at Oklahoma City, Okla., will taper gradually until December and continue during 1946 at a rate about half of that planned.

Beech C-45 — Manufactured in Wichita, Kas., this plane will continue in production with little change until fall, when output will begin decreasing and continue into 1946 at approximately half the scheduled rate.

Curtiss C-46—Production at the Louisville, Ky., plant will end with June's output, as announced previously. The St. Louis, Mo., plant, which formerly made parts and only recently began final production, will halt the latter. After June this cargo plane will be turned out only at the Buffalo, N. Y., plant, where output will continue unchanged thru next month, decline in July and August, and level off at approximately two-thirds of the current scheduled rate.

NEED MORE WORKERS

John C. Buckwalter, manager of the Park Ridge plant of the Douglas Aircraft company, said last night the plant would not be affected by the aircraft production cutback announced yesterday in Washington, D. C. "On the contrary our production schedule has been stepped up and the Park Ridge plant needs more workers," he said. The plant is now 100 per cent engaged in the production of the four engined C-54 cargo planes.

PRAGUE RADIO ASKS FOR HELP IN TRACING CHILDREN OF LIDICE

LONDON, May 25 (AP)—The Prague radio appealed tonight "to all people of good will and good hearts" to help trace the children of Lidice. The broadcast said nothing had been heard of Lidice's children since the Germans consigned them to "educational institutions" after razing the village, killing its men, and sending its women to concentration camps in reprisal for the assassination of Reinhard Heydrich, Nazi "protector" of Bohemia and Moravia. The radio appeal was directed especially to men and women who have been held in concentration camps and thus might have clews.

WE'RE LONG ON TRAWS

Come May 15th, we felt more glum than boastful about our bounty of straw hats. But now that the sun is on a full time shift, we've taken back anything we might have said about our buyers' impetuosity. For this summer, as always, men are going to want and need cool, feather-light, jaunty, infallible protection against the sun's rays. To wit: the hats sketched above, genuine Ecuadorian Panamas all, and very susceptible to Father's Day surprising.

4 BOYS IN BLUE TO LEAD PARADE HERE TOMORROW

Civic Welcome Awaiting Clark Wednesday

Plans for a dual observance of Memorial day were completed by veterans' and civic organizations last night. Chief interest will center in the annual parade in Michigan av. tomorrow afternoon, and a reception for Gen. Mark Clark of the 5th army in Congress st. plaza Wednesday.

Tomorrow's event is sponsored by the Grand Army of the Republic Memorial association of Cook county, and is expected to have 30,000 participants representing the army, Illinois reserve militia, veterans' organizations, sons of veterans' organizations, the Red Cross, and military schools.

Four '65 Veterans in Line

The parade will begin at 2 p. m. at Ohio st. and proceed down Michigan av. to Roosevelt rd. Four "boys in blue"—Thomas Ambrose, 96, grand marshal; William Perry Lockwood, 98, state commander of the G. A. R.; James Crugom, 93, department chaplain, and James Harvey, Negro, who will be 100 on Aug. 1—will participate, it was announced.

Memorial services will precede the parade at 11 a. m. in the naval armory, at the foot of Randolph st., by the naval post of the American Legion. The Memorial day luncheon of the Commonwealth Edison post of the Legion will be held tomorrow in Hotel Sherman.

An elaborate celebration, with a 15 mile parade to include all the military vehicles the 6th service command can muster, is planned for Wednesday, when the city welcomes Gen. Clark, members of his staff and 50 Chicago soldiers, all of whom are veterans eligible for discharge.

Clark Flying from Paris

Clark and his party are scheduled to arrive by plane at Chicago airport at 1 p. m. after a flight directly from Paris. He will be met by Mayor Kelly and city officials, who will head a procession to the loop.

The procession will move north in Cicero av. to 55th st., east in 55th st. to Michigan av., north to Jackson blvd., west to State st., north to Wacker dr., east to Michigan av., and south in Michigan av. to the Congress st. plaza.

A 17 gun salute will signal the start of the civic reception, followed by a formal greeting by Mayor Kelly. Gen. Clark is expected to speak, and the 50 veterans, many of whom served in Italy under Clark, will be introduced. Several hundred patients of Gardiner and Vaughan General hospitals will be seated in a special section.

Bands spotted at rights of way along the procession's route will be massed to conclude the program with the playing of the national anthem.

Visitors to Be Dinner Guests

The visitors will be honor guests at a dinner Wednesday night in the Palmer House. Capt. Albert Hoffman, chaplain formerly assigned to the 5th army and holder of the distinguished service cross, silver star, and Purple Heart, will give the invocation. Each of the 50 soldiers will receive four tickets. The veterans are expected to return to Fort Sheridan the following day to receive their discharges.

Mayor Kelly said 50 Thunderbolt fighter planes will fly over the city during the reception. Army, American Legion, and Chicago High school R. O. T. C. bands will play. Directors of other bands desiring to participate were asked to communicate with Corporation Council Hodes.

In the event of rain, the civic reception will be staged in the Chicago arena, Erie st. and McClurg ct.

U.S. INDICTS 3 FOR CONSPIRACY IN WAR WORK

Federal grand jurors returned an indictment yesterday before Judge John P. Barnes charging three defendants with conspiracy to defraud the government of $58,000 in illegal contracts with the Douglas Aircraft Corporation, Inc.

The defendants are Elmer L. Whitney, 37, former assistant purchasing agent of the Douglas company in Park Ridge, who now operates his own tool business at 4006 Division st.; Earl Lee Cook, 69, a retired Chicago lumber dealer, and his daughter, Miss Laura Velma Cook, 32, both of whom now live in Pacific Palisades, Cal.

Floyd J. Mattice, special assistant attorney general in charge of the Chicago war frauds division, said Whitney is accused of illegally awarding contracts to the Cooks thru their firm, the Associated Defense Industries, then located at 526 W. 76th st., but now dissolved.

Evidence was presented to the jurors by Mattice and Assistant United States Atty. Jack A. Welfeld. Mattice said contracts totaling $204,000 were involved, but a specific overcharge of $58,000 had been disclosed.

450,000 POUNDS OF FROZEN EGGS HELD FOR TEST

A car containing 1,500 cans of frozen whole eggs that Zean Gassmann, director of the state division of foods and dairies, said had been damaged in transit was placed under seizure order yesterday at the Monarch Refrigerating company, 40 E. Hubbard st.

Gassmann said the eggs, weighing 450,000 pounds, would be examined to determine how much can be salvaged. He asserted some cans had been broken and dirt had been ground into the contents.

Frank Priebe of Priebe & Sons, Inc., 40 E. Hubbard st., who Gassmann said owned the eggs, explained his company was merely the agent for the owner. Priebe said the eggs were packed under government supervision and the cans bear a government seal.

50,000 WITNESS R. O. T. C. PARADE ON MICHIGAN AV.

An estimated 50,000 persons lined Michigan av. yesterday as more than 10,000 Reserve Officers Training Corps cadets from 30 Chicago high schools, which constitute the largest R. O. T. C. high school corps in the nation, marched in their 11th annual parade and review.

Cadet Col. Richard E. Kutz of Waller High school and the commissioned and noncommissioned cadets who comprise the general officer staff for the corps led the parade up Michigan av. from Balbo drive after a ceremony at which the Harrison and Fenger High school units received flags for placing first and second, respectively, in the annual federal inspection.

Presentation by Col. Torrence

The flags, gifts of THE TRIBUNE, which coöperates with the board of education as sponsor of the review, were presented by Col. Joseph E. Torrence, commanding officer of district No. 3 of the 6th service command, who represented Maj. Gen. Russel B. Reynolds, head of the service command.

Col. Torrence told the assembled cadets that Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, who established the tradition of presenting sets of colors to the winning schools, "is a former soldier and he knows that the colors of champions can be a fine inspiration."

Philip Maxwell, member of the Tribune editorial staff who represented Col. McCormick at the ceremony, congratulated the instructors and cadet officers of the winning schools. School flags also will be presented by THE TRIBUNE to the winning schools.

The bands of 15 units and the drum corps of nine others marched thru the avenue of flags on Balbo drive onto Michigan av., the color guard of each school falling into line as its unit came by. St. Mel High school, only parochial unit and the largest of any in the city, marched in third place.

Mayor in Reviewing Stand

Mayor Kelly, in the reviewing stand at Congress plaza, termed the parade "a wonderful, stirring spectacle," and said: "The corps is representative of the great melting pot that is America."

Others in the reviewing stand were Col. F. E. Swanson, Lt. Col. Lewis C. Gordon, Maj. B. F. Dies, Lt. Patricia Strihling, and Capt. H. A. Fulton, all members of Col. Torrence's staff; Lt. Col. Oscar N. Taylor, professor of military science and tactics in the Chicago schools, and his adjutant, Maj. Sidney S. Stocking; Capt. Benyaurd B. Wygant, commander of the naval reserve training school at Northwestern university; Lt. Col. Michiel Dobervich of the marines; James B. McCahey, president of the board of education, and public school officials.

SWITCH SUMMER PAPER SALVAGE TO PLAYGROUNDS

Waste paper salvage drives which have been conducted by the Chicago Newspaper Publishers association among Chicago high schools and elementary schools will be switched to public, school, park district, and social agency playgrounds during a nine week summer campaign, William H. Bennett, chairman of the publishers' association subcommittee, announced yesterday. The summer campaign will be divided into three three-week drives starting June 24, July 15, and Aug. 5, with special prizes for winners in the six districts of the city for each three-week drive and grand prizes at the end of the nine-week campaign.

Participating in the salvage program will be 69 public school playgrounds, 110 park district playgrounds, and 40 city playgrounds. At least 40 of the 70 playgrounds conducted by social agencies also are expected to participate. Proceeds from the sale of waste paper collected will be used in the purchase of sorely needed additional playground equipment.

RETURN TO CABINET GOVERNMENT

Mr. Truman's request to congress for authority to reorganize the government has encouraged belief in Washington that most of the 49 independent agencies with their 629 bureaus are to be consolidated under the executive departments or abolished outright. The same fate, it is to be hoped, is reserved for 55 government corporations which now are able to do about as they please without reference to congress. They draw upon the treasury to cover their expenditures and deficits without the need of specific appropriations or review by the general accounting office.

It would be helpful if Mr. Truman were to elaborate upon his message to congress and define the principles upon which he proposes to proceed in reorganization of the government, but when such a champion of efficiency in government as Sen. Byrd says that the authority the President seeks marks "the beginning of the end of a lot of independent agencies and a lot of unnecessary government employes," there is reason for confidence in the President's intentions. The end of untrammeled burocracy would seem to be approaching.

Mr. Truman's own words and actions suggest also that he proposes to bring back common sense and sound organization to government. When he transferred the functions of the war food administrator to the office of secretary of agriculture, where they belong, he demonstrated that he was no sympathizer with overlapping jurisdictions and divided authority and responsibility. It is to be hoped that this principle of centralized administrative responsibility will be greatly extended as the reorganization proceeds.

For years Secretary of Labor Perkins, for instance, was a mere supernumerary, altho holding cabinet rank, because the real functions of the department were exercised thru the independent national labor relations and war labor boards. Parallels could be found in almost all of the other executive departments. The cabinet officers nominally possess the authority; in reality, the power resides elsewhere. Few of the heads of executive departments thru the New Deal years have retained their powers unimpaired.

The confusions did not develop entirely by accident. They were planned that way. For many years there was a temperamental indisposition to dismiss incompetents. The result was that they were retained and their powers transferred out of their hands. This, however, was not the primary reason for the growth of a governmental wilderness in which whim and thousands of regulations were invoked to govern almost every action of the citizen.

This deliberate confusion of governmental organization was carefully fostered. It was brought into being by grants of blanket authority by congress to the executive. The law became what the burocrats said it was, and they, in turn, were responsible only to the White House. The agencies were the instruments of one-man government.

They were useful, also, in advancing New Deal objectives of loading the pay rolls for political purposes, disbursing tax money in profligate fashion to consolidate the power of the administration, and extending controls and regimentation over the lives of all the people. The system was destructive of the republican system of government and of constitutional liberties and, because the authority was widely dispersed among countless little burocratic tyrants, it was difficult for the people to find a focal point in expressing their grievances.

Mr. Truman now gives promise of ending these abuses by reposing proper responsibilities and powers in the proper executive departments. Congress, by a majority vote of both houses, is empowered to nullify any steps taken by the President in his reorganization. As Mr. Truman said, congress cannot "consistently criticize" deficiencies in the administration if it denies the President "the means of removing the causes at the root."

Mr. Truman is asking the right to straighten out a mess. He is seeking the restoration of cabinet government. He proposes that departmental heads be responsible to him and that he be responsible for them. If the result is not all that it should be, the President signifies his willingness to accept the blame. These developments are more heartening than anything that has come out of Washington in 12 years.

THE LABOR SUPPLY IS GROWING

The monthly survey of employment by the Illinois department of labor shows that employment in Chicago factories declined 2.1 per cent between March 15 and April 15. This is a continuation of a drop which began late in 1943 and which has been continuous since then, except for the brief interruption in December during the battle of the bulge. The month before V-E day there were about 70,000 fewer people on pay rolls of manufacturing establishments here than at the war peak late in 1943. Dismissals and lay-offs since April 15, and especially since May 8, must have been substantial.

Elsewhere in the middle west employment has been declining in somewhat the same degree. The index of employment in Detroit at the end of April was at the lowest level since 1942—a reduction of 16 per cent from the peak on Nov. 15, 1943. In Indianapolis, factory employment at the middle of April was 9 per cent lower than the year before. In Milwaukee, the latest figure being for March 15, there has been a 5 per cent drop since the spring of 1944. In Quincy and Rock Island in Illinois, in La Porte and Marion in Indiana, and in Marshalltown, Mason City, Muscatine, Ottumwa, and Sioux City in Iowa more than 5 per cent of the factory employes lost their jobs between March 15 and April 15.

Jobs are growing less plentiful at the time when soldiers with 85 points are beginning to come home. Moreover, some of the biggest government owned, privately operated war plants, like Ford's Willow Run factory, are to be closed down in another 30 days. The labor supply will shortly be increased by the end of the school year.

Immediate action is needed if unemployment of serious proportions is to be prevented and needless drafts on the unemployment insurance fund are to be avoided. The steps to be taken are clear, and they will be effective. Job ceilings limiting the number of employes for any employer should come off, not next week, next month, or some other time—but today. Industry should be turned loose to produce all the goods it cares to, so long as delivery of war materials is not interfered with. At present, WPB limits the quantity of production of new civilian goods, like automobiles, and puts off the day when production may start. Furthermore, congress ought to concentrate its attention on a tax relief measure, to be effective after V-J day. The time to talk about planning is over. The time for action has arrived.

JUSTICE IN NORWAY

If some Norse woodchopper had dismembered the traitor Quisling with an ax in Viking style, no injustice would have been done. But the Norwegians have a better weapon. Quisling is a prisoner awaiting trial. Report had him swabbing out latrines the other day. He will be arraigned shortly before a mixed court of jurists and laymen and there is no doubt as to his destination, which is the gallows. The betrayer and looter of his country, he is the most execrated man in the history of Norway and he will receive his full measure of justice. The Norwegians will deal similarly with all who shared his infamy.

Norway is setting an example for Europe. The deeds of the Nazi war criminals and their accomplices are infamous almost beyond belief, but there is not a single one of them for whom a just punishment cannot be found in the existing system of the law, either of Germany or of the nation he wronged. In no case is lawless vengeance necessary. Justice meted out by long established courts, either civil or military, depending upon the offense, will suffice. The victors have no need to disgrace themselves by resort to the same lawlessness they have overthrown, however great the cry for vengeance.

The United States is participating in a war crimes commission. There have been suggestions that the commission establish special courts to try war criminals. That is a procedure foreign to all of our own principles of jurisprudence and to those of the British as well. No such tribunal could function without invoking ex post facto procedure, forbidden by our Constitution.

Any war criminal who has offended against the United States must almost surely have offended by the mistreatment of prisoners or thru some other violation of the laws of war. No special court, no special prosecutor, is needed for these matters. Gen. Eisenhower can arraign any such criminal before a court martial and impose the penalty fitting to his crime, and the United States has no rightful interest in the punishment of any war criminal except one who has offended against this nation.

The Nazis and their agents should have justice without mercy. Special courts are as unnecessary as they are repugnant. The war crimes commission should confine its activities to gathering evidence of crime, apprehending the offenders, and turning them over for trial and punishment to the nations which were the victims of the crimes.

WHY AN OCD?

Ald. Waller is to be congratulated for the persistence which finally has caused the city council to appoint a committee to investigate the Chicago office of civilian defense.

The Chicago OCD has been a silly organization almost from the beginning, and when it has not been silly it has sometimes been pernicious. There were, for example, the so-called morale wardens, many of whom conceived their function to be that of going about and browbeating any critics of the national administration as unpatriotic.

The only excuse that ever existed for the expenditure of public funds for the OCD was the possibility that the fortune of war might have subjected this country to physical attack. That possibility no longer exists.

President Truman recognized the fact by dissolving the national OCD as of July 1, when its current appropriations expire. Gov. Green followed suit by withdrawing from the legislature the bill to appropriate funds for the Illinois war council, which is the OCD in the state outside metropolitan Chicago. The governor said, sensibly, that such useful functions of the OCD as remain, including war garden promotion and salvage of paper and other waste materials, can be carried out by a volunteer, unpaid organization.

Mayor Kelly, however, announced that he would attempt to keep his OCD payrollers and has asked the city council to release $35,000 for their expenses and salaries. Why is the OCD more important in the city of Chicago than it is in the state of Illinois or the nation at large?

The council committee is also going to investigate the service men's centers. The better part of wisdom would be to ignore that half of its instructions. If it should go into the centers, the committee might unearth some unorthodox practices, all of which contribute to a most useful end, the maintenance of Chicago's reputation as the best host in the country to service personnel.

MR. PEPYS STRETCHES

26th May—Have been relaxing my mind this week as if in the seventh inning stretch of the war, which has become a one-way street and less worrisome. Have observed that people everywhere seem more normal in their behavior, and are not standing like wooden images in the front doors of buses and street cars as much as they did when the European front was a dubious matter.

Feel that it has been and remains a strange war on the home front. It will seem even stranger when I join THE TRIBUNE by-line writers at State and Madison sts. next Tuesday noon in a war bond show. Now regret I did not learn to play a cornet, ukulele, or banjo. Had ambitions for the mouth organ in boyhood, but could never wheedle a tune out of that foolish instrument. My highest accomplishment then, I remember, was throwing stones, at which my aim was deadly. Maybe when my turn to sell a bond comes I can stand up on the platform with a hand grenade and yell, "Buy a bond—or else." That would panic 'em.

Hope the weatherman will be reasonable, for I plan to go to Wrigley field this afternoon for my first glimpse of the gallant Cubs of 1945. Rain, rain, go away!

WIND OF COMFORT

I met the wind one day upon a hill.
It shared my solitude, and brought me hope,
And scent of pines and sweeter daffodil,
And showed me just how blindly one can grope
In fearsome depths of self-made misery.
"Lift up your eyes," it whispered there to me;
"Cast out your fears, nor waste the time to grieve; Think not of yesterdays, but of the things to be!"
Such things it softly said, and turned to leave.

But first it paused and soothed my fevered head,
And then I stirred and thought I must have dreamed,
But, strange, I found I had been comforted;
The grass was newly windswept, and it seemed
A brighter, fresher green; the sky more blue.
Who knows if it was dreamed, or maybe true—
But this I know: When doubts or worries fill
My heart with fear, I have a rendezvous
With kindly winds upon a friendly hill.

A Contributor Passes

Adept in languages, father of two sons in service, successful in business, poet, A. Nicoll Weeber was oddly humble in joining the Line Contributors club until he learned how the group welcomes those of his attainments. His old world courtliness impressed us, and his wit soon earned him a stellar role at our dinners. The Tuesday group was a little tempestuous, and he gravitated to the small Friday noon luncheon, with the dean [Thomas Curtis Clark] and the older, more serious men.

Authority on world politics, history, and travel, he held his own in the weighty discussions, from philosophy to literature. We had missed him, but assumed he was absorbed in the manuscript of his book, a tale of court romance and intrigue. Now, only the flowers we sent in the name of all contributors can tell our regard and regret.

FALLEN STAR

Fragment of sun, bright heavenly avatar,
Blazing your path from unimagined space,
Could you not fall, and falling leave no trace?
How intimate a part of earth you are;
No five-point flame but lump irregular,
Your fire has turned to stone before my face,
A changeling, heavy, dull, and commonplace.
I who was always reaching for a star,
Treading the clouds, spinning a rope of sand,
Who sought the strange, and bright, and beautiful,
Who built air castles, hunted rainbow gold,
Tho I have held you, blackened, in my hand,
Still find the proven fact incredible:

A WAC's View of Paris

The apse of Notre Dame ahead of me; the Pantheon dome rising on the Left Bank across the river; the Tour St. Jacques to my right, and one of the patient fishermen of the Seine in a skiff beneath me, looking like a Monet print. A church bell sounds the hour; now another joins in, and still a third—Notre Dame itself. It is 9 p. m. The pink glow has faded out of the sky and the slender crescent moon takes on more luster. The river reflects the green of the many trees which line its banks.

I have just traversed Rue St. Louis en l'Isle, on the Ile St. Louis, and could not have felt more conspicuous. Apparently a WAC is still a novelty there. How can people live in such places [and in many such thruout the city] day after day, night after night, breathing such foul air! Street filth, old women, dogs, floozies leaning from windows or lounging in doorways, and always, pervading everything, that incredible smell.

The Ile St. Louis deserted, slumbrous, as one writer said? Say rather, populous, housing one of the poorer districts of Paris. "You'll need a bodyguard thru there," two officers told me as I entered the rue, and before long I wished I had one.

Mrs. E. M. F. writes: "My husband is about to be discharged from service after three years. He desires to convert his national service life insurance to another plan which eventually would become paid-up and at the same time have loan value. How soon should this be done, and can the converted policy be back dated to obtain a smaller premium rate applicable to an earlier age?"

The war department does not advise haste in conversion of national service life insurance to one of the three other plans available—ordinary life, 20-pay life, or 30-pay life. A bill is in congress to extend time for conversion from the original five years to eight years. Conversion of the term policy to any of the three types offered by the government as of any premium date or the original date of the policy, may be effected by payment to the veterans administration of the difference between the reserve on the new policy and the reserve on the old policy. Payment must accompany the application for conversion and may not be made by allotment. The payment will amount to several hundred dollars, depending on the conversion rate and age of insured. Determination of reserve values is made by the veterans administration, and it is necessary to write to the bureau to determine what payment is required for the conversion. The national service life insurance may be converted only to government life insurance and not to any insurance in any commercial company.

SUPPLYING THE MISSING LINK IN PERNICIOUS ANEMIA

ONE of the brightest chapters in the history of medicine is concerned with pernicious anemia. Here is an example of a disease in which the picture changed from that of gloom and an expectancy of the worst to one of optimism and continued good health. All of this was made possible thru the discovery that liver could restore the blood to normal.

The disorder seldom develops before the third decade of life and is confined chiefly to the inhabitants of northern Europe, the United States, and Canada. It is commonly seen in families and, in that respect, may be considered hereditary. The cause is unknown but we believe that the factor responsible for forming blood diminishes by degrees and is reduced finally to a minimum.

In the early stages, symptoms are similar to those found in any anemia. These individuals are easily fatigued and the slightest exertion is often characterized by breathlessness and palpitation. In some cases, swelling of the ankles is observed. Appetite departs gradually, the sight of food may bring on nausea, and vomiting and diarrhea are not unusual. Numbness and tingling of the hands and feet may prove distressing. Marked weakness and, in the more severe forms, actual paralysis of the muscles in the legs may be exhibited.

The typical patient is often prematurely gray and has extremely pale skin which assumes a lemon yellow tint. Many sufferers complain bitterly of intermittent attacks of soreness of the mouth and tongue. The latter structure may be so smooth that it looks as if it had been seared with a hot iron. At other times it is beefy red in color.

The diagnosis can be made by studying the circulation and analyzing the stomach contents. The absence of free hydrochloric acid is invariably noted. If this gastric juice is present, we must look elsewhere for the origin of symptoms. The importance of finding out whether or not pernicious anemia exists should be emphasized because the victim must continue treatment for the remainder of his life. Only in this way can the more serious complications be prevented.

The majority of sufferers need injections of liver extract until a satisfactory response in the blood count is observed. Thereafter the "shots" are given less frequently, depending upon the state of the vital fluid. The diet should be rich in protein, purin, and iron and may consist of liver, sweetbreads, and kidneys along with red meats trimmed free of fats. Fresh fruits and vegetables, cereals, potatoes, and whole wheat bread are also desirable. Fats and salt should be used sparingly. If there is an aversion to liver this material may be finely ground and served in tomato juice or soup. Additional supplies of vitamin B can be taken either in the form of brewer's yeast or other commercial preparation. For those who have gastric upsets, hydrochloric acid can be administered.

With return of strength, the patient is usually capable of resuming his regular occupation.

MISPLACED BEAT

L. W. writes: I have a sort of beat in my right ear. It is like an echo from the heart. It is not painful, merely annoying. Can you tell me anything about it?

REPLY

Occasionally a blood vessel in the ear region is at fault, due to a widening or thickening of the wall. When marked, a physician can actually hear it with the stethoscope.

NO NOTHING

E. P. writes: Are there any symptoms in low blood pressure?

REPLY

Not in the majority of cases. Under stress and strain, some lose their feeling of well being associated with fatigue, exhaustion, dizziness, and anxiety. With others, the low tension accompanies another disorder and is in no way responsible for the resultant symptoms.

THE COLORS

Mrs. P. writes: My sister-in-law's sister turns blue, red, and gray after eating. What can she do?

REPLY

She should be patriotic and make it red, white, and blue. Frankly, I have no idea what causes this woman's trouble.

MARIAN GLEASON

Sign of the Times

The end of the war must be near. A sailor and his girl, strolling on La Salle st., were not holding hands.

Small World

An American sailor, wandering thru the rubble of Japanese buildings on an island in the Marianas a few months ago, saw a yellowed Baltimore newspaper protruding from a broken drawer. Thinking it might contain news from home, he snatched eagerly at it. All the news was strange and new. One bulletin told about an attack on Fortress Monroe. Another told of the first appearance of the ironclad Merrimac, still another of the clash between the Monitor and the Naugatuck. The big story of the day dealt with the battle of Pittsburg Landing in which 70,000 troops were engaged. The account said the struggle was desperate until gunboats came in with timely aid and incredible courage. A small news item reported that an Iowa regiment had ruled that any man who uttered an oath must read a chapter in the Bible. "Several have got very nearly thru the New Testament," the writer observed. The newspaper was the Baltimore Clipper of April 12, 1862.

Pocket Money

A scout just back from New York reports the pandemonium created in the black market by the treasury department's new edict checking up on the possessors of all $1,000 bills. As a result, you now can buy a $1,000 bill for $750 on the black market.

Grrrrrr

Occasionally, O, possibly once a day, some great prose work so beautiful it shakes the very desk it lands on falls into this reader's lap. It is usually, but not always, the output of the perfume manufacturers. It brightens the day no matter how dull the preceding hours may have been and lingers in the memory anon, anon, anon.

Such a masterly piece of literature hit this area yesterday. It is on white paper with maroon vignettes. The vignettes are stylized drawings of dancing—natives perhaps, or maybe hollow men, for where ordinary dancers might have faces these have blanks. The magnificent prose is too involved to reprint here in its entirety, but a few excerpts will suffice:

"It would indeed be tragic if, because of insufficient information on how to pronounce GriGri, our lovely customers were to gargle with the name. The very thought of all those female epiglotides vibrating madly from one end of the country to the other, makes us cringe.

"GriGri is pronounced Gree Gree, and sounds a bit like the love call of a lonely little cricket lost in the ecstatic contemplation of a dew drop. . . .

"The idea for the fragrance was inspired by the simple and wonderful story of a young jungle lad who went to the wars with but a GriGri around his neck for protection. The thing was made of brilliant leathers, bits of ivory, and three blue pearls. . . . It was a charm to insure good hunting, good fighting, and good loving.

"We, of the civilized world, often think of that boy.

"We created GriGri because it can do no harm to the block buster and robot bomb; because some one may write soon again a 'What Price Glory' show and because we dream that eventually Eve may remember to whisper again 'yours . . . very . . . truly'."

Say all that again, please.

Music on the Mind

Word comes from a young sailor on a destroyer escort in the Pacific that the crew's favorite song is "Don't fence me in. Give me land, lots of land . . ."

Candor

A gentleman of obvious foreign birth wandered into Mrs. Stevens' State st. candy store the other day and asked the clerk, "Are you any nuts?" The salesgirl replied promptly, "Yes, sir, lots of them. Nice and fresh, too."

WE'RE NOT ALL BOBBY SOXERS

Chicago, May 23—As one who attended the State and Madison street war bond rally on Monday noon, I wonder if movie stars or soldiers and sailors are getting the glory. The man who presided wanted to hear himself talk too much. He kept wondering why a certain moving picture star didn't come. Finally this star did come. Then we learned that for the purchase of a $100 war bond we could have the picture of this great star autographed. Shades of Hollywood! Most of us would buy a bond autographed by some lad who has been in the thick of the fighting but we will be damned if we will buy just to swell the publicity for movie stars who are very carefully guarded against guns and bombs.

Who won this war in Europe anyway? Was it won by these sleek haired lounge lizards or was it won by boys from farm and city who at $50 a month did their share while movie stars get more than that per minute?

The United States treasury and the State Street council may think we are a bunch of bobby-socks, but we are not. My boy fights in the South Pacific on a destroyer. Thousands of other boys from Chicago fight where the shells are thick and the fighting is tough. Yet some movie star is touted to the skies when they want to sell war bonds.

We will buy war bonds, not because o' some movie star, but because we know the strain and stress of having our boys far from home and country. We will buy them, not for publicity on a microphone, but because we know what war means at first hand.

Hundreds of people are thoroly disgusted at this seemingly obvious attempt to boost the bunch at Hollywood whose flair for free publicity knows no bounds. Some one has well expressed my thought in a poem which goes in part like this:

"I did not buy because I heard
A movie star's appeal.
Or just because an orator
Spoke out with zest and zeal.
The other day the boy next door
Was gravely wounded in this war,
A lad who fought with courage grim,
I bought a bond because of him."

It's surely about time that Chicago woke up and cut out this lovesick girl stuff and its boosting of a bunch of so-called stars who know nothing of the pain of war—its grief or its utter loneliness.

METROPOLITAN HICKS

New Castle, Ind., May 22—The present administration kept in power by bunking the consumers of a few key cities. Its candidates concentrated on New York, Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, a campaign strategy as successful as it was obvious and iniquitous. Now, the consuming hicks of the great cities who fell for the gag have little to consume.

HENRY HAMMER

DISABILITY DISCHARGES FOR DOCTORS

Charleston, S. C., May 15—The army policy is no longer to recruit doctors from civilian life, indicating, I presume, that they have more than enough. However, despite the fact we have only a one front war left, they will not release doctors who have served overseas for years and have serious ailments, on the ground that "they are needed."

This policy naturally must be laid at the door of Surgeon Gen. Kirk, who left instructions at all general hospitals that medical officers were eligible for disability discharge if their pulse couldn't be felt.

The doctors in the army are happy to have sacrificed their home life, the best earning years of their lives, and their practices to serve. However, those among them who meet with misfortune and serious illnesses should certainly receive some consideration. The army is getting all medical school graduates [about 5,000 yearly] and has over 60,000 doctors now. Surely there are three times enough to treat our casualties.

Chicago, May 22—On May 9 five members of the R. O. T. C. of Englewood High school had the pleasure of receiving Chicago Tribune R. O. T. C. medals. Again I wish to thank you for making possible the presentation of these symbols of honor. The offer of Tribune medals constitutes a splendid incentive to each member of the R. O. T. C. to do his best.

HOUSING MOOCHERS

Anderson, Ind., May 23—In reply to Clarence W. Beatty Jr., what would be wrong with these public housing moochers trying the old fashioned method of saving their money and then building or buying their own homes, rather than forever and for everything depending on the New Deal vote buying bureaus, especially under conditions existing for the last four years?

Home with Dog

"Babe," a Cocker spaniel picked up by Chief Petty Officer Frank C. Ladendorf three years ago in Saipan after the dog's master had been killed at sea, is home with Ladendorf at 4411 N. Greenview av., after a trip by merchant ship from the South Pacific. Ladendorf, who had hoped to fly home for a 30 day leave, found he couldn't take the dog by plane, and came by boat instead. The dog has traveled more than 8,000 miles with Ladendorf, a ship repair man.

PILOTS BAG 4 U-BOATS IN A 24 HOUR HUNT— THE WAR'S 'GREATEST'

LONDON, May 25 (AP)—Four German submarines were sunk in the closing days of the war in what the air ministry today called "the greatest U-boat hunt" of the conflict. Another possibly was sunk.

Liberators of the coastal command, flying from Scotland, made the kills in 24 hours. All but one attack was by daylight.

The surfaced U-boats resisted fiercely, the air ministry said, tossing up flak in an attempt to ward off the depth charges. Flying Officer A. A. Bruno of Quebec told of one attack on two U-boats, both of which opened fire as he bored in. "Our first stick of depth charges," he said, "straddled slightly ahead of the conning tower. The U-boat's stern came out of the water at an angle of 45 degrees and the sank stern first. Five minutes later bodies, wreckage and scum were seen on the surface of the sea."

In another action, the air ministry said, R. A. F. Mosquitos hit three U-boats and a mine sweeper traveling in line.

TWO OKINAWA CHAPLAINS DIE; 5 ARE WOUNDED

OKINAWA, May 25 (AP)—Two of 300 American chaplains with the military forces on Okinawa have been killed and five others wounded, Col. Roy N. Hillyer of Hiawatha, Kas., 10th army chaplain, said today.

One of those killed was a Negro chaplain, hit by shell fragments. The other was fatally wounded as he ran to help wounded, under artillery fire.

Hillyer said that, despite the fierce fighting, plans are under way to hold patriotic services Memorial day for the American dead on Okinawa. He expressed the hope that enough flowers could be gathered on the island to decorate all graves in the white cross cemeteries, which are still growing.

U. S. DESTROYER LITTLE AND FOUR NAVY SHIPS LOST

Washington, D. C., May 25 (AP)—The destroyer Little and four other small craft have been lost in the Okinawa area from enemy action, the navy announced today. The small craft lost were the LSM 190, the LSM 195, the fleet mine sweeper Swallow, and the LST 447.

Casualties were described as moderate. The losses brought to 310 the total naval vessels of all types lost since the beginning of the war.

The normal complement of the Little was about 200 officers and men; of the LSM's, about 40 each; of the Swallow, about 75, and of the LST 447, about 90.

Loss of the LST 447, her skipper, Lt. Paul J. Schmitz, told a news conference, cost five men listed as missing and 17 severely injured. None was known killed.

FRENCH COURT EXILES FAITHLESS WIFE OF PRISONER OF WAR

PARIS, May 25 (AP)—A beautiful shopgirl charged with having had relations with both French and foreign officials during the Vichy regime has been sentenced to national disgrace and exiled from her native department, the French agency reported today.

The sentence was imposed by the civil court of the allied department, which includes Vichy, on Paulette Roidot, 27 years old. She was charged with first being the mistress of Joseph Darnand, chief of Vichy's French gestapo, and then expanding her activities to become intimate with "numerous foreign diplomats attached to the Vichy government as well as officers of the German gestapo," the agency said.

She was described as married to a French prisoner of war who was in a German camp during this time.

Brooks' report on his travels, with objectivity its keynote, has aroused so much interest that by popular demand he has extended his speaking schedule thru June 2. Gen. Eisenhower requested him to make his report to as many Americans as possible, the senator said.

Besides reporting to five fraternal, industrial, and business organizations, Sen. Brooks will appear at the following public gatherings: Monday night, Freeport; Wednesday night, Parichy Memorial stadium, Harlem av. and Harrison st.; Thursday night, Rogers Park Presbyterian church, 7059 N. 'Midsummer Nightmare'

By Christopher Hale

(Copyright, 1945, By Mrs. Frances Stephens.)

SYNOPSIS: Olivia Warburton and her secretary, Winnie Leslie, occupy a cottage, cared for by Tillie, on the Jennesma estate. The Jennesma factory is managed by Dirk Adams, Winnie's fiance. Sybrand Jennesma plans to manufacture his brother Gerrit's latest invention, a car motor, and hopes to interest Morgan Riley. Sen. North, Riley's investigator, falls in love with Olivia. Jason Kimball, in charge of publicity, is fond of Winnie. The oft-married Hilda Jennesma Paradine claims money is missing from her cottage. Hilda is found murdered, a knife in her neck. Tillie informs Police Lt. French that Olivia, who walks in her sleep, went downstairs in the night and took a knife from the kitchen—the knife. The missing money is found in Winnie's bedroom. Eddie Paradine heard nothing, nor is he familiar with Hilda's will. Dirk was with Hilda from 1:30 to 2 a. m. Olivia finds herself turning to Sen. North, but there is a barrier, a secret marriage in her youth. Jerrold Corbin, Hilda's first husband, is upset to learn Hilda left him only $1,000. Tillie is poisoned. There is arsenic in her chocolates. A box of chocolates, one layer partly gone, is found in Olivia's room. Gerrit has received three anonymous threats and Kim four unsigned telegrams. Three days before Tillie's death she deposited $5,000 dollars in cash in her bank. Corbin produces a copy of a will made by Hilda two weeks before her death leaving $5,000 each to her brothers and her husband and the balance of the estate to him. Tillie bought arsenic from the druggist. A fourth threat is addressed to Gerrit. The knife is found in Olivia's garden. Eddie is visited by a woman, then disappears after burning papers. Winnie's attempt to enter the Paradine cottage, at Dirk's urgent appeal, is unsuccessful. Police find Dirk's I. O. U. among Hilda's things. Dirk is held. Hilda wanted him to accept the money as a gift. Olivia received a warning in which Gerrit shows great interest. Gerrit is attacked and wounded but refuses to have a doctor. The his workshop is ransacked there is no sign of a battle where the attack occurred, but police find some leaves varnished red. Winnie is unfriendly to Dirk when he is released. Gerrit's assailant was a large man, with a knife. No one tried to capture him.

BLANK PAPER

"You're sure you were all here in the house when Mr. Jennesma was shouting for help?" French's eyes went slowly around the circle of wary faces. When he reached Winnie he saw she was gazing at Dirk Adams.

"How about you, Adams?" French quickly asked.

"I was driving out here."

"When did you start?"

Dirk's face went curiously blank. "O, I don't know. Not long ago. Twenty, 25 minutes, perhaps."

"That's odd," said French quietly. "We called your house right after dinner this evening. Seven twenty-two, to be exact. Your mother said you had come home unexpectedly from jail at 5:30. She had expected you to spend your first evening with her, but you left immediately after dinner was over, at seven."

Dirk licked his lips. "I meant I left town at . . . that is . . . at . . . 20 minutes ago. I had to stop and see some one."

"Who?"

Dirk swelled poisonously. "Am I to give an account of every second of my life now that I'm out? You might at well lock me up again and be done with it. At least, I couldn't be accused of horrible crimes, then."

Miss Warburton saw the big muscles in his broad back twist under his thin summer suit. He was husky and tall. He could have put up a battle with a man as strong as Gerrit. But if he had knifed him, surely there would have been at least one spot of blood on that light brown suit!

Her gaze traveled slowly down his sturdy legs, set squarely on the floor. When she arrived just below the right knee, she began to feel the hair rise slowly up at the nape of her neck. What was that small, dark stain?"

Her eyes flashed toward French. His mind must have kept pace with hers, for he had found the same spot. He was gazing at it in silence.

For all his conceit, Dirk was not stupid, as his excellent management of the factory proved. He was the last to glance at his knee. When he finally looked down, he laughed. At least it was intended for a humorous sound.

"Sorry to disappoint you all. That's been on my pants for days. Don't know what it is. But it's certainly not blood."

French said, coldly, "Let's hope it's not. But I'm still waiting to hear whom you saw before you left town. They may recall the time you left and save us a lot of grief."

Dirk stole a glance at Winnie's stricken, ashy face and shrugged. "I can't. It's private. Lock me up again, if you have to."

Sybrand said, in exasperation, "But Dirk, we need you at the factory. We've gone to a lot of trouble to get you released. Can't you tell the lieutenant, in confidence, where you were?"

Dirk hestitated as if tempted. Then he said no again.

Two troopers touched Dirk on the shoulder, in response to a nod from French. Dirk got up and swaggered out with them.

French said, "And now, Miss Warburton, may I speak to you alone, please?"

Miss Warburton led the way across the hall, much annoyed at the wabbling of her knees.

She switched on the light in the office. French followed and tried to shut the door.

"Not so fast," said North, shoving in.

"Well, Miss Warburton, what's all this about your getting an anonymous note?"

She explained quickly and briefly all the circumstances connected with her finding the note on her return from East Lansing that afternoon. At the conclusion she pulled from her handbag the rather mussed envelope with its rough address.

French said dryly, "It would have been a good idea not to have finger prints on this."

"I know." She flushed. "I did try to keep them off for a while."

The lieutenant switched on the desk lamp. He began to examine the envelope. French even picked up a reading glass she had left there and examined every letter.

The senator drew near her and whispered, "What's your opinion of Dirk Adams?"

"I haven't one I could publish."

North hooted. "Who could like him? And I am going to see that he doesn't get that little Leslie ninny if it's the last thing I do."

Miss Warburton was not giving him all her attention. He followed her anxious eyes to the desk. French had turned about in the swivel chair, the open sheet of paper in his hand.

"Are you sure you handed me the right paper, Miss Warburton?"

Her throat went dry. What now? "Why . . . why yes. Of course. That's the envelope . . ."

"Did you reseal it before handing it to me?"

"But it was never sealed, even at first."

"It was when you gave it to me. Just enough to hold down the tip."

She looked thunderstruck. "But . . . how could that be? Unless . . . perhaps my hands were warm and I felt in the bag several times during the evening to make sure the letter was there."

North cut in furiously. "You don't know that. Why are, you always trying o take the blame, distrusting yourself, Olivia?"

"She's doing all right, senator," French said icily. "But Miss Warburton, this is not the note you received."

The paper in French's hands was blank!

North swore softly. "That's astonishing. Thank goodness you showed me the message, Olivia. This should be a lesson to you from now on to show me everything. Fortunately, lieutenant, I recall the exact wording. It said, "You have four days to get another job.'"

"Five days,' whispered Miss Warburton.

"Four days, five days, what's the difference. And here's something else. The message was the usual newsprint pasted on tablet paper with ruled blue lines like the other notes. This paper you have is not ruled."

French asked, "Miss Warburton, can you recall any time this afternoon or evening when this paper could have been substituted?"

"The only time it was entirely out of sight was for about three minutes when I arrived here before dinner. I left it in the hall in my coat pocket. But who could have known that? It was never out of my hands at any other moment except when I showed it to Sen. North and Gerrit Jennesma. And then it was not out of my sight."

WINNER OF ALL ARMY'S AWARDS BANS HERO ROLE

SALZBURG, Austria, May 25 (AP)—Freckle faced Audie L. Murphy, the young Texas lieutenant who won the congressional medal of honor and all other heroism awards, today was promised a 30 day leave at home by Maj. Gen. John [Iron Mike] O'Daniel of the 3d division.

Murphy, 28 months overseas, said he would like to come back and resume command of his company and O'Daniel said that could be arranged.

The general told Murphy he would be welcomed at home as a real hero. The lieutenant blushed and remarked, "No, sir, I'm afraid when I go home I'll have to go in the back door. I couldn't go for being treated as a hero."

Murphy broke up a tank and infantry attack almost single handed in the Colmar pocket battle to win his country's highest award. His wounds, in the legs and thighs, suffered just before he turned back 250 infantrymen and six tanks by manning a burning tank destroyer's gun, have entirely healed.

ICELAND WAR'S UNSUNG HEROES: THE RADAR MEN

Keep Long Vigil Cut Off from World

BY WILLIAM STRAND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, May 14 [Via air mail]—If honors are ever handed out after the war to the proverbial unsung heroes, some of the leading contenders undoubtedly will be the men who operated the Iceland radar stations thruout the years of American occupation.

Isolated for months at a time from the rest of the world in some posts and with no chance to pause in their work night or day, theirs was the responsibility for heralding the approach of attacking enemy aircraft. Some of them are among the most experienced technicians in the army, said Maj. Homer G. Hornung of Hamilton, O., executive officer of the 556th signal air corps warning battalion. Here is the story he told:

Originally there were 11 radar stations ringed around the southwestern fringe of the island, safeguarding the Meeks field air base for the trans-Atlantic transport planes, the fighter field and the main Reykjavik harbor and naval base. Some were on the tops of mountains where the first snow falls automatically sealed them in for the winter; others were on the outer reaches of sheer cliffs near the sea.

Supplied by Raft

Their only communication with the defense headquarters was by telephone. The closest that one of the seashore stations came to actual contact with the rest of the garrison for months at a time was by means of a raft which a supply boat brought as close to the rocky cliffs as it could. The raft was then pushed toward the shore into the arms of the men of the outpost who waded out to receive it.

Mail, food, clothing, and gasoline for their generators were delivered in that precarious way.

Each station has from 50 to 60 men regularly assigned to it. They include the men operating the equipment as well as the spotters. Their reports of all planes went directly to the radar center at the defense headquarters. Then they were relayed to the control room for plotting on the defense map used as the basis for anti-aircraft fire or dispatching interceptor planes. Planes picked up by radar and not readily identified as friendly were immediately plotted and investigated.

The gales which sweep the island were among the chief problems in these operations. Nowhere do the elements whip themselves into such frenzies as over Iceland and at such times rotation of the ponderous antennas was impossible. But these were the only times day or night that operations were discontinued.

Five Stations Now

The number of active stations has been reduced to five, which are still busy probing the skies for approaching planes pending orders on what the next move is now that the war in Europe has ended. At one outpost today, the men on duty were watching their screens and tending their power equipment with the same thoroness as in the earliest days of the conflict.

Sitting patiently at the telephone line to the main control center was T/5 Morgan Thompson of Savannah, Ga., who has had only one furlough home in 20 months. Others working the spotting equipment in this isolated outpost were T/5 John A. Dombroski of Wilkes Barre, Pa., who has been here a year, and Pvt. 1st Class Frank Kessler of West Fairview, Pa., the "baby" of the outfit, with only six months overseas.

YANK WHO FOUND NAZI GOLD HOARD IS HOME WITH 15c

Seattle, Wash., May 25 (AP)—Sgt. George Murphy, who found 100 tons of gold in Germany recently, got back to the United States with just 15 cents in his pocket.

It was the sergeant, a combat engineer, who set the charge that blew open the door to a salt mine near Merkers. Inside were an estimated "billions of dollars" worth of the metal and art treasures.

Sgt. Murphy is back on an emergency furlough to be with his mother, who is seriously ill. He said he had no idea he was going to blast the lid off the German rainbow when he was ordered to go on a "wall blasting job."

USE POINT PLAN FOR RELEASE OF WAR OBJECTORS

900 Expected to Be Free in Year

Washington, D. C., May 25 (AP)—Selective service today announced a point discharge system which it said will release more than 10 per cent of the conscientious objectors in work camps and other projects.

The agency estimated that about 900 of 8,368 men will be discharged over a year's time, beginning in August.

The plan, patterned after the army's demobilization program, provides no arbitrary number of points that will automatically make a conscientious objector eligible for release. Officials explained that those having the highest number will be discharged during the first year.

Service Points Figured

The points will be credited as follows:

One point for each month of service or fraction thereof; 12 points for each child born prior to midnight, May 12, 1945, and three points for a wife, provided that marriage occurred before midnight, May 12, 1945.

Selective service said no man will be eligible for release who has been assigned to a camp or other work project less than one year.

The new program does not apply to conscientious objectors in noncombat military service. These men must qualify for release under the army's plan.

Conduct Figures In

The program provides for consideration of conduct thru a system of deductions from each objector's total number of credits. One point will be deducted for each day's absence without leave, also one point for each day of refusal to work.

Selective Service Director Hershey said no conscientious objector will be considered for release while a case against him is pending before a law enforcement agency. He stated also the discharge of key men and those necessary to completion of projects will be delayed.

At present there are 113 camps and other projects to which conscientious objectors are assigned. Distribution of release applications will begin in a few days.

There is no provision for between 3,500 and 4,000 men claiming to be conscientious objectors who have been convicted of draft law violation and imprisoned.

Volpe will be placed aboard a train for New York today and within a few days after his arrival at Ellis Island will be on his way to Italy. He was seized in his home at 1500 N. Menard av.

Wilkerson after Volpe was convicted of having gone by boat to Cuba and having returned fraudulently to this country by plane on June 24, 1928. Garden Marts and Parties to Fill Busy Day

BY JUDITH CASS

THE last Saturday in May will be especially busy, starting with two garden markets which will draw Chicagoans out early this morning and ending with festivities tonight in the Saddle and Cycle and Chicago Yacht clubs.

Mrs. Edward L. Hasler has made a collection of pins from seashells and coral to be sold at the Lake Forest Garden club's garden mart today in Market sq., Lake Forest. The pins are similar to some she has made and given to her friends, and the shells came from Australia, Africa, the south seas, and many other places.

Also on sale will be some stunning flower arrangements which Lake Forest women who have received blue ribbons in previous flower shows are putting together. The club also will have a "wishing well" set up in the square into which coins may be thrown. The money will be used to buy flowers for Great Lakes. Some of those who have made flower arrangements are Mrs. Gilbert H. Porter III., Mrs. Laurance H. Armour, Mrs. Edward K. Welles, Mrs. Alfred E. Hamill, and Mrs. Donald R. McLennan.

Also attracting garden lovers today will be the 3d annual garden market of the Garden club of Barrington, from 8 a. m. to 3 p. m. A gay marquee has been erected at Station and Main sts. in the village, and flower and vegetable plants, herbs, and garden supplies will be offered for sale. With the money raised the club will plant shrubs at Vaughan General hospital, send two Barrington teachers to study at the Ohio conservation laboratory, and make a contribution to the Boy and Girl Scouts.

Dances Tonight

"Colossal" is one member's word for the 50th anniversary dinner-dance tonight at the Saddle and Cycle club, for which the club is expecting its largest turn-out—more than 200—since the war started. Brown derbies, mustaches, and buttonhole gardenias will carry out the Gay '90s theme for the masculine guests, while their partners will receive chrysanthemums, fans, and "programmes" in which to jot down their dances. The orchestra will tune up at 8:30 and play for five hours.

Despite the current meat shortage, the prospect of feeding the large crowd expected isn't worrying the Saddle's chef, as the guests will dine on broiled half chickens provided from a flock raised especially for the club. The Saddle recently was redecorated, and centering the newly painted shocking pink table tops for the party will be old fashioned red and white bouquets.

Being welcomed back to Chicago at the Saddle party will be Lt. John P. McWilliams II. of the naval reserve, who has been overseas for nearly two years. He and his wife and brother, Charles D. McWilliams Jr., are coming from Dwight, Ill., for the party. Mrs. John McWilliams and the children have been living in Dwight since Lt. McWilliams went overseas. He saw his baby son—and third child—for the first time a few days ago.

The yachting season will get off to a running start with tune-up races this week-end off Chicago's shoreline. This afternoon R and S boats, stars, tumlarens, and the new Luders 16s will be out in competition for the first time this year at the Chicago Yacht club. Tonight the club will celebrate the opening of the new season with a dinner-dance starting at 7 in the Belmont Harbor clubhouse.

The Columbia Yacht club will break out its burgee with an annual flag raising ceremony at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow. There will be dancing in the clubhouse from 6 to 9 p. m. tomorrow, following tune-up races in the afternoon.

Other Week-End Events

A portrait of the late Rufus C. Dawes will be unveiled following a luncheon which Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, president of the Museum of Science and Industry, will give tomorrow in the museum. The painting will be on view in the new Century of Progress lounge in the museum, which Mr. Dawes headed following his term as president of the 1933-'34 World's fair.

The second annual tea for Red Cross volunteers will be given from 4 to 6 p. m. today in the recreation room of Gardiner General hospital. Special guests will be Mrs. George Howlett, who has served 3,000 hours as senior aid since the hospital was opened and who soon will move to New York, and Mrs. Ray Batty, former director of the hospital's recreation corps and now a vice chairman of the corps.

Birth News

Somewhere in the Atlantic, where he is serving with the navy, Lt. (j. g.) James Ingersoll will learn of the birth of a daughter May 19 in Henrotin hospital to him and the former Courtney Ann Reid. The baby, their first child, has been named Jean Frances. Mrs. Ingersoll is at home with her parents, Judge and Mrs. Leonard Reid of Ellis av., while Lt. Ingersoll is at sea. Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Ingersoll of Winnetka are the little girl's paternal grandparents.

Wedding News

In a ceremony this afternoon in the Glencoe home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver A. Williams, Miss Kathryn Crowley will become the bride of Capt. Alan Donald Cameron of the marine corps reserve, son of Mrs. Ossian Cameron of Winnetka. A reception in the Williams' home will follow the ceremony.

Miss Eileen Marie Williams, cousin of the bride, will be maid of honor, and another cousin, Miss Marjorie Ann Williams, will serve as bridesmaid. Sgt. Marvin Brand of the army will be best man. Capt. Cameron's younger brother, Pvt. Ossian Cameron, cannot be present, since he is serving with the army in France. Capt. Cameron is on leave following 27 months in the South Pacific.

Little Girl's Mother Aids Infant Welfare Project

Cathey King, who is 3 years old, and her playmate, Roxy, a boxer. Cathey's mother, Mrs. Charles W. King, is a member of the Wilmette center of the Infant Welfare society, which will hold its final sewing meeting of the season from 9:30 a. m. to noon Thursday in the Wilmette Woman's club. White Collar GIRL

Pay Day

Don't tell this department that secretarial work doesn't pay. A man wandered into Mrs. Steven's candy shop recently, bought a box of candy, and handed the manager an inclosure to go with the gift. It was a $100 bill—a birthday present for his secretary, who has worked for him several years. When last seen the man was happily hurrying back to the office.

They Do It All the Time

Mr. Boss, at 4:50—"Well, what are you still doing here? Why don't you go home?"

Miss Sec.—"My train doesn't leave until 5:09."

Mr. Boss, at 4:55—"O, I just happened to think of a letter that has to go out."

Moral—Leave when Mr. Boss suggests it, or he will find a thousand and one things to do which could wait till next day. MISS SEC.

Elevated Behavior

About a week ago at the service men's center I overheard a group talking about a girl who every morning does a complete make-up job on her way to work in the loop. This takes place on the "L," where she removes the scarf from her head and the bobby pins out of her hair and combs it; then applies pancake make-up. One morning she even took off her coat and sewed a button on her suit. The men, particularly, get a wallop out of watching her. FLOREINE

Recovery

Today, into my life you wandered back,
Reminding me of when we said good-by;
That grievous day my little world turned black.
Now, for the life, I can't think why. CULLIE CULBRETH

Invitation to Success

Doree Smedley and Lura Robinson have written a lively book, published this week, called "Careers in Business for Women." Published by Dutton [$2.75], it presents the limitless opportunities of today.

You might characterize the book in three words: "Invitation to Success," for here are brightly told stories of success in as many careers as there are stars in your eyes: Accounting, office management, executive secretarial positions, real estate, radio, etc.

"If you are just launching your business career and making plans for the future, you are in luck," says the opening chapter. "A greater variety of interesting jobs is just ahead than ever before. The girls who made their start some years ago were obliged to hunt long and earnestly for any kind of office work, and were thankful for an opening, regardless of its opportunities. . . . Today there are not only a great many more jobs available, but new fields and new opportunities have been created by war time inventions. . . . There are breath-taking developments in industry just ahead. . . .

"Stimulating, even exciting jobs," the authors prophesy for those with ambition. "One of them may be your job—if you are prepared for it."

An absorbing book to read if you have—ever had—or ever expect to have—a job.

Musical Movie Pretty Much on the Dull Side

"DELIGHTFULLY DANGEROUS"

By Mae Tinée

This musical is not particularly delightful and the only danger involved is the likelihood of suffering from acute boredom.

Jane Powell is another of the seemingly endless number of teen-aged sopranos. At the age of 15 she warbles nicely, but I'm a bit weary of these plots featuring agile adolescents who manage other people's lives.

In this case the youngster, who has been supported in style, discovers that the revenue is good because her older sister, who provides it, is a popular burlesque queen. Said sister is very refined, of course, and is in burlesque only to keep the wolf from the door. But when the horrid secret is out Jane decides she will bring home the bacon in more respectable fashion by singing in a Broadway show. A handy producer [Ralph Bellamy] enters at the right moment, and, before you can wink, everybody's happy.

Constance Moore does some dancing and sings several songs rather well, and Mr. Bellamy is amiable as the kind-hearted, patient producer. Arthur Treacher and Louise Beavers are cast in the servant roles they handle so well. To me, they were the only bright spots in the whole business.

Phyllis Hughes Is Betrothed to Officer in Navy

Johnson, a graduate of Virginia Polytechnic institute, also is stationed with the navy department in Washington. The wedding will take place there next month.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bryan Bray of Glencoe announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara, to Ensign Edward Chamberlin Robertson, son of Mrs. James P. Robertson and the late Mr. Robertson of Seattle, Wash. Miss Bray attended Northwestern university and will be graduated from Wells college, Aurora, N. Y., Monday. Ensign Robertson, who is on duty in the Pacific, attended the University of Washington. Mr. and Mrs. Bray have gone east for the commencement exercises at Wells.

At a tea in their home in River Forest recently Mr. and Mrs. James J. Ryan announced the engagement of their daughter, Valerie Maria, to Lt. [j. g.] John P. Business Meetings of Local A. A. U. W. Units Set for Today

Local units of the American Association of University Women will meet in various cities today to hear recordings of talks by national officers and conduct business originally slated for the organization's national convention. The convention was canceled this year because of war time travel restrictions.

Chicago branch, which is headed by Miss Gertrude Smith, will meet at 1 p. m. in the Rose room of Huyler's restaurant, and the North Shore chapter will convene at 11 a. m. for an all day session in the Orrington hotel, Evanston. The retiring president of the latter group, Mrs. C. F. Dawson, will turn over the gavel to her successor, Mrs. Keith Preston, during the afternoon session.

Committee reports, nominations of candidates for office, and a vote on legislative proposals made at a recent state convention are expected to occupy attention of the Chicago branch. Among the national officers whose recorded talks are to be heard at the association's "meeting of minds" will be Dr. Helen C. White of the University of Wisconsin, national president, and Miss Marion Talbot of the University of Chicago, founder.

GIs Thrilled by Paris Shows, Sports, Music

BY ANNE BRUYERE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, May 25 — Chicagoland GIS' are tingling with thrills, going stage struck, and generally having a lot of fun attending the debuts of new Parisian artists and shows which opened this week.

Twenty year old William Stased, 1711 N. Menard av., is badly smitten with dynamic, bright eyed, 18 year old Anna Nevada, who, as a dancer, out-whirls any senorita who ever spun out of old Spain. She had 22 curtain calls at the Salle Pleyel last night.

Said the soldier, "I've seen some snappy dancing and listened to some of the hottest swing that ever sizzled, but Anna, O! I don't know yet whether it's the girl, the castanets, or my heart."

Thirty-two year old Paul A. Pistorio, 2053 Hutchinson st., thought that the Vincennes, Longchamp, and Auteuil race tracks were the best entertainment that Paris offered until some one slipped him a pass to the opera.

He saw the debut of Edwige Claudel, who sings Marguerite in "Faust," and asked, "Where have I been all my life? That voice was so clear, so dramatic, so beautiful that I'll never forget it. The resplendent ballet scene was the best thing I ever saw. The stage of the opera house is so immense and the scenery so splendid that one feels like having crashed a party thrown by a king. When I get back home I'm going to take my wife, Eileen, and my son, Dennis, to the opera often."

Blue eyed, curly haired Lt. Paul Hackbert, 1312 Oak av., Evanston, says that Paris this week is Rush st., Hollywood blvd., Broadway, and 42d st. rolled into one.

"All the new shows put on by the Casino de Paris, the Bal Tabarin, and the Folies Bergere are just the thing that red blooded Yanks away from their wives and sweethearts need to keep us in high spirits for a week," he said.

Miss Bevington attended Knox college and the University of Wisconsin. Her fiancé returned recently from two years of duty with the airborne troops in the European theater of operations.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 25—Roy Maypole joined the marines as correspondent, got the rank of sergeant, and shipped to the South Pacific. His first story out of there was the invasion of Bougainville. Says Roy, "When they pass out citations for action above and beyond the call of duty let's not forget the motion picture industry and the folks who make 'em. You'll never know what they mean to the fellows. Just imagine yourself in the jungles. You've been fighting, sweating all day; you get the word there'll be a movie that night. You make a bee-line for it. You grab yourself a hunk of ground and squat down to take a look. You see home again. Then you hear some joker say, 'Condition red—Jap bombers on way.' Off go the movies, off you go into a foxhole. The bombers come in, drop their load. The guy in the next foxhole hollers, 'I wonder if Ronnie Colman got the gal.' 'Naw,' said another, 'did you see the way she looked at Cary Grant?' When all the time you're thinking she probably gave them both the brush and married Dick Tracy. Few of them ever get to see the finish of a picture. We finally licked that problem. When bombing interrupted a show we'd put up a notice next day reading, 'Grant got the dame; they moved back to Peoria.'" . . . But this story has a sequel. Sgt. Maypole is out of service, out of a Guadalcanal hospital. While there a chaplain gave him a copy of "The Robe." He's here in Hollywood and being tested by Mervyn Leroy and Frank Ross for the part of that despicable character, Caligula. Roy thinks that part should be played only by a rugged marine. Here's hoping.

Hold Everything, Please

Deanna Durbin's next, "Catherine the Last," won't be done if Mae West has her way. She wants to put that play "Catherine Was Great" right smack on the screen. Yes, Mae's back with a tall, dark, six-foot-two that gave many a critic and associate players a headache during the past months. But I'm glad she's back. . . . Carolyn Wagner wants to start a campaign to have Angela Lansbury play the title role of "Forever Amber." Well, here it is, Carolyn. Let the big boys carry it from here, but I don't believe Metro would lend her. . . . "Lucky" Humberstone, who directed "Wonder Man," will be in New York to see its first unfolding. . . . Sol Lesser is trying to buy "Crazy to Dance," written by Gita Lewis and Sylvia Lardner, Ring's wife. It's about a dance studio. . . . Selena Royle's last picture at Metro is "Harvey Girls." She'll free lance. . . . Brod Crawford, Helen's son, is back in Paris with Maj. Glenn Miller's band.

No Skating This Time

Sonja Henie, before going overseas, where she'll do a seven weeks' hospital tour, sent her check for $45,000 to Jorgen Juve, Oslo sports promoter, to be used for Norwegian patriots. I saw Sonja in her uniform before she took off, and she was wearing the decoration bestowed upon her by the king of Norway—the grand cross, Order of St. Olaf. She's one of four women who own it. . . . Jennifer Jones left for New York, not only to see boss man David O. Selznick but to receive an honor bestowed upon her which will surprise many people. . . . Speaking of Selznick, he'd better get a public relations man back there quick if he wants to be remembered as the great producer who turned out "Gone With the Wind." . . . I love the way everybody's getting upset since Bing Crosby says he won't be back on the air next fall. Why, bless his heart, Bing's been saying that for ten years!

And Why Not?

Joe E. Brown was decorated in Manila by Gen. MacArthur with the Philippine service ribbon. Gen. MacArthur said, in making the citation, it was the first time the honor had ever been given to a civilian. Immediately after receiving it Brown left for Okinawa and Iwo Jima. This is his fourth overseas trip. . . . Lois Lane is looking mighty well playing what she calls the meanest gal in the world in "Deadline at Dawn." Loves it, says she. . . . Irving Berlin has been joined by wife, Ellen, and their three children. They'll summer here. First time in three years they've been able to spend much time together, due to the war and "This Is the Army." Yet Irving is one of our greatest family men. . . . Dennis Morgan thought he was buying a gentle horse. So far it's thrown him, his wife, and two children. It's for sale cheap—if anybody wants a horse.

They Finally Agreed

Before the cast of "Now It Can Be Told" could enter a war plant near Washington for scenes they were investigated by F. B. I. After two weeks they were okayed, and Lloyd Nolan got a badge. On it, in big black letters, was "Actor." Said Lloyd, "Well, they ought to know—they investigated for two weeks." . . . Harry Redwine, handsome ex-G I, was delivering stuff on "Stork Club" set when Hal Walker got a look at him and said, "Hey! How about doing a test?" He did. Walker looked at it; so did the studio; and they've offered him a picture contract. But he wants no part of acting. He's got a wife to support, and a job; and while his pay is small it's steady, and he just wants it to continue that way.

The recent boost on points for lard prevents us from being extravagant in our pie making. One crust pies require less lard than two crusters, and fortunately, most of spring and summer's favorite pies need only a shell to hold them.

Strawberry pies are perfection in pastry. The best strawberry pies allow the juicy red fruit to appear raw, with all its own flavor. A baked strawberry pie isn't half so good. These are two delectable favorites.

Strawberry Devonshire Pie

Baked 9 inch pie shell
1 tablespoon plain gelatin
¼ cup cold water
4 eggs, separated
¾ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup cottage cheese
1 pint strawberries, sliced

Soften gelatin in cold water. Combine egg yolks with ¼ cup of the sugar and the salt and lemon juice in the top of the double boiler. Cook over hot water, beating constantly with rotary beater until mixture is light and thickened. Remove from heat, add gelatin, and stir until dissolved. Cool and add well drained cottage cheese which has been put thru a sieve. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Beat egg whites until foamy, add ½ cup sugar remaining, gradually, and beat until the meringue holds soft peaks. Fold into gelatin mixture. Fold in strawberries. Pour into cooled pie shell and garnish with a few strawberry halves. Chill until firm.

Glazed Strawberry Pie

Baked 9 inch pie shell
1 quart strawberries
¾ cup sugar
1 cup water
3½ tablespoons cornstarch
¼ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
Few drops red coloring

Wash and stem berries and reserve 1 cup of the poorest for the glaze. Cook this cup of berries with the ¾ cup sugar and the water for 5 minutes. Strain. Add cornstarch mixed with ¼ cup sugar and the salt. Cook until thick, add coloring, and cool. Fill shell with the rest of the berries, which may be left whole, or halved. Pour glaze over pie, chill and serve.

I still have some sets of mimeographed recipes for strawberry, rhubarb, and pineapple pies, luscious treats, all of them. Any reader who hasn't already obtained a set may have one if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to me in care of the Tribune.

2 pounds spinach, cooked
½ cup cottage cheese
1 cup sour cream
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon horseradish
¼ teaspoon paprika
Chopped chives

Arrange hot spinach, coarsely chopped, in individual servings. Make a hollow in center of each and fill with cottage cheese. Combine sour cream, salt, horseradish, paprika, and pour over spinach. Top with chives. Cheese and sour cream should be removed from refrigerator several hours before preparing, to bring to room temperature.

Boys Express Their Opinions About Smoking

BY SHEILA DALY

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune]

When parents or teachers lift an eyebrow and give out with a little advice on high school gals and cigarets, the whole thing usually goes up in smoke. But here is some inside information from high school Joes, dating characters who know what they do and do not like, which may make the gals pick up their smoke rings and take notice. Gives out this way:

on the SOLID side

"The majority of boys in high school do not like to see girls smoke. When we started to smoke we did it just to be 'big time,' so naturally when we see some of the girls do it we think, 'Big time gals!' And that's not the kind of girl we really like."

"I used to think that I didn't like to see girls smoking cigarets, but the other evening at a local drug store a couple of girls draped themselves on the stools, and if they didn't haul out painted corn-cobs and light up! Now I don't even like girls!"

"If my date wants to smoke I never say anything, but I do think it cheapens a girl, makes her look as if she's trying to 'pretend.'"

"I always figure—if it makes a girl feel grown up to smoke, let her smoke. As soon as she does grow up, she'll quit."

"Fellows never like to see their best girls smoke . . . makes a girl seem nervous and self-conscious, as if she's just trying to find something to do to cover up her awkwardness.

"Girls just don't know how they spoil themselves by smoking. If I see a girl smoking, my opinion changes automatically. And the way I look at it—if a girl is man enough to smoke, she's man enough to pick up her own books, open her own doors, wait her turn in line—and I'm just man enough not to want to date that kind of girl."

Kitchen Pointers

By Mary Meade

"Aren't you ashamed of yourself? How would you like to be plunged alive head first into boiling water as you recommend doing to a lobster?"

The lobster dies immediately on contact with the boiling water. This is the accepted method and is considered humane. The important thing is that lobster be prepared for serving immediately after it is killed, as the meat spoils rapidly.

"In making jellies and preserves is it all right to cool before paraffining?"

It's all right for jelly if it is carefully covered with wax paper to keep out bacteria. But since preserves have a high moisture content which helps support bacteria, it's best to seal them immediately in regular canning jars with air tight lids.

Recently my janitor told me not to bother with preparing tin cans for collection because the garbage collector had said the tin can salvage drive was over."

The war production board says the tin salvage drive is still on and probably will continue for a year after the war is over. Homemakers should continue to wash cans, remove ends, flatten them, and save for collection. Waste paper is another scarce vital material and also should be saved.

"How can I substitute plain flour for self-rising in a recipe?"

Simply use all-purpose flour in the same amount, and add 1 teaspoon baking powder and ¼ teaspoon salt per cup flour.

Thru the Looking Glass

K. T. Stevens, the decorative star of "The Voice of the Turtle," is a girl who glories in her height, and as such she's an admirable object lesson for all women who are more tall than short.

She didn't always glory in it. Like most young girls who are taller than their schoolmates, male and female, she loathed it for years. She did what most girls in her position do, too. For years, while she was working up a fine inferiority complex about her height, she scrunched. She walked with shoulders stooped, wore flat heels, and lived in mortal terror of dating any man shorter than she.

A coach finally straightened her out, most literally. A wise woman, to whom she went for some training in stage presence during the early years of her professional career, took one look at the ambitious young actress trying to appear shorter and shooed her right off the premises. Not one word of advice would she give her, she said, until she reappeared wearing high heels and holding herself erect!

It's not easy for a girl used to hunching her shoulders and promoting the entirely false illusion of petiteness to develop statuesque carriage, but it can be done—and K. T. Stevens did it. She's almost 5 feet 7—and now she's proud of it. So proud that she's seldom if ever seen without 3 inch heels that emphasize her height still further.

She says the advice to look tall, carry herself tall, and even make herself look taller was the best she ever received. She stopped being apologetic and self-conscious, and the minute she did that her poise was more secure than it had ever been before. She only wishes she'd been told earlier that height is a distinction, and a handsome one, and that she hadn't spent those adolescent years scrunching and suffering.

Gay Earrings and Bracelets Are in Fashion

BY REA SEEGER

The shine of gold metal bracelets and gigantic earrings makes for an avaricious gleam in the eyes of shoppers looking for something new to highlight smart summer clothes of dull black and the rich, glowing shades of brown. The bracelets are barbaric and chunky, yet you will wear as many as you can push on your arm. They'll clank merrily, and fashionably, without any other jewelry. The gold metal is mostly the extremely shiny variety, tho some dull gold pieces are to be found.

Wide band bracelets, of effective designs, such as vertical bars, mesh effects and links, and rigid band bracelets simulating straps held with buckles, make a most impressive collection. When you wear half a dozen such baubles along your wrist, the effect is eye-blinding, but dramatic enough to highlight the simplest dull black sleeveless frock. Because most of the smartest summer dresses, light or dark solid color or print, are made with virtually no sleeves, bracelet showings are getting lots of serious attention. There's certainly room on bare arms for all the law allows.

Lurking under the brims of wide summer hats or showing in golden splendor with high, small hats, are the biggest earrings of fashion history. For these, too, relieve the rather somber elegance of dress parade clothes made in sheath silhouette. For necklines are high and severe, swathed around the throat, or pulled tight across the throat. So, the glitter and shimmer of this new sophisticated gold costume jewelry is as necessary as any other important costume accent. This summer the emphasis is on the gold standard, especially in bracelets and earrings.

Another Year Ended by Piano Orchestras, and It's Just as Well

The Chicago Piano Symphony orchestras—all three of them, the "Grand Ladies," the "Youth," and the "All Girl"—gave their final concert of the season before a sparse yet still unaccountably numerous audience in Orchestra hall last night.

It was Somerset Maugham, if we remember correctly, who entitled a volume of stories "The Mixture as Before," a phrase which perfectly reviews this concert. Like those which have preceded, it was of a unique, an almost exalted amateurishness.

One of the hoarier clinchés of writers on music is to say that Schumann's symphonies are only orchestrated piano pieces, but no critic who heard the "Grand Ladies" jumble the Fourth symphony would ever pull that one again. Even the recent orchestral performances we have had in Chicago are preferable.

As usual there were soloists, of whom we heard Edward Merkley, a talented but sadly misguided young violinist, play the first movement of the Mendelssohn concerto, and a still younger Negro pianist, Julius Robinson, display fleet fingers and courage in face of a muddled accompaniment to Mozart's "Coronation" concerto.

As a tribute to Herman Devries, venerable music critic, opera singer, and pedagog, three of his compositions were performed. Because of illness Mr. Devries was unable to be present.

Post-War Job for Mothers: Homemaking

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

They are pretty much out of hand—the two boys and the two girls, the youngest of whom is 5. They're not "bad," you understand, but they have almost no manners, and they wander about quite a lot. In short, they are lacking that something which I notice in children who have been carefully reared, even tho given freedom, too, and been loved and made friends of. They're not exactly neglected-looking; there's just something, that's all. It isn't always describable. I know I couldn't quite put my finger on it, until one day the children's grandmother said to me:

"I'm beginning to think it was a great mistake for Jane to do war work for the last three years. I'm so glad she's stopped. The children needed her—not some one she hired, or nursery schools, either."

Shall or will women keep their jobs after the war is a subject of debate in the public prints these days. And often it also means, shall mothers keep their jobs?

If they do in any great numbers, and when they do not actually have to, I think it will be a great catastrophe. There has been talk here and there of how nursery schools, and schools for older children which keep them until 5 or 6 o'clock, and community dining rooms for their parents and for the oldest boys and girls, would solve the practical angles of this procedure. Well, so they might. But what would become of home?

Nursery schools are fine and fill a need. But there is nothing that replaces home with a mother in it. If you have any doubt, ask the young men in the war today. They'd tell you in no uncertain terms. And if you yourself have a son overseas, or one about to go, and you hear what he says and read what he writes about home, you know where mothers belong. Those boys of ours couldn't have the tender and beautiful feelings they express about an empty house and a community kitchen.

TRACTION PLAN ONLY SALVATION, GOVERNOR SAYS

Green Urges Adoption in Evanston Speech

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK

Gov. Green, speaking to 70 Cook county town officials in Evanston, declared last night that the Chicago traction question is not public ownership against private ownership, but "public ownership or else"—the "else" being transportation conditions "so hopelessly inadequate that they menace the future development of all business in the community."

The town officials met in Evanston's municipal building at the invitation of Mayor Ingraham to discuss the metropolitan transit authority and its relation to their local transportation problems. It was the governor's first speech on the authority, which will be accepted or rejected at a referendum in Chicago June 4.

Plan Held "Only Salvation"

Green said that the authority, which would purchase, unify, and operate the surface and elevated lines, was the only salvation for a transportation system that "has been in chaos for 20 years." Politics, he said, would not be involved in the operations of the authority, because it would be impossible to turn out the 21,000 employes of the lines for "precinct duty," or compel them to donate to political organizations."

Their unions, he said, would protect the workers. He promised that "responsible business men" would be appointed to the seven man board that is to govern the authority. The governor will appoint three, and Mayor Kelly four. Only this kind of a board, he added, would make it possible to borrow the 87 million dollars needed to purchase the traction lines.

Service and Safety Stressed

The governor predicted that, under the authority, the suburbs served by the "L" lines, including Evanston and Oak Park, would see an improvement in service, and that the wooden cars now in use would be replaced by modern steel rolling stock.

Referring to a recent decision of the Illinois Supreme court making possible a 15 cent suburban fare, he disclosed that all calculations indicated the present 12½ cent "L" fare to the suburban areas would be retained under public ownership. Excellent prospects of extension of fast service to communities not now served by the Chicago systems are seen, he added.

In closing, Gov. Green declared, "I have no secret deals with Mayor Kelly or any one else."

Several questions were raised by the audience, most of which were answered by Philip Collins, director of the state department of revenue.

Wilmette Issue Raised

William James, Wilmette village attorney, pointed out that under the law there is no provision compelling the transit authority to continue service to Wilmette. Collins agreed, but asserted that "economics would make it imperative to keep such a line in operation."

A Melrose Park official was told in reply to his question that an interurban line could be operated thru Oak Park to Melrose Park for the benefit of the latter community, but that Oak Park would control its own system.

Louis Ancel, Maywood village attorney, who wanted to know when the Chicago and West Towns railroad would be absorbed by the authority, was told that it could not be done until the authority had taken care of the city of Chicago.

A majority of the officials attending agreed that the authority would give more to the suburbs than any other recent plan offered.

Shift of Rotary Office Left to Special Group

Directors of Rotary International yesterday referred to a special committee the question of whether to shift its headquarters from Chicago, Rotary's birthplace, to Denver, Colo. The committee is composed of members of the board. They will meet at a later date. In its two day meeting, the board heard an All-Chicago committee of 200 non-Rotarians, headed by Thomas B. Freeman, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and a Denver delegation present their arguments.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by BEN MARKLAND

May 25, 1945

A FEMALE robin and a pair of black cats are the star performers in two separate comedy acts on the Wheaton farm's free vaudeville program this week.

The robin gets top billing because of her nesting success despite handicaps that must have made her wonder about the perversity of the human race. She built a nest on the rail of a rustic wooden fence near one of the farm homes. Jimmy Dale, four year old farm boy, thought his parents would be interested in seeing the nest and its pretty blue eggs, so he took it to his home for indoor exhibition. His mother immediately returned the nest to its original site, after lecturing him about the bad results of molesting bird nests.

Mrs. Robin Peeved

Mrs. Robin dutifully returned to her eggs after telling every one within hearing distance what she thought of people who invade the sanctity of bird homes. Two of her three eggs hatched. Then came another jolt to her faith in humanity. Jimmy's father decided to tack chicken wire to the rail fence to keep his poultry in the yard, necessitating another move for the robin nest. He built a small wooden platform on a stake just two feet from the original nest, hoping the bird would accept this artificial site. Shrilly protesting, but hopeful, the weary robin, now fully convinced that all humans are in need of psychopathic attention, again settled down to brood her two nestlings. She probably has decided she was meant for a life of mobility.

Tale of Two Cats

The two black cats, named Tom and Jerry, are being praised as feline heroes by the farm residents. Mice and rats always have been a nuisance around the horse barn, and the men hesitate about attempting to poison the rodents because of the danger that the thorobred horses will pick up the baits and be sickened.

For this reason, the two cats were acquired from the Chicago Anti-Cruelty society to control the mice and rats. On their first night's patrol, Tom and Jerry killed at least 15 mice. Since that time, the men have seen only a few mice and no rats, the larger rodents evidently having moved to parts unknown after seeing Tom and Jerry in action.

★ The GARDEN ★

ONE of the common questions by novice gardeners about beets concerns plantings that appear healthy and develop large leaf growth, but fail to produce worthwhile roots.

This type of growth commonly occurs in gardens too heavily shaded and in thick plantings that are not properly thinned. Gardeners who made late March plantings of beets should now be thinning the seedlings to stand at least one inch apart in the row. A second thinning should take place when the leaves are large enough to be cooked as greens, leaving a plant every three inches to reach full maturity.

If only one section of a garden is heavily shaded, that area should be planted to spinach, lettuce, and other leaf vegetables that withstand semi-shade. Allot the sunny areas to sweet corn, root crops, and other vegetables that require full sunlight.

AN AGED WOMAN TELLS HOW SHE OUTWITTED JAPS

BY RITA FITZPATRICK

A little, 75 year old lady with chopped white hair and wrinkled skin the shade of a ripe coconut had more than a 12 hour wait in the North Western station yesterday. She didn't mind it. She knows what hardship is.

With the passivity of long endurance, Mrs. Minne Brackman, who was on her way from the Philippines to Nashville, Tenn., after eight years in the islands, told a tale of gruesome hide-and-seek with the Japanese and eyewitness accounts of almost unbelievable atrocities.

With the bombing of Manila, she and the family of her Filipino son-in-law, I. S. Reyes, started a more than three year trek around Laguna de Bay, avoiding capture and death at the hands of the Japs by subterfuge and daring.

Live in Filipino Shack

"We settled in the village of Taneya and lived in a Filipino shack for three years," she explained wearily. "At first, when the Japanese thought they were winning, they did not harm people, altho they took everything in sight. They wanted to move in our shack, but my daughter, Grace, and I feigned tuberculosis, which they dread, and hid under heavy mosquito netting. They were fools not to search the place.

"Later when the Japs knew they were losing, they killed every one in sight, men, women, and children, every one but themselves. I saw them play a hideous game of baseball with little babies. One soldier would toss a baby and another would catch it on his bayonet. They were clever with their bayonets. They would force young boys to bow their heads and then chop them off."

Take to Jungle Paths

With these savage attacks, the Reyes, Mrs. Brackman and three grandchildren once more took to the jungle paths. They were lucky if now and then they had a little fish or vegetables to add to their rice and salt.

"My bones began to come thru," Mrs. Brackman related simply. "I sat for hours straight backed without support on a flat barge and waded in muck and filth to my hips. It was rather a hard lot for an old lady. To add to our misery, we learned that my oldest grandson, who was with MacArthur, had been captured by the Japs and taken to Tokyo. We do not know if he is alive or dead."

Husband's Fate Unknown

For that matter, Mrs. Brackman does not know if her husband, Louis, a caterer in New York, or her two sons and their families are alive. She lost contact with them after the bombing of Manila. She was on her way, however, yesterday to her only other daughter, Mrs. Ada Oliver, in Nashville.

"I know now that I should never have left the United States," she concluded. "When I arrived in San Francisco, I felt almost as if I had been uncivilized. I still can't get used to it."

Westbrook Quits Race for Heidinger's Seat

Springfield, Ill., May 25 (AP) — State Rep. W. B. Westbrook [R., Harrisburg] today withdrew as a candidate for congressman in the 24th district special primary election July 31. Five other Republicans remained in the race for the seat left vacant by the death of James V. Heidinger on March 22. No Democrats have filed. Midnight tonight was the deadline for withdrawing nominating petitions.

"Now, if we were back in the good old days, I'd be sitting in a traffic jam with a night club hangover."

TEMPORARY FM FREQUENCIES TO AID BAND SHIFT

The federal communications commission yesterday announced plans for interim operation of frequency modulation stations on frequencies still to be designated during the period when a switchover is being made from the 42-50 megacycle band to one of three new bands—50-68, 68-86, and 84-102 megacycles.

Tests will be conducted this summer by an FCC and radio industry committee to determine which band is best suited for FM transmission. Chicago members of the committee are George Lang, chief engineer of W-G-N, Inc.; G. E. Gustafson, Zenith Radio corporation; Dr. D. E. Noble, Galvin Manufacturing corporation, and Cyrus T. Read, Hallicrafters company.

The FCC said the interim band allocations will make it possible for present FM set owners to use them while the switchover is being made.

COURT IS TOLD INSURANCE MAN GOT 'KICKBACK'

Bismarck, N. D., May 25 (AP)—A former manager of the fire and tornado division of the state insurance department, Otto R. Vold, testified today against his former superior, State Insurance Commissioner Oscar E. Erickson, who is on trial before the North Dakota senate, sitting as a court of impeachment.

Vold, who was discharged in January, 1944, by Erickson, testified that a "kickback" of $2,500 provided the down payment for purchase of a local cafe by himself and Erickson.

The money, Vold said, came from Henry T. Murphy, Bismarck insurance agent, and represented commissions on reinsurance policies purchased by Erickson for the fire and tornado division thru the Murphy agency of Bismarck.

MARINE FLAGS DOWN BUS AS STREET CAVES IN

The cave-in was witnessed by a marine, whose name park police did not obtain, who ran out and flagged down a northbound bus which was headed for the gaping hole. The bus swung around the block in a detour.

Sgt. Richard Walker of the park police said a policeman will be assigned to guard the hole until the pavement is repaired. He estimated this would be completed Tuesday.

REPORTS LOSING $1,000 RING

COMPANY LOSES SUIT FOR $850,000 SUBWAY DAMAGE

Circuit Judge Benjamin Epstein yesterday ruled in favor of the city in an $850,000 suit brought by the Capitol Building company for damages allegedly caused by the construction of the subway. The company charged that construction of the tube forced it to raze its 19 story building on the northeast corner of Randolph and State sts., which had been erected in 1891.

Judge Epstein held that razing of the building had been motivated by its nonprofitable operation rather than by subway construction. A new building erected at the site brought a profit of $24,000 in 1941, $40,500 in 1942; $57,700 in 1944, and a large amount in 1945, the court said.

Directors of the company passed a resolution to put up a new building on Dec. 2, 1938, barely a month after passage of the subway ordinance, the court said, and actual construction of the subway did not begin until February, 1941, several years after the old building had been razed and the new one built.

FEDERAL ACTION INDICTS 2 NAMED ON PRICE COUNTS

Federal grand jury indictments were returned yesterday against Arthur Ballard and his brother, James, operators of Ballard's grocery and market at 1613 E. 53d st., charging wilful sale and delivery of meat in excess of OPA ceiling prices.

United States Atty. Woll said it was the first instance where criminal action was taken against a retail meat dealer in an action of this nature. He added that an injunction restraining the defendants from violating ceiling prices previously was obtained in federal District court.

The indictments contain six counts of alleged meat overcharges by Arthur Ballard and seven counts by James. In all of the specific sales alleged, the indictment sets forth, purchases were made by women investigators for the OPA.

PRESS CRUSADE AGAINST RAPE CRIMINALS HERE

Rape cases involving 13 men and five victims occupied police and court authorities yesterday. While 11 men were in cells or in courtrooms, a search was under way for a cab driver and another man who early in the day attacked a 28 year old woman passenger in an alley near Halsted and Addison sts.

Chief Justice Harold G. Ward of Criminal court was selected to try June 12 the case of four Negroes arrested Sunday and identified as rapists: William Robinson, 16, of 5935 S. Racine av.; Joseph Jackson, 15, of 6040 Elizabeth st.; Noel Park, 18, of 1221 W. 60th st., and Theodore Wiley, 17, of 6017 S. Racine av. Jackson, because of his age, is charged only with robbery.

Trial date for three others indicted for raping a 23 year old WAC will be set Tuesday by Judge Ward: Tony Giampa, 23, of 840 Lytle st.; Peter Ottomanelli, 17, of 1356 Taylor st., and Nick W. Malatesta, 18, of 5421 Harrison st.

Four prisoners held by East Side police on the complaint of an 18 year old office worker will be arraigned Monday: Frank Esposito, 17, of 9825 Ewing av.; Joseph Francisco, 28, of 10855 Avenue H; Raymond Franco, 18, of 9710 Ewing av., and Dick Masciotra, 18, of 10035 Avenue L.

MICHIGAN DEFENDS BIG TEN TRACK CROWN TODAY

HUMES TO LEAD WOLVERINE BID FOR 3D IN ROW

Illinois Expected to Finish Second

BY WILFRID SMITH
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Champaign, Ill., May 25—Track squads of the Western conference today prepared for their 45th annual championship meet tomorrow afternoon in Memorial stadium, faced with the practical certainty that Michigan will retain its 1944 honors, thus winning a third consecutive championship and its 21st since the meet was inaugurated. A squad of 24 Wolverines arrived tonight, led by a group of middle distance runners including Ross and Bob Hume, who last year scored 21, of Michigan's 70 points.

Bob Hume

Ross Hume

Michigan is conceded the championship and it is almost equally certain that Illinois will finish second, as was the order last year and again in the indoor games in March. Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Ohio State are candidates for third.

150 Will Compete

Calibre of competition is comparable in general with 1944 except for the notable loss of Buddy Young of Illinois who won three individual titles and might have had a fourth victory in the 220 yard low hurdles except for a tumble when he was leading the field in the finals.

The field of more than 150 athletes will assemble at 10 a. m. tomorrow for trials in nine events and the contestants will return at 2:30 p. m. for the ceremonies marking the opening of the finals.

The list of veteran athletes is headed by Ross and Bob Hume of Michigan, Bob Kelley and Marce Gonzales of Illinois, Ben Harvey and Boris Dimancheff of Purdue, Jack Dugger and Capt. John Schmidt of Ohio State, and Mark Brownstein and Ray Tharp of Minnesota. Newcomers include George Walker of Illinois, the indoor hurdles champion, who may score a double in these events tomorrow; Wilmer Jackson of Ohio State, Walker's most serious rival, and Dick Kilpatrick of Purdue. Kilpatrick apparently will win the high jump championship as he consistently has bettered 6 feet 3 inches.

Walker Double Threat

Few conference track meets have had a pattern like this for it should be possible to name in advance most of the winners of the 13 individual events and the mile relay. Even without Bill Buster, Illinois' indoor sprint champion who pulled a muscle a month ago, the Illini can win the majority of individual titles.

Kelley is a question because of injury but he may retain his half mile honors. Walker can score two victories and Henry Aihara, also of Illinois, is top man in the broad jump. The Humes will take the mile and two mile runs and Bob can get at least second in the 880 yard run and perhaps win if Kelley cannot approach his 1944 standard.

Dick Forrestel of Michigan is outstanding in the quarter mile, which Kelley may not enter altho he is the defending champion. Dugger is ranking discus thrower and his teammate, Schmidt, leads in the pole vault.

Gov. Green Honorary Referee

Max Morris of Northwestern may win the shotput and Michigan's relay team, anchored by Forrestel, is the best in the conference since Illinois has lost Joe Johnson and perhaps Kelley.

Gov. Green will serve as honorary referee of tomorrow's meet, and Lt. Comdr. J. H. Todd of Washington, will be the referee.

Red Sox Sell Outfielder Christopher to Cubs

Outfielder Lloyd Christopher was purchased by the Cubs yesterday from the Boston Red Sox for the waiver price of $7,500. Christopher, 25 years old, is 6 feet 2½ inches tall and weighs 195 pounds.

Big 10 Revises Rule Code on Sport Control

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Champaign, Ill., May 25—The faculty committee and the athletic directors of the Western conference tonight completed revision of the code of rules under which the commissioner of athletics, Kenneth L. Wilson, will control intercollegiate sports. In the course of delineation of the permissions and penalties on securing athletes the faculty committee agreed that all contestants now are eligible regardless of their recent grades.

Applicable to Hanzlik

This waiver is immediately applicable to Bob Hanzlik, one time University of Wisconsin end who left that university after the 1942 season and played for Michigan as a navy student. Hanzlik now has been discharged and has matriculated at Minnesota. When Hanzlik left Wisconsin it was reported he had failed in his subjects as a civilian. Under the present conference rules he becomes eligible to play this fall for the Gophers.

Given Expense Allowance

Commissioner Wilson now will sit in on all faculty committee meetings and his office has been given an allowance for such expense as training of officials. Wilson does not have specific authority, however, to deal with violations. He merely may make recommendations.

The faculty group ended discussions tonight and will not assemble tomorrow.

Big 10 Golfers Meet Today in Wilmette

Michigan will bid for its fourth Western golf championship in a row when 39 conference players tee off in the annual 36 hole meet on Northwestern university's course in Wilmette today.

The Wolverines, with a veteran squad led by John Jenswold, last year's individual champion, generally are expected to retain the title, but will encounter stiff competition from Ohio State, Northwestern, and Minnesota, all of whom are accorded a chance of upsetting the defenders.

Michigan comes up to the championship meet with only one dual meet defeat marring its year's record. The Wolverines dropped a close decision to Ohio State early in the season, but came back last week to defeat the Buckeyes in a return match. Ohio State is powered by a pair of two year veterans, Bob Kampfer and John Lorms, neither of whom competed last year.

Northwestern presents a distinct threat off its dual meet record, the Wildcats losing only one out of 10 matches. The lone setback was a 14 to 12 loss to Michigan. The Wildcats are paced by a pair of freshmen, Jack Atten and Bob Abrahams, and Jim Stotter, a letter man.

Cyril Wagner, the golf professional who has been a war worker for the last three years, yesterday missed, by two eagles, his attempt to win an unusual golfing wager with Charles Nash, operator of the Mission Hills course in Northbrook. Wagner bet Nash that he could make 100 birdies and 10 eagles on the 310 yard second hole at Mission Hills. In one six hour stretch last month, he made 74 birdies and four eagles. Yesterday, playing from 11 a. m. until 5 p. m., Wagner collected 32 birds and four eagles.

The 41st annual Derby tournament of the Midlothian Country club, oldest invitational golf event in Chicago, will attract a large field today. Teeing off at 8 a. m. with President George Smith and Tournament Chairman Fred Slyder, will be the veteran Chick Evans, who hasn't missed the event in 29 consecutive years. Evans will then repair to Tam o' Shanter, to join up with Bing Crosby in the rehabilitation match there against Bob Hope and Jimmy Hines.

GRAZIANO STOPS BUMMY DAVIS IN FOURTH ROUND

New York, May 25 (AP)—Rocky Graziano stopped Al [Bummy] Davis in 44 seconds of the fourth round in Madison Square Garden tonight.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD

THERE is considerable misapprehension in the public prints these days about baseball's attitude toward horse racing. . . . Some sports writers were outraged because Larry MacPhail, general manager of the New York Yankees, recently took his bride to a Maryland track and made no bones of the fact he had wagered a few shillings. . . . These scriveners expected Commissioner A. B. Chandler to call in Mr. MacPhail and tear him limb from limb and they expressed indignation when the commissioner brushed off the incident as of no consequence. . . . Contrary to popular belief, the late Kenesaw Mountain Landis, who had no time for the bangtails, never ruled that a ball player must stay away from race tracks and refrain from making a bet. . . . He discouraged the practice, not because he saw anything wrong in a player spending his day off at the track, but rather to minimize the danger of an athlete establishing association with professional gamblers who frequent horse plants. . . . Barring ball players from attending the races or making wagers within their means would be an all but impossible regulation to enforce. . . . There have been instances of players more concerned with the outcome of the fifth race at Narragansett than with the ball game in which they were involved. . . . It is up to the club management to deal with employes who treat their obligations that lightly. . . . They are few and far between. . . . Their ilk is not limited to baseball diamonds. . . . You find them in almost every business establishment, but they don't hold their jobs long once their interest in racing interferes with their efficiency at their desk or machine. . . . Horse racing in the United States is a legalized, well supervised activity. . . . It is ridiculous to imply that a ball player is disloyal to his sport or his team because he visits Hawthorne or any other track for an afternoon's diversion. . . .

They will click with the literati and Gold Coast crowds, but how about we guys and gals from the masses showing 'em up. . . . In type we may be in the Wake, but in bond buying let's be in the Fore!

Harry Mehre, football coach at Mississippi, writes: "After a couple of weeks of spring football practice my first team made a first down, so I called off workouts before the players got an idea they were good." . . . Corp. Tom Attra of Golden Gloves fame has turned professional. . . . He earned $425 for his first two pro bouts and he turned over his earnings to his mom on Mother's day. . . . Capt. William Kelley Jr., a member of Northwestern's 1940 golf team, has been awarded the croix de guerre by the French government for his services with an artillery unit in France and Germany. . . . Hugh Devore, Notre Dame's acting head football coach, says he is convinced the freshman rule should be retained in post-war athletics. . . . "I merely have tried to commend all freshmen, mainly 17 year olds, who carried on so well during these times. They proved it not only in athletic competition but also on the battlefields of Normandy, Germany, and the Pacific," he states. . . . Homer Norton, head football coach at Texas A. & M. college is in Rochester, Minn., undergoing a physical checkup.

Who dwell in lands so long oppressed;
Their aching hearts have found release
From scourge of tyranny's behest.

CROSBY, HOPE CLASH TODAY BEFORE 25,000

Duel for Charity at Tam o' Shanter

BY CHARLES BARTLETT

Two guys named Harry Lillis Crosby and Leslie Towne Hope are going to play a little golf this afternoon at the Tam O'Shanter Country club. Harry, variously known as Bing and the Groaner, will team up with Chick Evans, a local boy, and Leslie, more renowned as Bob Hope, will have as his partner Jimmy Hines, the able New York campaigner who now makes his home in Chicago.

This foursome of Bing, Bob, Chick, and Jimmy will be in augurating the local phase of the national campaign which the Professional Golfers' association is opening this week-end to provide golfing facilities for hospitalized service men. Immediate local beneficiaries of the match, thru the Illinois section of the P. G. A., will be the wounded soldiers, sailors, marines, and coast guardsmen now stationed at these hospitals: Vaughan, Gardiner, Great Lakes, Mayo in Galesburg, and Danville.

Expect Record Throng

The largest gallery ever to attend a single match—estimated by officials at 25,000—will watch the quartet swing. Last night, George S. May, the Tam O'Shanter maestro, said that the advance sale had approached 20,000. This figure does not include the gate sale.

Tickets, at $1.20 each, will be on sale at the Tam O'Shanter gate, as well as at the following locations: The Hub; The Boston Store; the George S. May company, 840 N. Michigan av.; the Professional Golfers' association, 134 N. La Salle st.; the Chicago District Golf association, 18th floor, La Salle hotel, and room 620, 166 W. Jackson blvd., and Walgreen's, State and Randolph sts.

Most direct public transportation to Tam O' Shanter, which is located at Howard st .and Caldwell rd. [approximately 6400 west] is the Touhy av. bus, leaving the Howard st. L station hourly at 20 minutes after the hour.

Everybody Lends a Hand

The match, which, from its advance gallery anticipation, will outdo the Byron Nelson-Sam Snead rehabilitation battle to be played in New York and New Jersey over the week-end, is part of the national campaign to give service men golfing ground and equipment, as devised by President Ed Dudley, Tournament Manager Fred J. Corcoran, and Rehabilitation Chairman M. G. [Scotty] Fessenden.

The event, to be conducted under the auspices of Chicago District Golf Charities, Inc., will have the following sponsoring organizations and their representatives:

Professional Golfers' Association of America, M. G. Fessenden; Illinois section, P. G. A., Alex Cunningham and Harry Adams; Chicago District Golf association, L. D. Rutherford; Chicago Women's District Golf association, Mrs. Landon Phelps; Western Golf association, T. C. Butz; Women's Western Golf association, Mrs. Charles Dennehy; Illinois Women's State Golf association, Mrs. Albert Pike; Cook County council, American Legion, Stanley Van Dyk, and Midwest Greenkeepers' association, Ray Didier.

All of these organizations, which include Hope and Crosby on the national P. G. A. committee, have shown the country how to do a real job of helping hospitalized service men to adjust themselves thru golf.

The Boys Face Busy Day

Crosby, Hope, Evans, and Hines have a somewhat large day mapped out for themselves, particularly Evans, who will tee off at 8 a. m. in his 29th consecutive appearance in the Midlothian Derby. Meanwhile, Bob, Bing, and Jimmy will visit the wards at Vaughan and Hines hospitals before going on to Tam o' Shanter.

Bing arrived yesterday in time to get in a round with Hope, his friendly enemy in golf and verbal heckling. The two adjourned to Bob o' Link, one of the two all-men's courses in the district, to wrangle over 18 holes with Fessenden and Tommy McMahon, past president of the C. D. G. A.

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN

A. S. Higgins' Quizzle, winner of one division of the Sportsman's Park Inaugural handicap and a victor in an overnight affair last Saturday, has been established the early favorite for the 18th running today of the Lincoln Fields $5,000 added Crete handicap at Hawthorne.

Bring Me Home, a 5 year old gelding owned by C. F. Martin, has been assigned top weight of 122 pounds by Racing Secretary W. R. Dahlstrom and is coupled as an entry with Believe from the Martin stable. Eight thorobreds are slated to contest the issue at 6 furlongs.

Must Watch Harriet, Too

Despite Quizzle's record of two straight victories and Bring Me Home's brilliant showing in California last fall when he was in the money 17 times in 25 starts, Hyman Friedberg's snappy little filly, Harriet Sue, is considered a serious contender.

Yesterday's Lincoln Fields program was run in the rain yet drew a crowd of 8,500 for an interesting card of eight races.

The first dead heat of the meeting popped up in the fourth race, a claiming affair at six furlongs, when Mrs. E. B. Carpenter's favorite, Wildebeest, ridden by Nichols, and H. Ekey's Ghost Hunt, with Bobby Campbell up, came under the wire together, with Rusty Gold next. Wildebeest paid $2.80 and Ghost Hunt, $3.40.

Daily Double Yields $74.60

The daily double was worth $74.60 on victories by Ben Rosenheim's String Band in the first race and Mrs. R. J. Doyle's Dauntless Bo in the second.

The featured sixth race, the $1,800 Oak Park purse, went to the Brolite farm's Full Cry, 7 year old son of Gallant Fox. Full Cry, ridden by Paul Glidewell, scored easily over the C. and K. stable's My Night, an outsider which paid $38.60 to place. The winner paid $6.80.

Yanks Defeat Sox, 5 to 4, and Take 1st Place

BY IRVING VAUGHAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

New York, May 25—As the result of more urging by the Yankees the White Sox abandoned first place in the American league race today but at least they didn't surrender willingly. What convinced them they had better get out of the choice spot so the Yankees could move in was a three-run eight inning put on by Joe McCarthy's gents when Frank Papish was called to assist a tiring Johnny Humphries. The Yanks turned Papish's rescue act into an impromptu four hit carnival that erased a Chicago lead and fastened down a 5 to 4 score.

It was the third straight setback at the hands of the Yankees and was recorded with consummate ease, even tho Boss Jimmy Dykes tried to bolster his front line by benching Johnny Dickshot and sending Guy Curtright into the left field sector. Curtright supplied only one hit off Allen Gettel but it was important, at least for a time. It became the eighth inning run that would have won for the Sox if Papish's venture hadn't flopped.

It Looked Good for a time

Before taking up what happened to Papish, we'll detail the scoring of the run that the Sox thought would answer their purpose in the eighth. Curtright delivered his single and, with two out, Tony Cuccinello was hit, whereupon Roy Schalk doubled Curtright across the plate. But Nick Etten wel-

BY EDWARD BURNS

Hank Wyse, with rugged batting assistance from Stan Hack and Bill Schuster, yesterday accomplished his fifth victory of the season, when the Cubs edged out the Phillies, 4 to 3, by nipping a rally in the ninth.

The Cubs were terribly wasteful of base hits, of which they made 16. Fortunately, however, the total included two triples by Hack and one by Schuster, Stan scoring once on an infield out and once on a wild pitch, whereas Bill got home with what proved to be the winning run on a single by Wyse. The one run which did not bloom from a triple was produced on singles by Schuster, Hack, and Don Johnson. Hack, by the way, had two singles besides his two triples, after going hitless in the first two games of the series. Schuster had two singles and a walk in addition to his triple.

Hank Is Good at Start

Wyse seemed well on the way to a shutout after six innings, in which he yielded only three hits. With one out in the seventh, however, Vince Di Maggio, the gent who robbed Hank of a shutout with a homer on May 11, busted one into Waveland avenue, his sixth of the year and third against the Cubs.

In the eighth, an error by Johnson and Jimmy Foxx's pinch double with none out produced a run and precipitated apparent trouble until Hank retired the three top men in the Philly batting order, leaving pinch-runner Wes Hamner on third.

Then Came Trouble

Then came the big jam in the ninth. Coaker Triplett, first up, walked and Andy Pafko made a back handed catch at the 400-foot marker in the center field vines to retire Di Maggio. John Antonelli singled to left, Triplett stopping at second. Gus Mancuso slashed a hit putting Antonelli on third, but Gus forgot he is no longer the gazelle he may have been in his youth and tried to get to second on his hit, only to be thrown out by Peanuts Lowrey. Pinch Batter Nich Goulish then gave Hack the opportunity to accept his 102d chance of the year without an error, which Stan did, leaving Antonelli stranded on third with the tying run and Mancuso on the bench with the potential winning run.

The losing pitcher was Whit Wyatt, one time White Sox and former Dodger star of the Brooklyn pennant days. Twelve hits were made off his tossing. Vern Kennedy, another White Sox alumnus, went two innings and was nicked for four hits, including Hack's second and Schuster's triple. Lou Lucier retired the Cubs in order in the eighth, the only inning in which the Chicagoans failed to make two or three hits.

It's Erickson, Lee Today

Paul Erickson and Bill Lee will be the opposing pitchers in today's final between the teams. Erickson will be making his second try for his first victory. Lee will enter the fray with the knowledge he gave the Cubs a 5 to 2 trimming on May 9.

Manager Charley Grimm announced Claude Passeau will be sent against the Dodgers in the second game of tomorrow's double header. Choice for the first game assignment will be between Lefties Bob Chipman and Ray Prim, both of whom have been reporting assorted aches and pains. Both Bob and Ray won their first games in a Pittsburgh double header on April 22. Neither has won since.

A crowd of more than 35,000 is in prospect for the Brooklyn-Cub double header tomorrow. Last Sunday the same teams attracted 33,708 paid in Brooklyn, plus 2,468 service guests, and on the preceding Friday night attracted 31,334. Thus the total for three successive playing dates between the Cubs and the Dodgers may reach 100,000.

N.U. Is Given Big 10 O.K. on Stadium Play

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Champaign, Ill., May 25 — The basketball double headers in Chicago Stadium will continue next winter, it became apparent today at the meeting of the directors of athletics of the Western conference and possibly will be played until such time as Northwestern has its own fieldhouse.

The conference rule, which requires that basketball games must be played on home courts, cannot apply to Northwestern which has no home floor and today the conference chiefs took cognizance and gave permission for Stadium games.

Names Masker Assistant

K. L. Wilson, commissioner of athletics, today announced appointment of James Masker as his administrative assistant. Masker, who officiated 40 years as football referee and recently retired, has been serving in this capacity unofficially.

The conference faculty committee tonight gave Wilson virtually unlimited powers and at the same time passed regulations cracking down on subsidization of athletes in its new conference code.

Forbids Undue Pressue

After six months of consideration, the factulty committee and athletic directors gave Wilson authority to enforce legislation regarding eligibility of all conference athletes, and to determine whether they have been recruited.

Among the new rulings in the conference code was one prohibiting any "unwarranted degree of persuation" regarding solicitation of high school athletes by either members of the athletic departments or by alumni organizations of any school.

BID TO REJOIN RUSSIAN CHURCH REJECTED HERE

American Hierarchy to Stay Independent

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS

The hierarchy of the Russian Orthodox church in North America yesterday formally rejected the offer of the patriarch of Moscow to return to full communion with the church in Russia. The patriarch, Alexi, had expelled the American hierarchy during his leadership of the church as acting patriarch.

The council of bishops, meeting as guests of the Rt. Rev. Bishop Leonty, who occupies the episcopal throne in Holy Trinity cathedral, 1121 N. Leavitt st., also refused to call an all-America council of the communion which embraces about 1,000,000 communicants on the continent. The Moscow patriarch had asked for such council, called a sobor, to elect a chief archbishop or metropolitan for the country. The Most Rev. Archbishop Theophilus of San Francisco is the present metropolitan.

Offer Made in February

The Rt. Rev. Bishop Benjamin of Pittsburgh, Pa., made public the announcement of the decision which had been drawn up by Russian speaking bishops and translated by the Pittsburgh prelate. He explained that the offer from Moscow had been in the form of an ordinance which Patriarch Alexi had promulgated last Feb. 16 in Moscow after being elevated to the world leadership of the Russian communion.

The decision was cabled to Moscow by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Alexi of Sitka, Alaska, who was a member of the American delegation to the Moscow sobor. That sobor was to have been one of world Orthodoxy under plans which would have brought about world unity among all Orthodox communions. This was not achieved.

No Political Implications

Bishop Benjamin explained that the decision was based purely on religious grounds and had no reference to communism or to the soviet government. He reiterated the assertion that the North American church has no relationship with the soviet government.

ASSEMBLY BODY SURVEYS LOWER I-M CANAL ZONE

Members of a legislative commission toured the lower portion of the old Illinois and Michigan canal yesterday and reported that they were impressed with its parkway, recreational, and conservation possibilities between Joliet and Peru.

Across Chicago's southwest side, at least as far as Summit, the unused waterway is to be converted into a modern super-highway as a post-war project indorsed by city, county, and state officials.

"We are open-minded about the disposition of the canal below Joliet," said Rep. J. Ward Smith [R., Ottawa], chairman of the commission. "The motor trip we made along the banks of the canal took us thru a delightful region whose scenic possibilities well could be developed by park officials. We are determined the canal shall no longer be neglected."

JUMPS 5 FLOORS TO DEATH AFTER THEFT CHARGE

Erwin Gierke, 47, of 4035 Sheridan rd., a bookkeeper, who had been sought by the state's attorney's office for questioning, died in the American hospital yesterday a short time after he jumped from the fifth floor of the Uptown Bank building, 4735 Broadway.

O. P. Lightfoot, assistant state's attorney, said that he had ordered Gierke to his office May 22 for questioning after an attorney for the Pulverized Manure company, with offices in the stock yards, had complained that Gierke, a former employe, had embezzled $2,700.

Gierke failed to obey Lightfoot's order. The prosecutor said he then notified Gierke that an audit of his books had been ordered.

BRAAK—Pvt. Albert B. Braak, U. S. A. In fond memory of my darling husband, who departed one year ago today, May 26, 1944.
Friends may think I have forgotten,
When at times they see me smile.
Little do they know the heartache
That my smile hides all the while.

Where rests the one I love so dearly,
But whom I could not save.
God knows best and took him
To his eternal home.

PRESSED STEEL WAR CONTRACT CUT 50 MILLION

Tank, Gun Volume to Fall 60 Pct.

A 50 million dollar cutback in Chicago munitions production was announced yesterday by the Chicago ordnance district and Ernest Murphy, president of Pressed Steel Car company. Output of medium tanks and self-propelled guns will be cut 60 per cent in the company's south side armored tank division plant beginning June 2, and about 1,200 workers will be released.

This was the second big reduction in the Chicago area armament program in two days, the ordnance district and Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company having announced Thursday the termination of 14 million dollars of artillery contracts in Pullman's Hammond works.

Production of tanks in the Pressed Steel Car plant at 136th st. and Brandon av. has been uninterrupted since well before Pearl Harbor.

Far More Jobs Available

Lester Brown, Chicago area director of the war man power commission, said layoffs involved in cutbacks expected in the Chicago area will be "only a drop in the bucket compared with the number of workers needed now."

"Every person laid off can immediately be placed in an essential job," he asserted. "More than 400 priority war plants in the Chicago area have a current need for more than 21,000 workers."

The ordnance department said the cutback at Pressed Steel will take about two or three months to accomplish, tho the 1,200 workers will be laid off when the cutback becomes effective June 2.

Plan 40 Hour Week Plea

Patrick Greathouse, business representative of local 166 of the CIO United Auto Workers, said that he and Tom Hughes, president of the local, would appeal to Brown for a 40 hour work week at Pressed Steel to soften the layoff. A previous UAW appeal for a 40 hour week at the Ford plant in Hegewisch was denied by WMC on the basis that a 48 hour week was mandatory for Chicago as a class 1 [shortage] labor area.

Col. John Slezak, commanding officer of the Chicago ordnance district, said Pressed Steel had done a "magnificent job of war production. Its tanks and self-propelled guns have seen action on every front of the war. The cutback reflects the decreased need for tanks because of the defeat of Germany."

'AD' ALLOWANCE, REBATE TO A & P TOLD AT TRIAL

Danville, Ill., May 25 (AP)—E. W. Dailey, president of the Dailey Pickle and Canning company, Saginaw, Mich., testified today his company paid the A. & P. food chain $1,016 in cash in advertising allowances in 1938-'40, and that the only other customer receiving this kind of allowance got the equivalent of $130 for a special sale on pickles. He said the A. & P. purchased between 50 and 60 per cent of the firm's output.

Dailey was a witness in the government's anti-trust suit against the New York Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company, 28 officers, and subsidiaries in United States District court.

Barnard Black of New York City, vice president of the Doughnut Corporation of America, testified that in 1939-'40 his company allowed the Boston A. & P. office a rebate of 1 per cent a pound on flour which had been bought in Canada.

OPA Granted Injunction on Steel Casting Charge

The Chicago area OPA was granted a $10,420 consent judgment yesterday by Federal Judge Sullivan and a permanent injunction against Pettibone-Mulliken corporation, 4710 W. Division st., for alleged overcharges on steel castings sold to war industries.

Ban on Christmas Tree Light Manufacture Lifted

Washington, May 25 (AP)—The WPB today revoked its 1942 ban on the manufacture of Christmas tree lights and other decorative electric light bulbs, subject to availability of materials, facilities, and man power.

Illinois Jobs, Pay Rolls Dip on Cutbacks

Employment and pay rolls in Illinois decreased more between March 15 and April 15 than in any month since 1940, Director of Labor Robert L. Gordon said yesterday. The drop of 2 per cent in employment and 2.4 per cent in pay rolls of 6,729 reporting manufacturing and nonmanufacturing establishments was attributed chiefly to pre-V-E day cutbacks and completion of war contracts.

Robert L. Gordon

Decreases in both categories also were reported for the Chicago metropolitan area, but were not as large. Employment decreased 1.7 per cent and pay rolls 1.9 per cent in Chicago. Outside the Chicago area the decreases were 2.6 and 3.5 per cent respectively.

Manufacturing Group Dips

State-wide decreases of 2.1 and 2.4 per cent were reported by the manufacturing group.

These decreases, compared with the 22 year average March-April dip of 0.2 per cent in employment and increase of 0.4 per cent in pay rolls, were largely results of adjustments in war economy, Gordon said. Only five of the 52 manufacturing classificatcns reported gains.

"Decreases in the meat packing industry were particularly severe and shortage of leather no doubt was reflected in the reductions indicated in boot and shoe manufacture," the report said. "Sizable declines in the paper goods, printing and publishing, and in the textile and clothing groups also contributed to the general downward movement."

Store's Jobs Vary

Mail order houses reported large reductions in employment and pay rolls, but department and variety stores showed slight upward trends. Wholesale and retail establishments had fewer employes, but higher commissions raised wage payments.

Average weekly earnings decreased to $47.39 for both sexes combined, $55.17 for men and $33.44 for women in all reporting industries. In the manufacturing industries earnings averaged $56.13 for men and $35.12 for women.

WARNS OF MANY JOBLESS

Washington, D. C., May 25 (AP)—R. J. Thomas, CIO United Automobile Workers head, today told President Truman Detroit faces an estimated 400,000 unemployed by Jan. 1 unless new jobs are provided in war plants about to close.

Thomas said something must be done with war plants that are being emptied of workers, such as the Willow Run bomber plant.

LOOP PROPERTY SOLD; TWO FIRMS BUY PLANT SITES

The northeast corner of Dearborn and Randolph sts. was sold yesterday by the estate of Kate and Edward Landsberg to the Jewel Building corporation for a reported $400,000. The property, fronting 70 feet on Dearborn and 60 on Randolph, is improved with the eight story Delaware building. Ira L. Shapiro was attorney for the buyer and Winston, Strawn & Shaw for the sellers.

Two Chicago manufacturing companies bought plant sites from the Central Manufacturing district. The Continental Can company bought the southeast corner of Ashland av. and Pershing rd., 826 by 610 feet, for $250,000.

National Chemical & Manufacturing company, paint manufacturer, bought the southeast corner of 36th and May sts., adjoining its plant, for $40,400. A $100,000 one story building is planned when conditions permit, an official said.

RETAIL VOLUME DIPS, BUT HOLDS ABOVE YEAR AGO

New York, May 25 (AP)—Retail trade this week was slightly less active, but held above a year ago, Dun & Bradstreet said today.

"Despite bad weather," the agency said, "seasonal items, including women's cotton sportswear, summer cosmetics, play shoes, and some household equipment, were much in demand and volume increased. Sales of men's wear and furnishings decreased."

B. & O. WAIVES MAJOR CLAIMS ON ALTON ROAD

Deal Paves Way for Mobile Purchase

The Gulf, Mobile and Ohio railroad yesterday cleared another major obstacle in its proposed purchase of the Alton railroad when announcement of an agreement paving the way for unification of the two lines was made at an interstate commerce commission hearing in the Morrison hotel on proposals for reorganization of the Alton. The agreement was with the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, which surrendered all major claims against the Alton in favor of the G. M. & O.

The settlement was announced by Cassius M. Clay, B. & O. counsel. Clay said the B. & O. would surrender all claims except stock held by the Alton in three leased lines. These are the Kansas City, St. Louis and Chicago, the Louisiana and Missouri River, and the Joliet and Chicago.

Early Completion Indicated

The developments, on the final day of the ICC hearing which began Tuesday, apparently cleared the way for what veteran railroad attorneys and reorganization analysts said may be one of the fastest railroad reorganizations on record. Gulf, Mobile began its negotiations for unifying the two lines only a month ago.

In the background was I. B. Tigrett, G. M. & O. president, in Chicago pushing his railroad's desire to extend its rails northward from East St. Louis, Ill., and provide thru service to Chicago. Consolidation of the G. M. & O. and Alton systems would result in a 3,000 mile system linking Chicago and the Gulf ports of Mobile and New Orleans. It also would extend Gulf, Mobile lines westward to Kansas City, Mo.

Next Hearing Is June 13

Tigrett said "all principal parties now are in accord on the plan for the G. M. & O. to acquire the Alton." Next major step in the unification plan is scheduled for June 13 when the ICC will conduct a hearing in Washington on the G. M. & O. petition to purchase and operate the Alton and issue the bonds necessary to finance the acquisition.

Last month G. M. & O. officers and the Alton bondholders' protective committee agreed to the purchase plan. G. M. & O. was permitted to intervene in the ICC hearing in support of the Alton bondholders' reorganization plan, which had been amended to provide for possible unification with Gulf, Mobile.

WILDCAT STRIKE CUTS OFF STEEL AT YOUNGSTOWN

Youngstown, O., May 25 (AP)—Youngstown Sheet and Tube company's Brier Hill plant was idle today in what company and union officials said was an unauthorized walkout of a small group of maintenance men.

Nearly 3,000 persons were out of work, with 1,500 tons of iron and 2,500 tons of steel lost every 24 hours, company officials said. Two blast furnaces and nine open hearths were down.

The company said the dispute involved about 30 maintenance men in the blooming mill. Under a two turn schedule begun this week because of war contract cutbacks, all men would work but with the amount of overtime reduced. The men objected, contending full crews should be employed on regular schedules, even if the mill were idle one turn a day.

Chicago Area Firms Get $820,000 New War Jobs

Sixty-one Chicago area companies in the last week received new prime war contracts totaling $820,000, the Chicago Association of Commerce said yesterday.

G. O. P. Battles Tariff Cut; Vote Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 25—The administration's drive to give the President power to make new tariff cuts by executive order ran into solid Republican opposition today as the house closed debate on the proposal. Republican leaders served notice that when the tariff bill comes to a vote tomorrow they will propose a series of amendments to limit the President's powers and safeguard American interests.

The measure would extend the reciprocal trade act, first passed in 1934, for three more years and give the President authority to reduce tariffs 50 per cent below Jan. 1, 1945, levels. As the present act permits cuts to 50 per cent, total reductions of 75 per cent would be possible on items already cut 50 per cent.

Close Vote Predicted

Rep. Knutson [R., Minn.] and other Republicans told the house they will seek to eliminate the authority for additional tariff cuts to prevent flooding American markets with cheap labor foreign goods admitted under low import duties.

Democratic leaders predicted a close fight on this issue and were busy tonight rounding up all administration congressmen to have them on the floor for the test vote.

Other proposed Republican amendments include a provision that trade agreements made by the President must be submitted to congress for approval or rejection. The minority also want a safeguarding clause to permit any person or business claiming injury thru a trade agreement to file a court suit for review and damages.

The minority also will propose to limit the bill's extension to one year instead of three, and to include in it a prohibition against lowering tariffs so much that any imported goods would sell below the domestic cost of production.

Says Pacts Cut Markets

Rep. Harness [R., Ind.] charged that this country's share of foreign markets was actually reduced, instead of increased, under the trade agreements program. He said, for example, that shipments to the United Kingdom in 1926-'29, before the trade pacts, totaled 16.6 per cent of British imports, but that American sales to Britain dropped to 11.5 per cent of her imports in 1935-'38 under the trade agreements.

Rep. Anderson [D., N. M.], who on July 1 will become secretary of agriculture, supported the administration bill, but pledged that, as secretary, he would strive to protect farmers against destructive competition from too low tariffs on farm products.

Dividend Rate Raised to $5 by Burlington

Directors of the Burlington railroad yesterday increased the common stock dividend to a $5 annual basis by ordering the payment of $2.50 a share on June 26 to stock of record June 12. Now on a semi-annual payment basis, dividends previously were paid once a year. In each of the last three years $3 was paid.

The road in the first four months of this year had a net income of about 9 million dollars—more than sufficient to pay an entire annual dividend on a $5 basis, which would total about $8,500,000.

Pays Dividends 84 Years

This is the 84th consecutive year in which the Burlington has paid a dividend and is the first year since 1931, when $10 a share was paid, that the stock has been on so high a dividend basis.

Besides earning 9 million in the first four months, the road reduced its operating ratio three points from the corresponding 1944 period, from 58 per cent to 55 per cent. This means that only 55 per cent of its gross revenues was required to meet operating expenses.

Owned by G. N. and N. P.

More than 97 per cent of the stock is owned equally by the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads. A few individuals own the remaining shares.

Caterpillar Tractor company declared a dividend of 75 cents a common share. The company has been paying 50 cents quarterly since 1937.

RYE LEADS RISE IN GRAIN ON NEW WHISKY HOLIDAY

Announcement by the war food administration that distillers would be permitted to produce beverage alcohol in July brought in strong buying of rye futures on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday and prices advanced 2 to 2¾ cents a bushel. Closing trades were at the top with July at $1.39, only ⅛ cent below the seasonal high. Other grains followed rye. Wheat gained 1 to 1⅝, corn ⅛ to ⅝, oats ⅛ to ¼, and barley 1 to 1½.

Distillers were in the Chicago cash market for supplies of rye and corn, both used in whisky production. No sales were confirmed, but some reports said rye purchases exceeded 250,000 bushels.

The likelihood that large quantities of corn would be used by distillers brought protests from other corn consuming industries and elevator interests. Their representatives asked the Commodity Credit corporation to seek a war food administration order prohibiting use of corn for distilling on the grounds that the grain was needed urgently for human and live stock food.

16 IN PEA PACKER GROUP ARE FINED ON PRICE CHARGE

Federal Judge Barnes yesterday fined 14 pea packing companies, the Canned Pea Marketing institute, and the management engineering firm of Stevenson, Jordan & Harrison a total of $42,500 on charges of conspiracy to fix prices for canned peas.

The 16, fined on their plea of nolo contendere, and 52 other defendants later dismissed on government motion were indicted in June, 1941.

Special Assistant Atty. Gen. Willis Hotchkiss told the court the 16 defendants thru a program arranged by the engineering firm agreed on acreage reductions, determined the annual pack of each canner, and fixed canners' prices.

PHILIP MORRIS CALLS VOTE ON SPLIT OF STOCK

New York, May 25 (AP)—Philip Morris & Co. announced today that stockholders at the annual meeting July 10 would vote on an amendment increasing authorized capital stock from 45 million to 50 million dollars and splitting common stock 2 for 1. Preferred stock would not be affected.

Present capitalization consists of 350,000 shares of $100 preferred and 1 million shares of $10 par common. The change would make authorized common 3 million shares of $5 par.

The 999,235 outstanding common shares would be exchanged for 1,998,470 new shares, leaving 1,001,530 unissued.

HOBBS BILL NO HELP

Please give me information on the status of the Hobbs bill to protect the interests of stockholders in railroad reorganizations. We owned a large amount of the old stock of Chicago and North Western railway and would like to get some of our money back.—L. S.

The Hobbs bill for amending the railroad bankruptcy act was passed by the house last February, but has not yet been approved by the senate. Even if enacted, it would have no bearing on completed reorganizations such as that of the Chicago and Nortn Western. In the opinion of railroad lawyers, it would regulate the capitalization to be allowed in pending and future reorganizations only. It would permit intervention on behalf of stockholders prior to a vote on a reorganization plan by the participating security holders, but not after ratification by the holders.

The bill provides that the capitalization shall not be less than that existing on the date the petition in bankruptcy was filed, provided it does not exceed the actual investment or the valuation fixed by the interstate commerce commission for rate making purposes, whichever is lower. The measure also provides for a full and independent judicial review of reorganization plans approved by the commerce commission. The measure is opposed by the ICC.

In a number of railroad reorganizations, the old capital stock was excluded by the commission and the courts as having no value, a bitter experience for the stockholders, especially in view of the war time increase in rail earnings.

MEAT ANIMAL MARKETING DIPS; PRICES STRONG

Farmers yesterday further reduced their marketing of live stock to work in the fields. Members of the trade in the Chicago Stock yards said they expected the supply to dwindle even more with the normal seasonal slump.

Buyers competed for the small supply of all meat animals, giving ceiling prices for almost all available. Hog prices were firm at the OPA limits and buyers gave as much for common stock as for prime hogs in most instances, disregarding most sorting except that required by price rules.

SELL 3 MILLION OF EVERSHARP DEBENTURE 4½S

Three million dollars of 4½ per cent cumulative convertible income debentures of Eversharp, Inc., were sold yesterday by Lehman Brothers and associated underwriters at 103 and accrued interest from May 1. Due May 1, 1965, the debentures are convertible into common stock at $40 a share. Proceeds will be used for general corporate purposes.

An underwriting group headed by Smith, Barney & Co. offered 5 million dollars of various city of Philadelphia bonds sold by the board of sinking fund commissioners. Six blocks of securities in the offering carried coupons of 3¼ and 3¼ per cent and were priced to yield 1.40 to 1.65 to optional call dates in 1955 and 1962.

Truman Appoints Inquiry Board in I.C. Labor Case

Washington, D. C., May 25 (AP)—Composition of a three man emergency board, appointed to investigate a labor dispute between the Illinois Central railroad and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen was announced by the White House today. Headed by Huston Thompson, Washington, D. C., attorney, the board also includes Grady Lewis, Washington attorney, and Curtis G. Shake, former Indiana Supreme court justice.

STOCKS HIGHER; RAILS, UTILITIES ISSUES ACTIVE

Trade Is Expanded on Advance

New York, May 25 (AP)—A general price recovery was made in today's stock market under leadership of rails, selected utilities, and a wide assortment of pivotal industrials. The fact volume recently had dwindled on liquidation and expanded when the trend was upward served to strengthen the belief of some customers that the recent bullish swing continues.

Many favorable dividends and earnings, further relaxation of civilian manufacture controls, oversubscription of large special offerings, and a revival of post-war optimism brought idle investment funds into the market.

Altho extreme gains were trimmed here and there in the final hour, advances of 1 to 2 points were plentiful and several wider upturns were recorded. Dealings totaled 1,300,000 shares, compared with 960,000 yesterday.

Stock Average Climbs

The Associated Press 60 stock composite was up 0.5 at 65.2, just 0.1 under the peak figure since 1937. The utility average made another new eight year high by 0.1.

At best levels for the year or longer were Gulf, Mobile and Ohio, aided by additional steps toward acquisition of the Alton line; New York Central, Sears Roebuck, and West Indies Sugar.

Caterpillar Tractor rose 3½ on an increased disbursement. A larger dividend payment by Burlington buoyed Northern Pacific and Great Northern which jointly own this road. Union Pacific rose 4 on moderate sales. Announcement of a liquor "holiday" for July aided Distillers corporation, Schenley, and National Distillers.

RAIL LOANS ADVANCE

New York, May 25 (AP)—Gains of fractions to more than three points in rails marked an otherwise narrow bond market today. Carriers were up 0.2 to 100.8 on the Associated Press bond averages, but industrials, utilities, and other corporates ended unchanged on average after small fluctuations.

Chicago and Alton 3s rose 3⅛ on sales of $1,586,000.

CHICAGO LIST HIGHER

Prices turned upward yesterday in increased turnover of 40,000 shares on the Chicago Stock exchange. Leaders included New York Central, up 1⅝; Admiral corporation, up 1¼; Chicago corporation common and Electric Household Utilities, each up ½, and La Salle Extension, up ¼. Sears, Roebuck closed up 3 at a 1945 peak of 113.

People and Events

The role of industrial engineers in the post-war period and their relation to management and organized labor will be discussed tomorrow by widely known manufacturers, business men, educators, and others in Thorne hall, Northwestern university downtown campus.

The Corn Products Refining company announced recently the election of Fred Mueller as vice president and W. D. Braidwood and Edward L. Shea as directors.

James Darragh, superintendent of the Pullman company shops in Atlanta, Ga., will retire June 1 after 58 years with the company. He worked in Chicago 41 years.

Hugh M. Driscoll, vice president of the National Boulevard bank, was elected president of the Chicago chapter of Robert Morris Associates, an organization of bank loan officers and credit men.

E. David Zipprodt, vice president of Zipprodt, Inc., was elected president of the Chicago Federated Advertising club. He succeeds M. Glen Miller.

Outline Policy on Dividend by Chicago Corp.

The Chicago corporation will pay dividends on its common stock as soon as possible without impairing its operations, Richard Wagner, president, said yesterday at the annual meeting of stockholders.

Richard Wagner

"Only in two years have we had earnings on common shares, and those were very modest earnings," he said. "The directors will declare common dividends as soon as it is in the best interests of the company and the stockholders to do so."

In answer to a question whether the stock would be listed on the New York Stock exchange, Wagner said the matter was under consideration by the directors, who believed such action involved both favorable and unfavorable aspects.

Two-Thirds in Chicago Area

"Altho ownership of the corporation's stock is increasing in Texas and New York, two-thirds of it is still in the Chicago area where the company was formed," said Wagner. "The directors are undecided and will need more time to weigh the considerations on both sides."

Edward M. Moore, a stockholder of Warrenville, Ill., inquired about salary increases granted Wagner and Gardiner Symonds, a director and vice president, in connection with their work with the Tennessee Gas and Transmission company, a subsidiary.

"The salaries are fixed by the directors," replied Wagner. "I have no apologies for the salaries paid any of the officers. In fact, considering some of work done last year, I think a lot of the boys are getting too little." All directors were reelected.

Directors elected C. R. Williams and H. K. Greenleaf vice presidents in the oil and gas division. T. B. McNamara was elected assistant secretary to succeed R. G. Rice. Other officers were reelected.

Financing Held "Favorable"

Wagner said the recent 57½ million dollar refinancing of Tennessee Gas was completed on a "most favorable basis." The annual cost for dividends and interest on the stocks, notes, and bonds sold will be $1,725,000, compared with $1,760,000 on the smaller sum of 44 million dollars originally borrowed from the Reconstruction Finance corporation at 4 per cent.

Earnings of the oil and gas division of Chicago corporation in the first four months this year increased to approximately $600,000 from $315,000 in the corresponding 1944 period, Wagner said, largely because of earnings from gas sales.

Construction of a natural gasoline plant at Carthage, Tex., is contemplated this year for the account of the corporation and its associates, pending certain developments. The corporation will hold a 58 per cent interest in the property with estimated daily capacity of 2,500 barrels.

VOTE INCREASE IN CAPITAL, NEW NAME FOR BANK

Stockholders of Madison-Crawford National bank at a special meeting yesterday authorized an increase in capital stock from $200,000 to $500,000 and approved the changing of the bank's name to National Bank of Commerce of Chicago, Trueman H. Golightly, president and chairman, announced.

The increase in capitalization will be effected by the declaration and issuance of a $200,000 dividend payable in stock to shareholders and by the sale of $100,000 of additional common stock at a 50 per cent premium.

DELAY IN SUGAR SLASH SOUGHT BY SEN. MURRAY

Charges Agencies Bungled Supply

BY ROBERT YOUNG

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 25—Charges that the present sugar shortage is the result of "mismanagement, shortsightedness, and repeated blunderings" on the part of government agency officials handling the commodity were made today by Sen. Murray [D., Mont.].

Murray's charges were made coincident with reports on Capitol hill that the office of price administration is planning a drastic reduction in industrial sugar allotments, which will cut food processors, bakers, and candy, ice cream, and soft drink manufacturers to half their 1944 supply or less.

Sen. Murray, who is chairman of the senate small business committee, said in a statement that reports received by his committee indicate the principal federal agencies concerned with the food situation have been "extremely reckless" in handling sugar supplies.

Urges Delay on Allotments

He said these agencies are the Commodity Credit corporation, the foreign economic administration, the war production board, and the agriculture, state, war, and navy departments.

In a letter to Rep. Anderson [D., N. M.], chairman of the house food committee, who was nominated as secretary of agriculture this week, Murray asked him to obtain postponement of third quarter industrial sugar allotments which are scheduled to be announced soon.

Murray told Anderson that many of the industrial sugar users are small business men and that the country's welfare depends upon their continuing in business. He warned that because of the sugar shortage and proposals to cut the supply further these users are faced with "insurmountable difficulties" and may be forced to close their establishments.

Murray said enough sugar can be obtained to save these small industrial users if immediate action is taken. He wrote Anderson that third quarter allotments, effective July 1, are being made up and will be made public in a few days.

Quotas Affect Millions

These allotments, however, are based on the supply and demand situation prior to the surrender of Germany and affect adversely "thousands of small business men and millions of housewives," Murray asserted.

He urged Anderson to seek postponement of the allotments until he has taken office and can investigate the requirements of government sugar claimant agencies.

Congressional sources said the drastic cut in industrial sugar allotments is planned by the OPA for the third quarter.

It was not known if the cut eventually would be extended to household sugar rations, which were reduced 25 per cent the first of this month. Hotels, schools, restaurants, and other institutional users were cut 25 to 30 per cent at the same time and told to expect a further reduction July 1.

Names Food Coordinator

According to the Capitol hill reports, industrial consumers, who in the current quarter are limited to 65 to 75 per cent of the sugar used in the corresponding 1941 quarter, probably will be reduced to 40 or even 30 per cent of the amount they consumed in 1941. Last year industrial users received 80 per cent of their 1941 supply.

Meanwhile, President Truman announced the appointment of Paul C. Stark of Louisiana, Mo., as director of home food supply to coordinate the activities of the various government agencies affecting the food supply produced or conserved in the home.

Stark, who was designated for the new office by War Food Administrator Jones, has been active in national war garden work. He is a tree grower and the brother of Lloyd C. Stark, former governor of Missouri, who opposed Mr. Truman in the 1940 senate race.

Ex-Teacher Sues

Gertrude Fitzgerald in court yesterday.

Henry W. Trapp, 70, clerk of the Chicago Ridge school board, whose duties included "keeping an eye on things" at the school, also liked to keep an eye on the teachers, testimony revealed yesterday at a Superior court trial in which Trapp is being sued for false arrest.

Henry W. Trapp

Miss Gertrude Fitzgerald, 32, of 7755 S. Honore st., is plaintiff in the suit, which charged she was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct April 8, 1942, when she refused to leave the school after being fired as a teacher there.

One of her fellow teachers at Chicago Ridge, Miss Alice Moore, of 4807 Van Buren st., testified yesterday that Trapp once invited her to the school basement and filled two glasses with whisky, offering her one. When she refused and tried to leave, he attempted to detain her, she told Judge Francis B. Allegretti.

William J. Walsh, former president of the school board, who also was charged with false arrest in the suit, which seeks $20,000 damages, was declared not guilty by the jury on the ground that no malice was shown in his action. The case against Trapp will be continued Monday morning.

INDUSTRY URGED TO PREPARE FOR UNSKILLED VETS

Seven million or more veterans will end the war without ever having had any contact with industry, James Simpson Jr., who returned to civilian life two months ago, yesterday told the American Legion regional conference on post-war veteran employment in the Morrison hotel.

Simpson, organizer of Industry for Veterans, Inc., said its goal is to obtain from employers a voluntary pledge to earmark 25 per cent of their post-war job opportunities for veterans. He urged that employers include those without experience in their plans.

The Legion's conference, sponsored by its national employment committee, brought together leaders of industry, agriculture, and labor in Illinois, Wisconsin, and Michigan for discussion and study. The meeting, which ends today, is one of 12 regional events thruout the country.

CALLS FOR DRAFT TO GET MEDICS FOR VETS GROUP

Washington, D. C., May 25 (AP)—A war time draft to provide medical personnel for the veterans' administration was called for in legislation introduced today by Rep. Rankin [D., Miss.] after a conference with President Truman.

The chairman of the house veterans committee told reporters Mr. Truman had backed the legislation "in principle."

"It [the legislation] will untie the administration's hands in the selection of doctors and nurses and permit the payment of sufficient salaries to obtain the best available medical personnel to care for veterans," Rankin said. "It will permit the replacement of incompetent doctors with the type of medical personnel the veterans are entitled to."

Would Set Up New Bureau

Rankin said that one of the major obstacles now facing the veterans' administration is the requirement that it obtain most of its medical personnel thru the civil service commission.

By establishing a bureau of medicine and surgery within the veterans' administration and giving it status similar to that held by the army and the navy medical corps, the legislation would give the administration exclusive responsibility for its medical corps.

The bureau would include a medical corps, a dental corps, a nurse corps, and an administrative corps, under which would be dietitians, therapists and similar personnel.

At the head of the bureau would be a surgeon general. He would have five assistants who would be paid from $9,000 to $12,000 annually.

Applies Only to Males

By providing that the veterans' administration, in time of war, shall become a part of the nation's military forces, the legislation would permit the drafting of personnel for assignment to the administration. However, the draft would apply only to male personnel. Rep. Rogers [R., Mass.], who introduced a bill almost identical to Rankin's, explained that under the proposals women nurses could not be inducted unless there is a change in the selective service act, which applies only to males.

The Rankin legislation sets up pay scales for the proposed medical bureau similar to those of the army and navy medical corps, with the same retirement rights.

Rankin said the committee would start hearings on the legislation Tuesday "and we will have it ready for consideration by the house the following week."

THEATER OF AIR WILL HONOR KIN OF DEAD HEROES

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will speak.

The operetta for the evening is "Bitter Sweet" with Marion Claire in the dual singing roles of Sari Linden and Lady Shayne. Angelo Raffaelli will sing the part of Carl Linden; Bruce Foot, Capt. August. Henry Weber will conduct the W-G-N Symphony orchestra.

ON SHORT WAVES

The North American service of the BBC from London includes the following program today. The frequencies [in megacycles] observed after 4:15 p. m., are: 11.93, 9.58, 9.52, 6.11, 7.26, 9.51. 4:30 p. m.—Pattern of English Life; 4:45 p. m.—News; 6:30 p. m.—Radio newsreel; 8:30 p. m.—Trans-Atlantic Quiz; 11:30 p. m.—News reports.

SERVICE MEN'S RADIO NETWORK STILL GROWING

The world's largest network is still expanding, Col. Thomas H. A. Lewis, commanding officer of the armed forces radio service, a joint army and navy operation, told members of the Executives' club at a luncheon in the Hotel Sherman yesterday. The AFRS already has almost 500 outlets bringing entertainment, information, and education by radio and recordings to American service men in all theaters of war.

New stations are planned to bring news and entertainment from home to the American occupied portion of Germany. It is probable that one will be set up in Munich, he said. Meanwhile, our armies in Germany are getting their home radio shows thru a half dozen stations in France and by way of mobile stations.

Col. Lewis said that many of these AFRS stations had developed their own soldier and sailor talent.

"Saipan Sam, the GIs own philosopher in the Marianas," he said, "would probably be rated as the most popular of all radio entertainers in that area. He has a local following as faithful as Bob Hope or Jack Benny at home."

COUNTY TO TURN DOWN PRESERVE EXPANSION PLAN

Members of the Cook county board said yesterday they would oppose a recommendation of the forest preserve advisory board to purchase an additional 6,000 acres of land. Edward Eagle Brown, banker, is chairman of the advisory board. County officials said they would not ask for a new law permitting expansion of present acreage, principally because they do not want to take more property out of taxation.
